Members of the American Legion who served with the United States forces in France, will be called upon to give facts relating to Senator Watson's charge that American soldiers were shot and hanged in France without the formality of a court-martial. Secretary of War Weeks in a request to Commander Hanford MacNider for the Legion's co-operation said the War Department desired to prove or definitely refute the Georgia Senator's allegations. Lemuel Esler, national adjutant of the Legion said he was sure the National Commander would co-operate.

There is one officer to every seven men in the United States army, according to information received by the American Legion. It was explained by the War Department that the high proportion of officers was due to the present army policy of maintaining an army capable of quick expansion in time of war. The army today numbers 138,000 of which number 18,000 are officers.

The first official act of Hanford MacNider, newly elected national commander of the American Legion was his attendance at the Armistice Day ceremonies at Arlington as representative of the majority of ex-service men in the United States. He will remain at Washington during the disarmament conference. MacNider's election has been approved by Legionnaires everywhere. "He is exactly the type of a man we want to lead us," seems to be the unanimous comment. The impressive things about the new commander are that he went into the army a buck private and came out a lieutenant colonel with 11 citations and nine decorations; that at the age of 32 he is head of a large banking business in Iowa and that he is a "Harvard man without the Harvard accent." He has been hailed everywhere as a "real soldier."

A post of the American Legion composed entirely of World War veterans of Polish descent has been formed at Toledo, Ohio, and is known as Argonne post. Frank Scumigala is the commander, Stanley J. Grzesinski is vice commander and Joseph Malukonski is adjutant.

Joseph Semitch, a world war veteran who lost a leg in the Argonne, walked seven miles at the head of the Shelbina, Mo., post of the American Legion in the Legion parade at Kansas City. Semitch gets around with the aid of a crutch.

Flying a kite "to keep the wolf away from the door" is the occupation of a World War veteran who during the war flew an airplane in France. The veteran was jobless and the only work the American Legion Employment Bureau at Minneapolis, Minn., could find for him was flying an advertising kite for a film company.

Buck privates had the pleasure of seeing former commissioned officers doing kitchen police at an American Legion banquet at Terre Haute, Ind.

The home in which the daughter of Betsy Ross, maker of the first American flag lived, at Fort Madison, Ia., has been purchased by the Fort Madison post of the American Legion for a club house.

Reunited after seventeen years separation, Frank and Joseph Payne, who had been placed in an orphanage in St. Louis in early childhood, found in comparing the war experiences that they had sought safety in the same shell hole in the Argonne but did not at the time know they were brothers. The reunion occurred at Kansas City.

The mayor and chief of police of Lincoln, Neb., have endorsed a plan for the employment of jobless ex-service men as night watchmen to aid the police department in suppressing crime.

"VOICE WITH THE SMILE"

THAT WINS ON THE PHONON
A generic term applied to telephone practice "courtesy" covers a great many things. Were Lord Chesterfield living in this telephone age he would undoubtedly enlarge upon the importance of telephone courtesy in his famous letters to his son.

Telephone courtesy not only includes common politeness but reasonable consideration for the convenience of others. It gives a pleasing blend to all business intercourse. The late Andrew Carnegie commenting upon the retirement of one of America's leading business men once said:

"This young man actually sweetened sordid business dealings by the amiability of his manners." It's the voice with the smile that wins.

BRUMFIELD WRITES TO GELLMATE

"Chief" Balliet, a prisoner in the county jail at Roseburg, has received a letter from Dr. R. M. Brumfield now in the state penitentiary awaiting execution. While Brumfield was confined here "Chief" who is being held for the grand jury on a charge of passing worthless checks, promised that he would call on Brumfield at the pen as soon as he is sent to that institution. In the letter received, Brumfield stresses this promise. The letter is as follows:

"My Dear Chief: I have been here now for quite a while. I am quite a little stronger than I was and am improving each day.

"Chief, you have no idea of the calibre of the men running this institution—his hearted fellows who treat a fellow very much like a man. They certainly have been fine to me. The place is spotlessly clean and the meals are as good as you could get at the Umpqua. I am more closely confined and have less chance for exercise, is my only objection; but a fellow couldn't well expect to find anything to his liking in a state penitentiary, could he? If the railbird and vultures of Roseburg know how well I am being treated, I suppose they would raise an awful holler.

"Chief, I shall not forget you—never cease to appreciate what you meant to me for several weeks past. We were certainly about as agreeable companions as a fellow could find. We must not forget the promises we made each other.

"I hope Sam carried out his promise as soon as he returned to Roseburg. I am pretty sure he did if he could for Sam is a real white man. Remember me to him—also to Finis.

"My wife and sister will visit me this p. m. Merle is as much of a brick as ever—always brave—always ready to fight for me. They treat us quite differently from what Frank Hopkins did. They provide us with comfortable chairs and allow us to sit and hold hands and chat for two hours at a time. George has nothing to say in the matter.

"Chief don't forget. Be good, and write some day to your quondam colimate.

R. M. BRUMFIELD."

New Work Issued On Oregon History

OREGON; HER HISTORY, HER GREAT MEN, HER LITERATURE, by John B. Herber, A. M., LITT. D., Professor of History, Head of Department of Historical Research, Oregon Agricultural College. The J. K. Gill Company, Portland, Oregon. 252 pp. octavo. Price $2.00.

This work aims to satisfy a popular need. It makes no claims to superiority as an original or authoritative treatise. But in that it groups in one volume the main points of all the historical phases of the story of Oregon, it is welcome as an addition to our literature. The thrilling geological record is here, the account too of the natural resources, the tales of the pioneers, their struggles and disputes. All these topics are made interesting and entertaining. The treatment of the political history of the state is commendable for the events are all set down in chapters that follow the order of all the gubernatorial administrations.

TO SUBSCRIBERS

The Herald has changed the time for its special rate campaign from April to November. This change was made this year at the request of many subscribers that we change the date of renewal until after the harvest. During November we will accept subscriptions to The Herald at the special rate of $4, where the paper is delivered by mail within the county and $5, where it is delivered by carrier or where the postoffice of the subscriber is outside of the county. All papers that are not paid for in advance by December 1, will be discontinued and anything due will be turned over to a collector for collection at our regular subscription rate of 65 cents a month. All subscriptions taken after December 1st will be charged for on the basis of 65c per month or $6.50 a year.

We feel quite confident that our subscribers will extend to us the same consideration we gave them last spring and send in their subscriptions immediately. Individually, the amount is small, but in the aggregate is a great deal. When you remember that a newspaper makes nothing on its subscriptions, and under the unusual conditions that have existed during the past two years, really loses money on them, you will be good enough, we are sure, to give this matter your immediate attention and not wait until the last day, when you may forget it and after which it will be too late to get the benefit of the special rate.

My Christmas Piano NOW

"Hello! Is this Smith? Yes! Jones speaking. "We would like you and the wife to drop in tonight, if convenient—you see we have already taken delivery of our new Christmas Piano.— Think it pretty early for Christmas shopping, eh! Well, Earl Shepherd said that merchants, generally speaking, are carrying much smaller stocks this Fall and the chap who buys early gets the best picking.

"Oh yes! We could have had it delivered Christmas Eve, but we wanted the pleasure right now."

Our 1922 Payment Plan is in force and we are averaging several Piano or Phonograph sales each day.

Remember that as a Christmas Gift a musical instrument is equally pleasing to ALL members of the family.
