SPACE ZED STONE RETIRED FROM THE FARM AND MOVED INTO TOWN HE WEARS HIS SUNDAY CLOTHES EVERY DAY.

the syrup, adjust rubber and covers and set aside in a cool place. The amount given above is for a quart jar. This recipe also applies to peaches, except that for this fruit the peel should be removed.

Pickled String Beans Remove ends and strings from beans, but keep them full length. Cover with boiling water and cook about fifteen minutes; drain, rinse in cold water and drain again. Pour over them scalding hot vinegar, enough to cover. These beans will be ready to serve in twenty-four hours.

Pickled Watermelon Peel the fruit, cut into strips. Cover with cold water, adding one quart of water and boil gently until very tender, then drain well and pack in sterilized jars. Boil vinegar enough to cover the fruit, adding two tablespoons of sugar for each quart of vinegar and two tablespoons of whole mixed spices tied in a muslin bag. Let the spices and vinegar boil for ten minutes, then pour over the fruit in the jars until overflowing. Seal tightly and store in a cool place.

Sour Cucumber Pickles Select small cucumbers, wash, sprinkle with salt and cover with cold water. Use one cup of salt for each gallon of water. Allow to stand overnight or about twelve to fourteen hours, then rinse and pack in fruit jars or crocks. Add green or red peppers, also whole spices. Cover with scalding vinegar. If using fruit jars, sterilize and seal carefully. If stored in an earthenware crock, place a plate with a weight on top to keep the pickles in the vinegar, then cover the jar. These pickles should keep almost indefinitely.

Sweet Cucumber Pickles Prepare as for sour pickles, except add sugar to taste to the hot vinegar. Ginger root, horseradish, and mustard seeds may be added to the hot vinegar.

Dill Pickles Fill a jar with small cucumbers, placing a small piece of dill between them. For each quart jar add one tablespoon of salt. Pour cold water over the pickles, place a piece of dill on top and seal tightly as for canned fruit. Place in a warm place or in the sun until the liquid becomes cloudy. Then it will become clear again, and by that time the pickles are ready for use.

Mustard Pickles Cut six or eight medium-sized pears in halves, remove core and press one or two cloves into each half pear. Put one-half cup of vinegar, three-inch piece of cinnamon bark broken in small pieces and two cups of brown sugar in saucepan over the fire. When boiling point is reached, add several pieces of the pears and cook until tender, but not broken. Place in a sterilized jar and when all are cooked fill jar to overflowing with Mix dry ingredients, add vinegar slowly. Cook in double boiler until thick. Pour over pickles and seal in jars.

Chili Sauce Twelve ripe tomatoes; 3 onions; 3 green peppers; 3 tablespoons of sugar; 2 tablespoons salt; 1/4 teaspoon pepper; 1 teaspoon cinnamon; 2 cups vinegar.

Peel tomatoes and onions and chop all vegetables separately, very fine. Combine ingredients and cook slowly about an hour and a half. Two quarts of canned tomatoes may replace the raw ones. If liked highly seasoned, little red chili pepper may be added.

One quart of canned or freshly cooked strained tomatoes; 1 tablespoon salt; 1 grated onion; 2 tablespoons sugar; 1/2 teaspoon pepper; 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon; 1/4 teaspoon cloves; 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg; 2-3 cup vinegar.

Combine and cook slowly until thick. Put through a sieve, reheat and bottle. If liked, a clove of garlic may be added to the catsup.

Piccilli One quart of green tomatoes; 1 pint of red tomatoes; 1/2 small cabbage; 3 onions; one green pepper; 1 small red pepper; 2 cucumbers; 2-3 cup salt; 4 cups vinegar; 4 cups brown sugar; 1 teaspoon mustard; 1 teaspoon celery seed; 1 teaspoon mustard seed.

Chop the vegetables, cover with salt and allow to stand overnight. Drain and press in a cloth to remove all liquid; add vinegar, sugar and spices and let simmer until clear. This will take about one hour. Store in hot sterilized jars. Canned red tomatoes may be used, two cups being equal to one pint.
