Indians' Friend for More Than 50 Years
Captain O. C. Applegate made his way slowly up Main street this morning, and had reached the Gun Store, when an Indian stepped out in front of him, and with a broad smile addressed the captain in the language of his tribe.

Quick as a flash Captain Applegate answered the Indian, McClellan Williams, in his own tongue. When asked to interpret the conversation he explained it thusly: "Ah, the Indians' friend, all day did I search for you yesterday," and the Captain returned, "Yes, for 56 years the Indians' friend, and I'm glad to see you."

Few whites can talk with the Indians about town in their own language outside of Captain Applegate and Fred Houston.

Elks' Series of Entertainments to Open Monday Eve

Preparations for a large gathering of Klamath Falls musically inclined people are being made at the Elks' club for the initial performance of the Meneley Lyceum course Monday night when Schildkret's Hungarian Orchestra will render its selections of the old and new masters at 8:15 o'clock in the lodge hall.

The talent secured for the first number of the four entertainments, which the Meneley course offers, is composed of six able musicians who have appeared before some of the largest organizations in the United States such as Masonic, Elks, labor and at a number of the world expositions which started with the Columbian fair in 1893 at Chicago. In the select Washington D. C. social circles has had the Schildkret organization appear for all its "inner select" affairs for the political leaders of the United States. The orchestra has been chosen also for such society events, as have been given by some of the New York "400 class." In Chicago, Mrs. Harold McCormick and Mrs. Marshall Field have always called upon this organization of musical talent to furnish the dreamiest of waltz music for dances, fetes and lawn parties, not to mention gatherings where the nation's musical leaders were assembled to discuss musical promotion.

The Elks entertainment committee announce that the course offered by them is given under a strictly "money-back guarantee" and should any patron be dissatisfied with the talent offered, their money will be cheerfully returned. Tickets can be procured at the Elks Club today and Monday.

Of Interest to All Good Cooks

Every good cook realizes that the actual cooking is just as important to good cookery as is the preparation of the ingredients. Isn't it fair, therefore, to say that better ranges will make better cooks?

Westinghouse

Electric Ranges are better ranges, for more reasons than can be discussed here.

They are the only ranges with practical automatic control. They can be trusted to start and stop cooking without attention, and they use the minimum of current. They heat the food and not the kitchen.
