been the favorite haunt when the freeze is on.

Upper Klamath marsh, Agency lake, Crystal marsh, Sprague river and the points on the Upper lake are reached best by the east side road while Round lake is found best by the western route. The Klamath Straights are reached by the road to Midland and the best grounds are near the Hopkins ranch, it is said. The place is water hole marked with choice feeding grounds all along for miles. To reach the Sump, go for 9 miles out on the right hand valley road to Merrill. To reach the Sycan marsh, take the Beatty road and after leaving there, take the first road leading across Sprague river east of Beatty. Hunters are urged to inquire at the garages in Merrill about the hunting on Tule lake and full information will be furnished as to how far south the hunter can go and still stay in the Oregon boundaries. California wardens patrol their half of the lake and unlucky will be the Oregon hunter who shoots game and tries to bring it back into Oregon with him. A stiff fine awaits any unlucky sportsman who unwittingly violates the rule.

The goose season will not be good until after the honkers are driven from the north but the Mallin district affords ample sport of this variety. The grain fields are always full of the birds in season and along lower Klamath lake a good bag can be obtained. After October goose shooting will be at its height.

The Klamath Sportsmen's association urges the hunter to refrain from shooting after night for the flash of a discharged gun just as a fowl is seeking feeding grounds, also a roosting place causes it to take wing and leave the country. If undisturbed after sunset, the bird will remain in the district until finally forced to go south by nature. Respect this injunction and keep as many ducks in Oregon as possible, is the request of the association.

The steamer "Pere Marquette," which has been lying at a depth of six hundred feet on the bottom of Lake Michigan since 1910, is to be raised in the near future.

FOWLERS HAVE MANY FAVORED SHOOTING SPOTS

Klamath county affords the sportsman who likes the great open the very best of shooting grounds in the state of Oregon when the migratory bird season opens and this statement is not an idle boast. For years, until the great reclamation project to reclaim valuable lands in the lower Klamath lake were started, nearly every variety of wild fowl made its summer home in this bird paradise and raised broods which in the fall took wing to the warmer climes in the southlands. So the statement bears weight that Klamath county even today is a veritable hunters paradise despite the reclamation work which destroyed many acres of breeding grounds.

The migratory season is just in its beginning and while hunters are not shooting fowls bred and raised in this county, soon the air will be filled with countless thousands of wild fowl whirling their way southward but lingering here long enough to feed and rest on their flight, in the many ideal spots scattered over the county.

Hunters will experience little difficulty in finding a choice spot to shoot for there are countless places in the county to line up some place, yet never interfere with another person's shooting, even if they all went the same day. The following list of places have in the past been sought by sportsmen and found to be productive of good bags, in fact, the desire is often felt by the most law abiding nimrod to "take just one more shot" after the limit has been reached—but that policy will be a poor one this year as deputy game wardens are in the field not only to stop that practice but prevent shooting before sunrise and after sunset.

Upper Klamath marsh, Agency lake, Round lake, Sprague river, Lost river, Sycan marsh, Klamath river and a small portion of the upper part of the Tule lake near the state line and last but not least, all along the canal and laterals of the reclamation—countless ideal spots, where no one is interfered with, with an abundance of wild fowl now but when the season is a little more advanced, simply covered with feathered denizens from the wee sandpiper snipe to the big honker and Canada goose. Where else could one find a hunter's heaven like this? Not in California nor in any of the southern states where the migratory bird winters over until permitted to seek the nesting grounds in the north again when spring blossoms out.

Sportsmen report fair luck now in the pursuit of jacksnipe which are found in the Odessa marsh. They are fairly plentiful now, but with the first puff from Boreas, this wary bird takes wing and seeks some place where his curved bill can penetrate the soft oozy mud and find the little worm which he delights in. The curlew is another member of the snipe family which is found there when he has been driven from his haunts in Canada and on the wing. This species of snipe is rapidly recognized by that long curved bill. Hunters sometimes call them plover, too, but the plover is not a native of this country, preferring the plains of Wyoming and the states between the Cascades and Rocky mountains.

Until the big freeze comes, all the waters mentioned are haunts where little difficulty is found in having a splendid day's sport, but with the open waters frozen, then the banks of Lost river, Sprague, and Klamath river afford opportunities galore to get a good bag. The Klamath river all the way to Keno has heretofore

DOINGS OF THE DUFFS

Tom is Not Such A Bad Husband

BY ALLMAN

Hot Water Each Morning Puts Roses in Your Cheeks

To look one's best and feel one's best is to enjoy an inside bath each morning to flush from the system the previous day's waste, sour fermentations and poisonous toxins before it is absorbed into the blood. Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of incombustible material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken each day leave in the alimentary organs a certain amount of indigestible material, which if not eliminated, form toxins and poisons which are then sucked into the blood through the very ducts which are intended to suck in only nourishment to sustain the body.

If you want to see the glow of healthy bloom in your cheeks, to see your skin get clearer and clearer, you are told to drink every morning upon arising, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless means of washing the waste material and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach.

Girls and women with sallow skins, liver spots, pimples or pallid complexion, also those who wake up with a coated tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, others who are bothered with headaches, bilious spells, acid stomach or constipation should begin this phosphate hot water drinking and are assured of very pronounced results in one or two weeks.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs very little at the drug store but is sufficient to demonstrate that just as soap and hot water cleanse, purify and freshen the skin on the outside, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the inside organs. We must always consider that internal sanitation is vastly more important than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do.

Women who desire to enhance the beauty of their complexion should just try this for a week and notice results.

Adversity is often a blessing in disguise.
 A girl should never throw away her old slippers; they may be handy at her wedding—and much handier in after years.

EAT LESS MEAT IF BACK HURTS

Take a Glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers You

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly headache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.—Adv.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

When Mixed With Sulphur It Brings Back Its Beautiful Lustre At Once

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray, and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully; besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two its natural color is restored, and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.—Adv.
