THREE years of peace have passed---three years of reconstruction. Surely, we as a nation, have much to be thankful for---much to console ourselves that our plight is not greater or our burden more wearisome.

PEACE ON EARTH has been finally established. So let us offer cheer to the sorrowful, bounty to the needy and balm to the stricken. In this spirit let us celebrate this Armistice Day Anniversary.

AND LET US HOPE that the conclusions of the Disarmament conference, called by President Harding, will pave the way to the eradication of war and that all its accompanying scourges will be effaced from this earth; that the term "brotherhood of man" will bear a more definite meaning than mere words.

AND LET US REJOICE that November brings forth two great days of thanksgiving--Armistice Day and Thanksgiving Day.

LET US MAKE THIS DAY a day worth remembering, as as sacred and memorable as our natal day--the Fourth of July.

IN FLANDERS FIELD

BY LIEUT. COL. JOHN D. McRAE.

(Written during the second battle of Ypres, April, 1915.
The author, Dr. John D. McRae, of Montreal, Canada, was killed on duty in Flanders, Jan. 28, 1918.)

In Flanders fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our place; and in the sky
The larks, still bravely singing, fly,
Scarce heard amidst the guns below.
We are the dead. Short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved, and now we lie
In Flanders fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe!
To you from falling hands we throw
The torch. Be yours to hold it high!
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
In Flanders fields.

AMERICA'S ANSWER

BY R. W. LILLARD.

(Written after the death of Lieut. Col. McRae, author of
"In Flanders Fields," printed in the New York Evening Post.)

Rest ye in peace, ye Flanders dead.
The fight that ye so bravely led We've taken up. And we will keep True faith with you who lie asleep
With each a cross to mark his bed,
And poppies blowing overhead,
Where once his own life blood ran red
So let your rest be sweet and deep
In Flanders fields.

Fear not that ye have died for naught.
The torch ye threw to us we caught.
Ten million hands will hold it high,
And freedom's light shall never die!
We've learned the lesson that ye taught
In Flanders fields.
