BLACK HAND LETTER IS SENT TO BANK CASHIER SIEMENS

Demand Made For $2,500 On Threat to Blow Up His Home—Suspect Under Arrest

An attempt was made Monday to blackmail John Siemens, Jr., cashier of First State and Savings bank out of $2,500, under threat of blowing up his home in case of refusal to comply with the demand.

The threatening letter received in the noon delivery read: "Mr. John Siemens, care of bank: Take warning, read this—tell no one, for if you do your home will be blown up—it is set now. Bring $2,500 as soon as you get this to fork it road at city dump grounds, drop it, then keep on going over hill. You will be watched all the time by us, tell no one or you will suffer." The letter was mailed Sunday night October 30.

Upon receipt of the letter, Siemens called upon Sheriff Low and a plan was devised for capturing the writer. Siemens was instructed to wrap up a package, carry it out of the bank in plain sight, drive to the spot designated and throw the package into the brush off the roadside so that no passing stranger would accidentally pick it up.

Siemens left here at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon and fulfilled his part of the scheme while Sheriff Low and Luke Walker, deputy sheriff, departed by another route which took them to a spot about one half mile back of the old city dump. The officers crawled through brush on their stomachs until they came within 100 yards of the forked road. Two minutes after Siemens drove by. Raymond Moore, 23 years of age appeared upon the scene and driving to the highest eminence, got out of his car and surveyed the region. Moore then drove to the forks of the roads, got out and began searching the vicinity there, the officers say.

Apparently unable to find what he was looking for, Moore drove to the second forks of the dump roads and went through a similar proceeding, then drove south about a quarter of a mile and turned his car about. At this point, John Siemens, Jr., and Deputy Sheriff Burt Hawkins, closed in on him. Sheriff Low stated that Moore when questioned regarding what he was looking for there said "he was looking for fender irons." Answers to other questions did not seem logical to the officers. Moore was permitted to return to town, to interview a possible confederate but as he did not, he was arrested at 3 o'clock upon another charge, that of being an accomplice of Ed James in a moonshining operation upon the old Ft. Klamath road.

The threatening letter was sent to Austin C. Fiegel, Deputy United States District Attorney at Portland by Sheriff Low and today Thomas H. Maguire, U. S. Assistant Attorney, and S. F. Pace placed Moore under arrest on the federal charge and he will be arraigned before Bert C. Thomas, U. S. Commissioner this afternoon.

Deputy U. S. Attorney Maguire this morning saw Ed James, arrested on the moonshining charge and positively identified him as Ed Dusterhoff, well known in Multnomah county as a moonshiner who had engaged in the illicit trade there extensively and who had been several times convicted and also served time. Maguire said that Ed and Luther Dusterhoff were known as the "Dusterhoff Twins" resembling each other so closely as to make positive identification, sometimes difficult.

SACRED HEART SISTERS LEAVE

There is sadness today in Sacred Heart academy, a sadness that not only envelops the good sisters who devote their time to the work to which they have dedicated their lives, but it extends into hundreds of homes in the city and county. It is because two of the most beloved of the sisters left this morning for the mother house in Kentucky. They are Sister Margaret Mary and Sister Mary Lambert.

Both came here when the convent was first established, and have remained here continuously since. By their gentle sweetness and loving kindness they endeared themselves to a wide circle of friends, both of their faith and outside of it. To the children who were entrusted to their care they became models of perfection, elevated in their young minds to a degree that commanded such an affectionate regard as to bring a deeper grief, since they cannot realize the inexorable call of duty and obedience. They left this morning for Nazareth, going by auto to Bend, where they will board the train for the south.

The following will attend, going by the usual route: E. H. Thomas, country agriculturist; L. A. West, E. B. Hall, T. L. Stanley, secretary of the chamber of commerce; Hans Nylander and William Tingley.

BIG FOOTBALL GAMES TODAY

PORTLAND, Nov. 5.—Today marks almost as important a date in the Pacific coast conference football calendar as the history-making game of last Saturday, when California beat Washington State College, and Oregon Aggies lost to Stanford.

Oregon, idle last Saturday and present as keen students at the California-W. S. C. game, will try to use what they found out to advantage against Coach Gus Welch's aggregation at Pullman. Washington State, favorite over the Oregon team, is slated to win by at least two touchdowns.

The other important conference game kicks off when Stanford, conquerors of O. A. C. tie up with the University of Washington at Seattle this afternoon. After their showing last Saturday, Stanford warriors are regarded as favorites over the Sun-doggers, who lost so signally to O. A. C. two weeks ago.

Want Every Mother's Son of the Legion

"Please, oh please, do tell those American Legion men that we want every mother's son of them at the city council chamber hall Tuesday night to go into the details of the biggest affair that Klamath Falls has ever had—and we need the boys there to talk over the plans." John Enders, general chairman, said today while discussing the coming Armistice Day celebration, November 10 and 11.

"If the Legion men will cooperate with the committees, Klamath Falls will be shaken from one end to the other on that day of all the days in our soldier careers."

ELKS HAVE GOOD TIME AT HARD TIMES DANCE

The Elks' "hard times dance" last night at the clubrooms was one of the best and most enjoyable features of the 1921 season and the hall was crowded with dancers garbed in all sorts of costumes betokening "hard times." Some of the costumes were decidedly clever. Refreshments were served (a feature being older from the "old well down on the farm," with its old-fashioned windlass and bucket placed in the center of the floor.

JAP PREMIER IS KILLED BY INSANE YOUTH

TOKIO, Nov. 4.—The Japanese cabinet has resigned after a meeting this morning. Viscount Uchida, foreign minister, became acting premier yesterday after Premier Hara had been stabbed by a demented youth. It became known today that the assassin was the son of a former member of the samurai, or soldier class, constituting lower nobility of Japan under the feudal system, who had been a man of importance during the restoration period.

This son, it appears, was of a fanatic nature, and regarded as a political fanatic. He was arrested immediately after the stabbing. The detective who was escorting Premier Hara was badly cut on the arms and hands in disarming the assassin.

Marking Time in Restaurant Strike

No change was reported in the walkout of the culinary workers and business at all the restaurants seemed to go on as usual, both the proprietors' association and the culinary alliance marking time.

At a meeting of the Central Labor Council held last night a resolution was unanimously adopted declaring that the council was in complete sympathy with, and approved, the action taken by the Culinary Alliance in their present stand to uphold union conditions in the city. The following unions were represented: barbers, carpenters, culinary workers, laundry workers, musicians, musicians, painters and timber workers.

Yesterday there was a parade of the waitresses who are on strike. There was no attempt at a demonstration, their protest against the restaurants which refused to sign up on the proposed wage scale, being confined to the distribution of circulars asking their sympathizers to patronize those restaurants whose proprietors had signed up. Both sides appear confident the present situation will not continue for many days longer, as the loss entailed is altogether too great to be carried any great length of time.

The child has had a cold for a few days, but never was considered to be in a grave condition.

Mr. Timms, who is well known in this city among both the negro and white population, had planned to send the family south for the winter, but the misfortune in the loss of the daughter has changed this plan.
