KLAMATH FALLS, OREGON, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 7, 1921

PRICE FIVE CENTS

SHERIFF WITH SCANTY CLUE CATCHES MAN

Sheriff Lloyd Low was placed up against a hard task this week by Roy Taber, deputy sheriff of Dorris. A telephone call came Monday from Taber and seemingly in one breath and sentence, the California deputy said, "Low, catch me a negro who has been robbing stores in Dorris, then running up to Klamath Falls and selling the plunder, then robbing places up there and coming back here to sell the loot. He is just a negro and that is all I know. Catch him," came from Taber and the clerk of the phone announced that Taber had hung up.

Sheriff Low had no name, description nor clue to go on, but observing a negro man boarding the Ashland stage five minutes later telephoned Sheriff Terrill of Jackson county to investigate the negro who would arrive there that evening.

Fortune favored Low and the negro was taken in and found to have loot taken from Dorris. Included in the man's effects were checks and papers belonging to a man named H. Kettelson, care of the Modoc Lumber company, Chiloquits. Receipts were found on the negro where he had sent two suitcases to Portland and the sheriff of Siskiyou county who came to Ashland for the prisoner sent to Portland for the suitcases. Sheriff Low has no information whether the negro committed many robberies here or not but will have the effects of the prisoner searched for certain missing stuff here at the beginning of summer.

CROWD GATHERS FOR LAST DAY

Five hundred and thirty-two people had paid admissions at the county fair grounds up to 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, and the crowd was still coming. This did not include the many children. This is the closing day at the fair, and schools and banks closed for a half holiday. It was expected that later in the afternoon the attendance would be increased by the presence of parents and children from town who are interested in today's program, which is being given by boy and girl club workers.

Milk testing, home canning, sewing and other demonstrations are part of the program proposed by the county club workers.

Awards in the different divisions were being made slowly, but a complete list is expected tomorrow.

The board was hearing the protests this afternoon on the same properties.

JURY IN FINCH CASE FAILS TO FIND VERDICT

Failure to agree upon the degree of crime is said to have been responsible for inability of the jury in the case of the state against William Finch, charged with firing two shots at Louis Boldschar, Malin banker, to reach a verdict after long deliberation last night.

Members of the jury stood out for conviction on a charge of assault with intent to kill. It was said, while others held that Finch should be found guilty of the lesser offense of assault with a deadly weapon. The argument in the jury room hinged upon the question of whether Finch fired the two shots with deadly intent or not.

The jury was discharged at 10:20 this morning. Nine jurors are said to have stood for conviction on the more serious charge on the last ballot.

Finch will have another trial. It is set for the first Monday in December.

Judge Kuykendall gave the jury four instructions bearing on the case: Guilty as charged in the indictment; guilty as to assault with dangerous weapon; not guilty, and not guilty owing to being insane at time of the act.

According to court attaches, the testimony of Dr. Patterson, a physician who resided at Merrill for over 10 years, was to the effect that only when the defendant Finch was under the influence of liquor was he incapable of judgment. In his opinion, Finch's mind became temporarily paralyzed at such times. Close observation of the defendant at all times led the physician to this conclusion, he said.

The state witnesses were Louis Boldschar, Conrad C. Jalo, Mrs. Vivian Wilde, Carl Jackson, John Thorsen and Jerry Johns. But two witnesses for the defense were called, Caroline Finch and Dr. J. G. Patterson.

WITH DIRECTOR GONE BAND IS LIKELY TO QUIT

Klamath Falls is without a band leader, and the musical organization built up this summer under the direction of Fred Seelak will probably dissolve, according to members of the musical organization.

A. L. Wishard, manager of the band, told the story of the trials and tribulations of the capable leader who left here last week for a California point. "Seelak has left us just at the time when the finest musical organization which this city has ever known was reaching the perfection point. But don't be hasty and blame him.—he was justified in departing. Any man who exerted the best there was in him to build up the kind of band he did, use his own money to buy music with, deprive his family of personal necessities to keep his word with the band boys, battle for a living in a community which failed to recognize his worth, and then have the fruits of his all-summer work passed up by all save a few—Well, that would take the heart out of an optimist."

Seelak was recently promised $100 by the chamber of commerce, and a committee appointed to solicit the money. Band members said Seelak did not receive the money, and A. J. Voyer, chairman of the solicitation committee, bore out the statement.

Seelak claimed the chamber was responsible for his coming here, promising him financial assistance, but when he tried to collect he was continually put off. When his house rent fell due he was unable to meet it. Band members thought Seelak a good leader and express unanimous regret over his leaving.

Secretary Stanley was asked some time ago if the chamber was responsible for Director Seelak leaving here, but denied the responsibility, saying that he came here of his own accord.

Chairman Voyer of the soliciting committee told a Herald representative this afternoon over the telephone that the money was never solicited, never turned over to the chamber nor paid to the band director, to his knowledge.

Some criticism was made this week because the band was supposed to lead the parade at the opening of the fair Wednesday, but no parade, band, or even the semblance of a parade, showed at the appointed time. Charges were made that the band refused to parade Wednesday because the Fourth of July committee never paid them the $600 due them. Treasurer Furbur of the Fourth committee has denied the charge made by producing the cancelled checks to the bandmen, and states that the story is a fabrication. A. L. Wishard, manager of the band, also denies the charge, as he was present when the money was paid over to the band.

Arbuckle Arraigned

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7.—Fatty Arbuckle was arraigned this morning in the superior court here on a charge of manslaughter, in connection with the death of Virginia Rappe. October 13 was set as the date of pleading.

FIVE SENTENCED IN U. S. COURT, HOOD CLEARED

Fred Hood was acquitted yesterday in the United States district court at Medford on a charge of cattling rustling on the Klamath reservation last fall. Hood was alleged to have stolen one steer. This is according to a telegram from H. M. Manning, local attorney, who defended Hood.

Fred and Charles Hood went on trial today on a second rustling charge, and when that trial is completed there is a third similar court to be heard.

Ten or twelve Klamath cases were on the calendar when the court opened the Medford session Monday. Many Klamath Indians and other Klamath residents are in attendance as witnesses. Fifteen cases in all are to be tried. The session will end early next week.

Lester W. Humphreys, United States attorney for the Oregon district, and Thomas Maguire, assistant United States attorney, are conducting the prosecutions for the government in the criminal cases.

Early in the session five men awaiting trial entered pleas of guilty and were sentenced by Judge Wolverton as follows: Harvey Drew, Klamath Indian, pleaded guilty to having assaulted his wife with a hammer, and was given a sentence of six months in the Multnomah county jail; Jesse Sconchin, Klamath Indian, pleaded guilty to larceny of a steer on the reservation and drew a sentence of nine months in the Multnomah county jail. A stay of sentence for 30 days was granted because of Sconchin being sick.

William Carroll and Tom Capper, white men of Klamath Falls, pleaded guilty of making liquor in that city for their own use, and were sentenced to 60 days in the Multnomah county jail.

PROPOSE $1.80 INCREASE IN ALCOHOL TAX

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—A tax of four dollars a gallon on all alcoholic spirits withdrawn from bond for industrial, medicinal or any other purposes has been agreed upon by Republican leaders as part of the new tax program.

This is an increase of $1.80 a gallon and is expected to yield 75,000,000 additional revenue yearly.

The proposal to repeal the $2,000 dollar exemption allowed corporations was abandoned because it would work too great a hardship on small corporations.

The leader also agreed on a flat corporation income tax of 15 per cent instead of the 10 and 15 per cent rate.
