

The Office Cat

BY JUNIUS

A CONFECTIONERY BOON
As limitless as ocean's waves
Her love for candy rations;
Alas! Her best young man went broke—
(Went drier than the nation!

Her fate, She burst! At confectioner's
They found her mighty handy;
Ah, no, she did not go to waste,
They made her up in candy.

TIDE!

Towne: "That's why I prefer a vacation at the seashore. It's there when you want it."

Ed Vannice says a martyr is a man who meekly wears home-made trousers.

The way some men brag about their wives you might think they wanted to sell them, says John Enders.

Prohibition has shoved Kentucky away from the bungalow, but hanged if it has loosened Kentucky's right index finger from the trigger.

HER SHAPE

Jennie McNulty O'Trigger.
Was famed for her wonderful figger;
Her waist was quite small—
Wasn't hefty at all,
But from there she got bigger and bigger—

Harvey Brown says the longest home-stretch these days is the family pocket book.

A doctor says sleep with your body north and south. What are the odds as long as you have plenty of blankets and your neighbors have no play-er piano.

WHICH IS SO OFTEN THE CASE THESE DAYS

"The Lady in Red" claims a skillfully devised plot, replete with smart dialogue, delectable comicallities, delightful lyrics and titillating melodies.

Which reminds us that we are progressing nicely with our new play. The production, however, is delayed by a hitch in the negotiations with a Grand Rapids furniture manufacturer.

"The best way to keep a husband is guessing."

Culture is secured from books, but not from check books, as some seem to think.

The tactful maid is the sum of all innocence as she says: "O, George, that display of chocolates is perfectly lovely."

A mule, says Joe the Plodder, is a great warning against kicking. The better he does it, the more unpopular he gets.

It is possible to kiss a girl while driving an automobile, but it takes a whole lot of cooperation.

The Kentucky mountaineer who has married the same woman three times ought to go as an expert to the disarmament conference.

They arrested a Chicago man in knee trousers. (Probably thought he was impersonating a woman.)

Chicago burglar has sued newspaper for damages. Mistaken reporter referred to him as a landlord.

BIGG, STRONG & CO.
GENTLEMEN:
I RECEIVED YOUR PRICE LIST. YOUR LETTER-HEAD SHOWS A LARGE BUILDING WITH YOUR FIRM NAME SPREAD CLEAR ACROSS THE STRUCTURE ON EACH FLOOR. YOU ACTUALLY OCCUPY TWO SMALL ROOMS ON THE NINTH FLOOR. IF MISREPRESENTATION IS USED AT THE TOP OF YOUR LETTERS WHAT'S TO STOP IT FROM SOAKING DOWN INTO THE REST OF IT?
YOURS IN DOUBT,
Everett True

UNIVERSITY CLUB DANCE TONIGHT

No invitations have been sent out for the University Club dance tonight, but this does not excuse any college or university man or woman from attending the affair in the Scandinavian hall at 9 o'clock. Numerous interesting features are being planned by the social committee.

tee for the entertainment of their guests. Plans have also been made for the sale of doughnuts and cider as a means of helping the club to get on its feet, according to the committee.

According to John Houston, president of the club, this first dance isn't exactly a date affair and women and men are to come regardless of whether they have dates or not. All women will be charged 25c admission.

It is often said that we appreciate most the things we work hardest for. The appreciation of their husbands by some wives must be something beautiful to behold — measured by this standard.
