

ALL NATION TO HEAR ADDRESS OF PRESIDENT

When on the stroke of twelve—9 A. M. Pacific Coast time—on Armistice Day, November 11th, President Harding begins his funeral oration over the body of "an unknown soldier" in the National Cemetery at Arlington, Va. His voice will be heard by hushed multitudes in New York, Chicago and San Francisco, as well as by thousands gathered in and around the huge Arlington amphitheatre.

Every prayer and address uttered on that solemn occasion will be transmitted to these distant cities by long distance telephone wires, and then, by means of loud speakers, carried to the ears of the reverent throngs that will have gathered to pay homage to America's illustrious dead.

The ceremonies at Arlington will be in charge of the U. S. Army. The co-ordinated ceremonies at noon in Madison Square Garden, New York, at eleven o'clock in Medinah Temple, Chicago, and at nine o'clock in the Civic Auditorium, San Francisco, will be conducted by the American Legion posts of these cities.

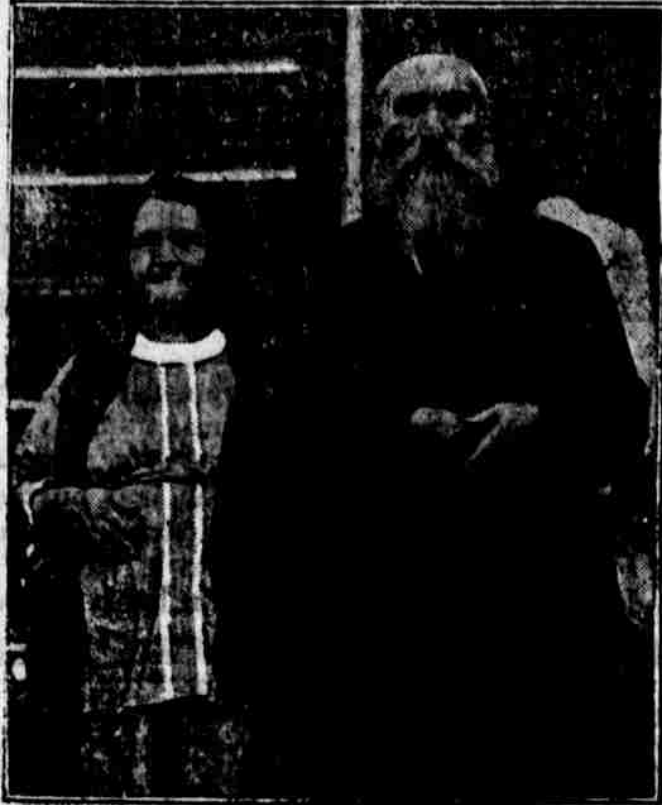

As soon as President Harding's offer to President Harding of the Bell System's transcontinental circuits and loud speaker apparatus was accepted, engineers of the American Telephone and Telegraph company undertook the extraordinary difficult task involved in the plan to bring, in effect, these distant audiences to the Arlington ceremonies. No other cities could be included because the methods of achieving such an epoch-making result have only just been perfected, and the complicated apparatus required could not be manufactured in necessary quantities.

The undertaking is a gigantic one, involving countless difficulties of installation and operation, but the splendid results already attained give every assurance of success. One of the tests, early in October, made Colonel Carly and his assistants feel sure that they could rely on the facilities they were providing. A speaker on the roof of the Bush Street Exchange, in San Francisco, spoke into a special transmitter, three feet distant, that was connected by suitable apparatus with a transcontinental circuit that extended to Olympic Park, Newark, where loud speaking apparatus was installed. His remarks were heard distinctly and with ample volume, by Bell Engineers and others standing more than a thousand feet from the projectors. Other remarkable tests of a similar character have been made, and have fortified the confidence of the engineers in charge in the performance of the Bell apparatus on Armistice Day.

The simultaneous transmission of the historic words that will be spoken on November 11th will mark the beginning of another epoch in the development of communication. No such impressive demonstration of the telephone's potentialities has ever been attempted. The event will not only add immeasurably to the solemnity and national significance of the ceremonies at Arlington but will call the world's attention anew to the triumph of Bell Engineers in speeding the spoken word.

The Bell Loud Speaker is a fundamental contribution to human effort, whereby a speaker's voice, or the sound of music can, at the very moment of delivery, reach distant audiences in number and size heretofore never dreamed of. Colonel Carly, who is head of the Bell System Department of Development and Research, which has developed the apparatus and brought it to its present high state of perfection, was recently asked by an interviewer what he considered the most important feature of the loud speaker development. "The change it is bound to create in the art of oratory," he said in reply. "Heretofore orators have been chosen largely for their loud voices, their capacity to reach the ears of those at the back of the hall. We will make it possible for any ordinary man with common sense, possessing the average speaking voice to get his thoughts into the minds of as many auditors as he may want to reach. Effective addresses by our plan can be made by men speaking no louder

REDDING.—Because Bolvar Krogue of Anderson, aged 17, was pinched while stealing a ride in a car of lumber, a freight train was stopped on the main line between Kerwick and Coram for two hours, while the train crew sawed the lad to liberty. He was riding in a gondola car. A sudden lurch of the train jammed an 8x8 timber against him and the end of the car.

The boy is a son of Mr. and Mrs. James Krogue, newcomers in Anderson. He was beating his way from Klamath Falls to his home.

EUREKA.—Arthur B. Gilmore, Town Marshal of Trinidad, was fined $500 by Justice of the Peace Adams for driving an automobile while intoxicated.

PLACERVILLE.—An experience which, while being novel might have had serious results came to Ernest Carsten of Camino on the last day of the deer season. Carsten's dog had chased a large buck into a brush. He started to enter the brush to follow the trail when suddenly the buck leaped out upon him, knocking him down and discharging his gun. Carsten suffered severe bruises of the side and a fractured rib.

ARBUCKLE.—Gas masks for the purpose of affording immunity from sulphur fumes, just as they were used during the world war to protect the wearer from poisonous gases, are to be worn next Sunday morning when members of the Arbuckle post of the American Legion attempt to rout a swarm of bees from the old Webster school.

There are approximately 17,000 motion picture theatres in the United States.

An Informal Meeting of the Supreme Council
