BAKER—Incendiarism is suspected to have caused three bad fires which broke out in different sections of the city between 7:30 and 11:30 o'clock Saturday night. The plant of the Tri-State Terminal Grain company was destroyed, with about 10,000 bushels of wheat. A large warehouse full of wool and a residence in South Baker also were destroyed. A box car on the O-W. R. & N. track was destroyed in connection with the Tri-State fire. The company has not been operating recently, but the warehouse connecting with the elevator was used to store grain. Just what the loss is cannot at this time be determined.

YOUNG ARCTIC EXPLORER IS COMING HOME

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 3.—Captain Harold Noice, known as one of the youngest of the sub-polar explorers, is shortly to return to his home after six years of exploration and adventure along the Arctic Coasts of Alaska and Canada, according to a cablegram received from him from Teller, Alaska, recently.

The cablegram told of his arrival at Teller on the Hudson Bay Company's steamer, Lady Klnderley, which had picked him up at Three Rivers, 1,500 miles east of Herschell Island, whence he had traveled after charting a large section of the coast of Victoria Land.

In March, 1915, Noice, then only 19 years old joined Captain Louis Lane in his famous Arctic trading expedition on the power schooner, Polar Bear. He expected to be back in Seattle within a few months. Instead he remained six years in the North.

During the summer of 1915 the Polar Bear cruised eastward along the Arctic coast, trading furs and searching for Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the explorer, who had been missing in the Arctic for more than two years. Finally Lane found Stefansson and Noice joined the latter's expedition as record-keeper and map-maker. He remained with Stefansson three years.

When the expedition began the return to civilization in 1918, Noice purchased an old trading schooner and began in earnest the career of an explorer. During the last three years, according to the meager news that has found its way South, he has charted hitherto untouched shores of the Northwest Passage as
