BISHOP CAME ALL PREPARED

Talleyrand's Costume for Visit to the "Wild West" Astonished Those Who Saw It.

Talleyrand, the witty Frenchman whose sharp and pointed smiles kept Paris either wincing or laughing, once made a visit to America in the days before he laid aside the bishop's lawn and purple for the robes of a minister of state. And while in this country he made a visit into the Wild West, which in those days could be found in Ohio. A friend chanced upon him in New York and was invited to breakfast, and after the meal was concluded Talleyrand withdrew to his bedroom and donned the suit in which he proposed to adventure into the wilderness. Even in those days New York had begun to draw sartorial distinctions, and the friend, who was familiar with the modes of dress in this new country, was astounded almost to speechlessness when Talleyrand stepped from his bedroom clad in full dress of a backwoodsman of the century before. The bishop had thrown off his churchly garments for the fringed buckskin breeches and coonskin cap of the earliest of America's pioneers. Where and how he had achieved the costume was a mystery; yet he saw nothing ridiculous in it, was in fact delighted with it, and thus eluded, departed for the wilds of America.

First Girl Ever Photographed.

While France claims to have invented photography through the genius of Daguerre, the painter, America is proud of the fact that it was one of her sons who photographed the first face.

After years of patient labor Daguerre succeeded in taking sunlight pictures of scenery on a sensitive plate.

This was in 1839, and a year later Prof. John W. Draper of New York took a photograph of his sister Dorothy, the first person to have her likeness reproduced on a prepared background with the help of the sun's rays.

It took an hour to take the photograph, and the picture may still be seen.

Be good and you will be happy—as happy as you can be under the circumstances.

Everyman has a sense of duty, but not every man has sense enough to utilize it.

The old-fashioned, ignorant man who blew out the gas now has a son who drinks bootleg booze.

Sets New Record

JAPANESE FAIR
SEX STOP USE OF TOBACCO

HONOLULU, T. H., Sept. 8.—By mail—a unique feature of the gradual rise of women's influence in Japan, until their position now is slowly approximating that of American and British women, is that they are giving up smoking, just at the time when great comment has arisen over the increase of smoking among their sisters in America and England, according to Dr. T. H. Haden, dean of the theological department of Kwansel Gakuin, a mission college in Japan, who attended sessions here of the Pan-Pacific educational conference as one of the empire's representatives.

"Formerly all classes of women in Japan smoked in public as well as in their homes," Dr. Haden said. "The influence of the west has almost stopped this custom, although it is to the interest of the government to foster it, as tobacco is a government monopoly."

Dr. Haden said that a new word for home—"katel"—has been coined in Japan to express the meaning and idea of home life in western civilization as it is being learned by the Japanese.

"The changing condition of Japanese women is only begun, but it is proceeding with a rapidity and intensity which are very significant and hopeful," he said. "The Japanese language had a word expressing home and household, but they had no conception of home life in the occident, where women are on an equal footing with men. This is now expressed by 'katel,' with the new appreciation of home as a thing to be shared by husband and wife, and the gradual rise of the Japanese women to the position of their American and British sisters."

Dr. Haden said that the city population of Japan is increasing thirteen times as fast as that of the country, due to the change from agricultural to manufacturing. More than 1,000,000 are engaged in factory work and in excess of half of these are under 20 years of age, he said.

"A significant and interesting indication of the change in progress in Japan now is the fact that while the Japanese women retain the kimono as their chief attire, they have discarded the obi—the folded square of cloth worn on the back—and over their kimonos many of the women now wear a full divided skirt, which ties around the waist, with a wide sash and hanging at the side," Dr. Haden said. "Many of them also wear shoes instead of sandals."

"Divorce laws also have been revised in accord with other transitions. Formerly a man could send his wife back to her parents without excuse or explanation. This act constituted legal freedom for him. Now he can only divorce her for infidelity or by agreement with her. The woman as yet has no recourse against the infidelity of her husband, not even though he bring a concubine into the home, as frequently has been done.

"The example of Americans, their home and schools in Japan, gradually has altered the hearts and feelings of the Japanese until they have been induced to effect those changes."

FEDERAL JURY DISAGREES
IN SECOND HOOD TRIAL

A hung jury resulted in the second complaint filed in the federal court at Medford, Saturday, when the trial of Charles and Fred Hood, of Chiloquin came up on an alleged cattle rustling charge preferred by the government against them last Thanksgiving. Port Summers, Indian policeman from the agency and ten other witnesses were called in the case. Retrial will come up later, Summers said today.
