

POTATO AND APPLE CROPS SHOW DECLINE

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 14.—Heavy marketing of a comparatively light crop of potatoes is an outstanding feature of the November crop report of the United States Bureau of Markets and crop estimates issued by F. L. Kent, Oregon statistician.

The Oregon potato crop estimate declined during the month of October, and the 1921 production is now placed at an average yield of 90 bushels per acre on 43,000 acres or a total of 3,870,000 bushels. The final state estimate for the 1920 crop was about 6,000,000 bushels. The United States potato prospect improved somewhat during October, and the November 1 indications are for a crop of 356,000,000 bushels compared with 422,000,000 bushels in 1920.

Digging was considerably earlier this year than last and this fact together with a favorable price induced an earlier movement of the crop. This matter of favorable price is considered to be the main factor in the heavy movement over the country as a whole.

Apples:—Present indications are that the October estimates of 3,300,000 boxes of commercial apples this year in the state, is conservative. The United States commercial crop prospect as a whole declined about 3,000,000 bushels during October, and is now estimated at about 56,000,000 bushels.

The total carlot shipments from July 1st to October 29th, 1921, from Oregon as well as other "boxed apple" states, have been nearly double the shipments for the corresponding period last year.

Grains:—Weight per measured bushel for Oregon is reported as follows: Winter wheat, 59; spring wheat, 59; oats, 35.5; barley, 48. For the United States the weights are, all wheat, 56.8; oats, 35.8; barley, 44.4.

APPLE-GUESSING CONTEST FOR LINCOLN AND RED CROSS
H. H. Jenkins of the Lincoln Grocery has announced that two boxes of the famous Rogue River Spitzensburg and Winter Banana apples, grown on the Robinson and McCollum orchards near Wilderville, Oregon, are to be placed in the chamber of commerce rooms as a donation to the American Legion and Red Cross funds.

The plan which the donor wishes to follow is to have two boxes on display, and another box opened, the individual apples to be sold at 25 cents apiece, each person to count the seeds in the apple eaten, then guess what number will be found in each half of a Winter Banana and a Spitzensburg apple taken from each donated box. The person who guesses the nearest in both instances is to be given a box of apples. The money derived from the sale to be divided equally between the two organizations.

Pushing Work On The Henley Flume

Erection of the Henley flume is progressing rapidly and the traveling erector is now at the road crossing ready to lift into position the sections which will span the passage way. A detour in the road below the old crossing is used by automobilists but within a week the road will be restored to use.

The flume is attracting much attention from tourists who are called into this country on business and yesterday, James Waldron, of Kansas City, a municipal contractor at that place, pronounced the flume, also its method of construction, one of the finest pieces of concrete construction which he had ever examined.

The flume gates about three-quarters of a mile southeast of the Henley flume are nearing completion and in the spring, the waters will be conveyed into and under the diversion canal.

GAME WARDEN STOUT SAYS VENISON MUST BE TAGGED

A large number of persons who still have venison left from the hunt this year have applied to Game Warden Henry Stout for their metal tags for insertion into each quarter left over and while a majority of hunters have complied with the law, there are a number who have failed to do so and may be arrested unless immediate compliance is made with the law.

A check has been kept on the kills this season and many people who have only a small portion left feel that it is not necessary to comply with the instructions but such is not the case. The tags will save venison holders from fines as the game warden is giving them their opportunity to comply with the law before taking legal action against them.

SCARCITY OF APPLICANTS FOR GOVERNMENT POSITIONS

The Civil Service Commission invites special attention to the fact that in examinations held recently in Klamath Falls and other cities throughout the United States for domestic science teachers, Indian Service, for apprentice fish culturists, Bureau of Fisheries, and for telegraph operators, Departmental and Field services, applicants were not secured in the number desired, and that these examinations will again be held on December 7.

Persons interested in these or other examinations should apply to the Secretary of the U. S. Civil Service Board at the local post office for detailed information and application blanks.

APPLE-PACKING CONTEST AT PACIFIC NORTHWEST SHOW

SEATTLE, Nov. 14.—The apple packing championship on the United States, perhaps of the world, will be decided at the Pacific Northwest Fruit Exposition, to be held in Seattle, Nov. 21 to 26. It is true that the Exposition management can scarcely expect entries for this contest from any great distance, but since Pacific Northwest apple growers pay more attention to fast and careful packing than is paid anywhere else on earth, it is safe to say that the champion packer of this region may claim national and international honors.

LOCAL STUDENTS TAKING U. O. HOME COURSE

That there is no lack of ambition in Klamath county is indicated by the number of residents who are taking correspondence courses with the University of Oregon—examples of fine determination, of persistent study and preparation during spare hours.

The Klamath county correspondence students during the past year include: Mrs. H. N. Stanton, Ivan D. Houston, Sister Mary Liquori, Edward I. Dervan, Mrs. K. N. Wood, Marie Dolan, Grace Lytle, Carl Newbury and Howard R. Hill, all of Klamath Falls, who respectively enrolled in: American literature; American Republic; teaching principles; methods in civics, and short story; entrance English composition; educational administration and supervision; rural school management; recent American literature; principles of accounting; college english composition.

G. K. Wilshire, of Crescent, registered for theme writing and general psychology; Harry Skyrman, of Chilcoquin, for English history; Emma L. Weapp, of Midland, for rural school management; Richard K. Hannon, of Malin, for educational administration and supervision; Allison French, of Olney, for the American Republic.

They all study by their own fire-side, utilizing their spare time. The University of Oregon, through its extension division, offers 80 different courses in correspondence study—courses that cover the important fields of knowledge and that carry university credit.

These residents of Klamath county, who during the past year have taken such a variety of courses for cultural improvement and professional advancement, are part of a group of 1,000 Oregon citizens who have taken advantages for home study offered by the University of Oregon.

White Honkers and Ducks Plentiful Near Malin

The greatest flock of white honkers this year were flying near Malin yesterday morning and evening and many hunters from Klamath Falls got their limit in the forenoon. Part of the day, especially after three o'clock in the afternoon, clouds gathered in the sky and caused the geese to move about over the wheat fields, which resulted in good bags.

There were more ducks along the Lost river yesterday than at any time this season and many hunters passed up the goose shooting to get full bags of greenwings and blackjacks, also a few snipe. One hunter secured six Wilson jacksnipe, something unusual at this time of the year as this type of snipe hurries southward on the first appearance of frost.

LIVED YEARS ON BREAD AND MILK

FOR MORE THAN DECADE MILDADY OF THIS ALABAMA WOMAN WAS CONTINUALLY SAPPING HER STRENGTH.

Mrs. H. P. Barrett, of Republic, suburb of Birmingham, Ala., gives the facts of her remarkable experience with Tanlac, as follows:

"During the past fourteen years I have spent more than one thousand dollars trying to get rid of a complaint that was gradually sapping my strength, but until I got hold of Tanlac nothing helped me. For the past four years I have lived almost entirely on milk and bread, and finally even that went against me.

"Before I had finished the first bottle of Tanlac, I got so I could eat anything, and I certainly bless the day I first got this medicine for I believe it has added years to my life. The people in my neighborhood were so surprised at the change in me that fourteen of them by actual count are now taking Tanlac."

Tanlac and Tanlac Vegetable Pills are sold by druggists everywhere.
