home loan? I am a married man with two children and desire to buy a home for my family.

Loans to veterans are made only on real estate security, and the land must be located in Oregon. If the veteran has one-fourth of the purchase price of a home he can arrange to get the remainder up to $3000 from the state. If he has neither cash nor land, and none of his near relatives have land that they will pledge in his behalf, we know of no way that he can obtain the loan. However, a preliminary application made now for a loan will preserve the veteran's rights indefinitely. If he can see his way clear to save within a few years his necessary part of the purchase price of a home, he has the opportunity to work to that end with the promise of a loan from the state when he is ready for it. But do not overlook the preliminary application.
