FINEST PICTURE PROJECTION IN SOUTHERN OREGON

"Great Minds Originate, Fools Imitate."

"THE TRUANT HUSBAND"

BY ALBERT PAYSON TERHUNE With an ALL STAR CAST, Including MAHLON HAMILTON, BETTY BLYTHE, FRANCELIA BILLINGTON.

Is a husband to be blamed,—be he ever so happily married,—if he succumbs to the allurements of a glorious creature all made of feminine wiles. First Billy said "NO"—and he meant it! Then Vera moved closer to his side, took his hand in hers and —. But what's the use of details,—you know how women are! They tried a dangerous game, those two, and if Old Lady Fate hadn't been watching and stepped in just when she did there's no telling what might have happened. It all began to go wrong when the gentleman started to eat garlic on the train! And the flivver was busted And Vera lost her powder puff! And Billy's head ached! And it was hot! And it got hotter! And— We could go on and on telling you what happened but you'd better come and see for yourself.

CLAIMS RIVER ACTION CARVED OUT YOSEMITE

YOSEMITE, Cal., Oct. 28.—Out of the living granite of the Sierra Nevada mountains, the Merced river, hundreds of thousands of years ago, first cut the Yosemite Valley, California's great outdoor playground. Dr. F. E. Matthes of the United States Geological Survey, declared here after returning from a recent three month's exploration trip through the wildest portions of the high Sierras.

After the river made the first cut, a great glacier came along and gave the valley its finishing touches. The Merced, Dr. Matthes claims, made a great V-shaped gorge, and the glacier added a few curves and converted Yosemite into the U-shape it has at present.

Dr. Matthes' beliefs form another contribution to the many theories regarding the origin of Yosemite. He has held this theory for some time and declared findings on his trip confirmed it.

Accepted theories as to the formation of the Sierra Nevada mountains were strengthened by Dr. Matthes' observations on his trip. The theory is he said, that a series of terrific upthrusts tilted the immense block of granite covering the earth to form the mountain range. Mount Lyell, the highest peak in the Yosemite National Park was lifted to its present height of more than 13,000 feet from a comparatively low elevation of 5,000 feet, it is thought.

Dr. Matthes, on this trip, went into the southern Sierra Nevada and covered practically the entire eastern watershed of the San Joaquin river.

OREGON BREVITIES

PORTLAND—Twenty per cent reduction in the rates on strained honey in carloads from Oregon, Washington, California and Nevada points to transcontinental destinations were announced by C. E. Spear, district freight and passenger agent of the Southern Pacific Company. He also announced a 10 per cent reduction in the rates on comb honey between the same points.

SALEM—The Nehalem Valley bank at Wheeler, Ore., failed to open its doors Tuesday—the twelfth anniversary of its organization, with slow, doubtful and non-liquid loans and a steady decline in deposits are the causes of the failure, said Frank C. Bramwell, state superintendent of banks. The bank's assets, as given in a report issued September 6, were $222,081.69. Until those assets are investigated, no estimate of losses can be given, said Bramwell.

PORTLAND—Fines and costs amounting to $800 were paid to the state game commission by Frank Muller of Ballston and Daniel Fister of Rickerall, who were arrested in June for dynamiting fish in the Big Netucca river, according to notice received at the headquarters of the game commission.

BEND—The appeal of Mark A. Paulsen, recently discharged Bend High school principal, from the decision of the district school board was filed with County Superintendent Thompson last week. The board had reaffirmed its former action in dismissing Paulsen on charges of incompetency and insubordination.

PORTLAND—Citizens and civil officers, in addition to the regular authorities, have been requested to assist in the apprehension of men whose names appear on the latest list of draft evaders. The list was published by the military authorities in San Francisco and payment of $50 expense money to any person who apprehends and delivers to military control any one of the men listed was authorized.

GRANTS PASS—Every day two automobiles are parked in an alley by A. S. Coutant, editor of the Observer, and his son, Wallace Coutant. The elder man keeps a pillow on the front seat. Four times last week an egg was found on the pillow. Monday morning the younger Coutant was the first to arrive. When his father parked his car, a hen was perched upon the other machine. As soon as she saw the automobile with the pillow, she flew down and hopped upon the nest she had discovered. With a few soft clucks, she settled down for her daily task.

PORTLAND—Contract for the construction of feeding ponds for sockeye salmon in Willowa county have been let by the state fish commission, according to announcement of Carl Shoemaker, secretary of the commission. The work, which will cost $6,500, has been begun. The ponds will be fed by Spring creek, which is a warm stream, and Hurricane creek, which is a cold stream.

Cheese It, Squirrel, the Cop!

Congressmen pay for what they got from this push cart on Capitol Hill, Washington, But not the squirrels. When the vendor turns his back the squirrels feast.

New Gold Test

This machine provides a spectroscopic analysis of gold which measures the fineness of the metal more accurately than one part in a million. Electric sparks jump between two bars of gold. Photographs of the sparks are taken through a diffraction grating, showing the smallest particle of base metal. This, at the Bureau of Standards.

THE STRAND

"The Truant Husband," first of Rockett series of special feature comedy dramas for Hodkinson release, did not cost $875,000 but it is the best dressed picture of 1920 either in or out of its class. Its scenic investiture on stage and location sets a new mark in good taste and beauty while in consideration of cast and extra cast it is outshone by none. The producers of "The Truant Husband" had a good story, and they backed it to the limit. Fancy any producer in these days making six reels of comedy. It was never heard of until "The Truant Husband," which goes on record as an epoch maker, but its success will cause many more such productions if the stories are to be had. At the Strand tonight.

THIS EVENING

Helen Clark Contralto, and Joseph Phillips Baritone

Helen Clark and Joseph Phillips, famous for their art the country over, will appear in a specially selected program.

This appearance of these popular artists, constitutes the musical event of the season. The assisting artist is Thomas George, pianist.

What makes this concert of more than usual importance, are several numbers in which the artists will compare their art with the RECREATION by Mr. Edison's new phonograph.

This Evening at 8:15
Presbyterian Church

We have arranged that a number of Klamath Falls people may have special complimentary invitations. Call, write or telephone for them. Only a few reservations remain. They will be issued in order of application.
