IDLE TIMBERLAND IN AMERICA

"The United States produces more than half of the entire lumber cut of the world," says Col. W. B. Greeley, Chief of the Forest Service, United States Department of Agriculture, "and uses 95 per cent of that amount right here at home."

The exhaustion of our timber supply is coming about, not because we have used our forests freely, but because we have failed to use our timber-growing land. The problem in a nutshell is the enormous area of forest land which has been so logged and burned that it is producing little or nothing. We have more than 80,000,000 acres, an area greater than all the forests of France, Belgium, Holland and Denmark, Germany, Switzerland, Spain and Portugal, which have been denuded to the point of absolute idleness so far as the production of any timber of commercial value is concerned. We have other enormous areas of cut-over land now growing but a fraction of the amount of timber which they might produce. And we are adding to these areas of idle land from 10,000,000 to 15,000,000 acres every year, as destructive logging and still more destructive burning progress.

"This situation," the forester points out, "can not long continue without grave consequences. If we are to remain a Nation of wood users, we must become a Nation of wood growers. By some means or other we must see to it that forest lands not needed for agriculture are not allowed to lie idle, but are kept at work growing timber."

"The Other Woman" Here Tomorrow

At the Strand Theatre tonight will be presented the J. L. Frothingham production of "The Other Woman" which has been justly classed as a masterpiece in filmdom. It deals with a complex marital situation, and is brimful of thrills and heart throbs. It is a picture that will get the bachelor and the maid to thinking and to the married folks is a physiological study in the married relation. What would you do if you loved a woman with all your heart and she, in turn, loved another man, and that man happened to be her husband who had been missing from home five years, and the whole world believed dead, except, of course, the faithful wife, and then one day you saw him wandering through the streets, a broken derelict, money and memory gone—What would you do? See this picture for the answer. Don't forget Thursday—"Country Store Night."

Malin Cheese Factory Starts Tomorrow

This morning the Malin Cheese and Produce Co. began doing business in the new $5,000 plant at Malin, which is a result of the coalition of the farmers and business men of that section of the county. The new plant has a capacity of five thousand pounds a day and while at first it will not run to capacity it is hoped in the near future the popularity of the product will force production to the limit.

H. E. Wilson is president of the new concern and John R. Rober, secretary and general manager. The latter is a graduate of the Wisconsin Dairy school and has been operating for several years in California, having four factories under his management at the present time. These factories during the past six years have been awarded first prize for their product at the California State fair, and this record Mr. Rober hopes to parallel here. The Malin factory will put out a brand of cream cheese to be known as "Klamath" and hope to make its use universal in this section.

$2,100 Wooden Ship Offer Recalls $22,500 Paid for Farragut Flagship

The Famous Old Frigate Richmond, the Last of Our Historic Wooden Warships, and One Time Part of Farragut's Fleet at Mobile, Which Was Burned at Eastport, Me., for the 200 Tons of Copper in Her Hull.

THE recent offer of $2,100 each for the 200 wooden ships built during the war at an average cost to the American public of $700,000 apiece, does not compare very favorably with the $22,500 paid by a junk dealer for the old Civil War Frigate Richmond, Admiral Farragut's flagship, which was burned recently so that the copper and brass in her hull might be salvaged.

There seems to be no existing navy department records to show just what the Richmond cost the government when built in 1858 at the Norfolk navy yard, but ship construction experts are certain she did not cost anywhere near $700,000. Navy department officials in Washington have not revealed the value of the copper and brass put into the building of the Richmond, and the Philadelphia junk dealer who burned her, refuses to make public the quantity of these metals he got out, but this has been estimated at 200 tons. There wasn't anything else in the Richmond of value except the brass and copper, and these metals were considered worth $22,500, more than ten times the value placed on our recently constructed $700,000 wooden vessels.

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Sage Tea and Sulphur Turns Gray, Feded Hair Dark and Glossy

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, at very little cost. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.—Adv.

Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. It doesn't hurt a bit.

Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without a particle of pain.

TAKE SALTS TO FLUSH KIDNEYS

Eat Less Meat If You Feel Back-ache or Have Bladder Trouble

Meat forms uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poison; else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.—Adv.
