Mrs. Henrietta Melhase returned on last night's train from Sacramento, where she has been spending a few weeks with friends.

Al Gould was in town over the week-end from the Algoma lumber camps at Kirk.

Miss Maybelle Leavitt, society editor of the Evening Herald, left this afternoon by car, for Medford and Eugene, where she expects to enjoy a week's vacation, visiting with friends at the University.

Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Roberts of Poe Valley were in the county seat Saturday afternoon after supplies.

No Hay Surplus On Adams Ranch

The wisdom of the farmers of the county furnishing their own market for their hay is clearly demonstrated this year in the case of J. Frank Adams, who is the only farmer in the Malin section who is able to use all the hay and grain he has raised, feeding the former to his cattle and horses and the latter to hogs. It has been Mr. Adams' contention for years that if the raising of hay is to be carried on in this section on an extensive scale, the growers must have stock of their own to consume it. The success of his theory is aptly demonstrated this year.

AGED MAN IS CALLED
J. R. Woodley, an aged man from Chiloquin, died Friday at the county hospital, where he had been a patient since March 15. All his relatives reside in the east so far as investigation shows. He was buried in the county plot.

Time Tells The Truth

Remember When You Were a Youngster,

how your folks were anxious for you to study Music, and you didn't want to—or you wanted to study, and the family purse did not permit? With a good many of us it was either one way or the other.

Are you going to have your children grow up the same way—without a knowledge of Good Music?

If they show no inclination to study, a fine player piano from the Shepherd Store will quickly develop a real taste for Music. You know, every player can also be changed to piano for hand-playing, in a jiffy—then back again to player when you want it. Two instruments in one, really!

STOMACH HEALTH IS REASON FOR JOY

MONDAY HEALTH TALK NO. 8
(BY DR. MALLETT, D. C. PH. C.)

The ability to eat without being reminded of the fact by stomach pains or other discomfort is one of the joys of life. This does not imply that a man must live to eat. It simply means that the man or woman with a good stomach is fortunate. Food can be enjoyed and forgotten, while other activities of life are carried forward.

Uncle Ben Says:
"The trouble with most folks who want to be healthy, Nervy, is that they don't know health when they see it because its so ordinary, and looks like COMMON SENSE."

There are many forms of stomach trouble, some of which are not due to stomach weakness, but to the weakness of other organs in the alimentary tract, which includes the liver and other intestinal organs. When any of the alimentary organs are out of order, it may affect the stomach.

Chronic Nervous Dyspepsia Is No Longer Present

"For a period of five months attacks of nervous dyspepsia made life a nightmare. I took every form of treatment without relief until I tried chiropractic. After two months I was well and am more healthful today than ever before."—L. Klarman, Chiropractic Research Bureau, Statement 1231 C.
