

SOCIETY

With the approach of the holiday season, the society women of the city have abandoned the card tables to work for the bazaars being given by the various churches. The Catholic bazaar is now in full way and the exhibits of fancy work would indicate that months of preparation were necessary to produce the exquisite articles shown in the various booths.

The Episcopal Guild is busy every afternoon and evening preparing for its sale which will be held in the old First National Bank building at 4th and Main streets next Friday and Saturday, November 25th and 26th. While the ladies are guarding with the greatest secrecy their plans for the bazaar, it has leaked out that there will be the most wonderful surprises in store for those attending as they have been working for months on novelties in needlework that will delight those in search of "just what they have been looking for" in Christmas gifts for their friends. They will have an unusual quantity of cakes and cakes at this sale, and novelties in decorations for the Christmas table. The purpose of the sale is to raise money to be applied to the building fund of the new church.

The Presbyterian church will hold its Christmas bazaar Friday afternoon and evening, December 2nd, and the ladies of the church have been sewing almost daily in preparation for the sale. Mrs. Dennis entertained the ladies of the west side this week and Mrs. Rice entertained those of the east side at afternoons of sewing and they are quite convinced that they will outdo all the others when they open the doors for their sale on Dec. 2nd.

On the occasion of her eleventh birthday, Hazel Stansbie entertained her Sunday school class of the Methodist church last Saturday afternoon at her home on Pine street. The guests showered the little Miss with beautiful gifts and after an afternoon spent in games they gathered around a table laden with delicious refreshments and a big birthday cake with eleven candles. Those present were: Gladys Parks, Estelle Martain, Margaret Pruitt, Jane Garcelon, Josephine McLain, Dorothy Rettell, Violet Mustoe, Pluma Mondonda, Ruby Brown, Mrs. Alta Brown, Mrs. Lawrence Phelps and Mrs. Stansbie.

The Assembly Club, a terpsichorean organization, formed last winter by some of the society ladies of the city will hold its first dance of this season at the White Pelican hotel December 12th and all of last year's members are requested to be present.

Last Saturday afternoon Mrs. G. R. Wright assisted by Mrs. J. M. Rogers, entertained with a birthday party honoring her four-year-old daughter, Madona Milson Wright. A wonderful time was had by the children, playing games throughout the afternoon. Delicious refreshments were served the little people, and many lovely gifts were presented the honor guest by her friends. Present were: Mary Ellen Wright, Lois Soule, Barbara Soule, Elvira Call, Anna Thorsen, Eleanor Maguire, Estella Hilton, Norma Henderson, Elroy Call, George Henderson, Meredith Hutchens, and Freddy Melhase.

The Church Social Club of the Presbyterian church, which has been recently organized with Dr. George Mallett as president, held its first social evening in the parlors of the church Friday evening with about forty members present. The entertainment committee for the evening, which consisted of Mrs. A. M. Melby and Miss Houston, assisted by Mrs. Rice, had arranged a delightful evening in the nature of contests between the opposing Red and Blue armies which were chosen by Mr. Dennis and Miss Parker.

After the contests and it had been determined by footing the score, that the Red army was victorious by a narrow margin, the guests were seated around an improvised camp fire and told stories and sang camp fire songs. At the close, refreshments of ice cream and French pastry was served under the direction of Mrs. E. S. Veatch and Mrs. George Mallett. The church parlors had been tastefully decorated with flags, autumn leaves, and robes and sofa pillows by Miss Vigil, Miss Payne and Miss Parker.

The club plans to hold its social evenings the second Friday in each month during the winter months and all members of the congregation over sixteen years of age and under one hundred and ten are cordially invited.

Mrs. Henrietta Melhase entertained this afternoon with seven tables of bridge at her home at Fifth and Klamath ave. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess at the close of the game and prizes were awarded to the winners of high and low scores.

A very enjoyable afternoon was spent by the Leisure Hour Bridge Club, Tuesday of last week, at the home of Mrs. H. N. Moe. Four tables were in progress throughout the afternoon; at the close of which delicious refreshments were served. The guests were Mesdames E. B. Hall, Fred Schallock, Earl Whitlock, Fred Baker, Charles Collier, R. E. Geary, Kipp Van Riper, Fred Dunbar, Horace Manning, T. C. Campbell, K. G. Cummings, William Ganong, Charles Martin, Chas. Moore, and Leslie Terwilliger.

Mrs. Jewel Barlow and Miss Alice McCourt were hostesses to the Music Club on Friday night at the home of Mrs. George Watt, on Pacific Terrace. The club has gotten well started on its winter activities and an enjoyable evening was passed on Friday by the old members and those newly bidden to the organization.

Mrs. Fred Fleet entertained the Art Needle Work Club at her home on Wednesday afternoon. The guests spent the afternoon pleasantly with fancy work and conversation and dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Beard were hosts at a duck dinner Sunday at their home to the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Sam Holden, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Orem and Miss Minnie Barnum.

Miss Joy Evans entertained thirty of her young friends and classmates at a delightful party on Friday evening at her home on 9th street. The house was appropriately decorated in the Thanksgiving colors and games and music were enjoyed throughout the evening by the guests, after which dainty refreshments were served.

Last Saturday evening Miss Mildred Lewis was pleasantly surprised when a number of her friends gave her a party in honor of her 17th birthday. A very pleasant evening was spent in playing games. The main feature of the evening was a taffy pull which was especially enjoyed. Delicious refreshments were served. Those present were Misses Addie Bowen, Ione Windham, Dorothea Wortley, Mabel Michaelson, Zena Dillard, Constance Crystal, Olive Owen Mae Crystal, Thyra Bryant, Minnie Michaelson, Ruth DeLap and Mrs. Riley Bruener; Walter Tankaley, Albert Moorland, Wilmot Sandham, Ralph Turner, Bill Perillard, Alvin Kinkade, Lee Tankaley, Robert Milam, Leonard Lewis, and Oran Milam.

Mesdames J. E. Enders and C. H. Underwood were hostesses for the Elks Ladies at the Elk Clubrooms on Tuesday afternoon. Three tables of bridge were enjoyed by the guests and the high score was made by Mrs. J. F. Elliott.

Mrs. Margaret Pitts entertained at a turkey dinner on Thursday evening, honoring Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Parker, of Placerville, Calif., who are here visiting at the home of J. J. Parker. The table decorations were suggestive of autumn and the Thanksgiving season. Covers were laid for the guests of honor, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Parker, Mrs. Elizabeth Evans, Mrs. Golden Lincoln and the hostess.

A surprise birthday party was tendered Mr. A. J. Lyle Thursday evening by his family and friends and the guests report a most enjoyable time. One of the features of the evening

LEGION MEN GRATEFUL FOR COURTESIES

A signed statement from the Armistice Day committee of Klamath Post No. 8, American Legion, was sent to the committees in charge of the Red Cross, Elks and Catholic Fair yesterday expressing their thanks to each for dispensing with programs that were to start on Armistice Day under the auspices of those organizations.

Klamath Post members desire it known that the oft repeated phrase used in the past, "They do not appreciate anything, it's a waste of time," is not true in respect to the American Legion for no matter what courtesy is rendered, appreciation is both felt and expressed.

The gist of the letter of appreciation is embodied in the statement which says, "When Klamath Post No. 8 started out to celebrate Armistice Day, the committee found that the Elks had advertised their annual Roll Call, the Catholic church its Autumn fair, and the Red Cross, the first day's drive. All of these organizations graciously gave up their program to help the legion make their dance a success. Let no one think that the legion is affiliated with any church or any lodge but the majority of legionnaires appreciate when anybody does anything for the legion or ex-service men.

To show their appreciation, the Post at its last meeting voted unanimously to present these organizations with some token of appreciation. When told of it, the Autumn Fair committee stated that they had not expected any return but had gladly and willingly dispensed with their program. The other organizations replied in the same way. That is quite true but the fact that they did it freely and in the same manner, shows the spirit of real Americanism.

The legion had several orders for merchandise left over and from these, the fair committee selected one to be disposed of at the U and I (Scandinavian) hall. A liberal patronage of ex-service men and legion friends will be appreciated by both organizations. The compliments of the Post will be presented to the Elks at their Roll Call next month, compliments being already made to the Red Cross.

RED CROSS CLOTHING DESTITUTE EUROPEANS

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 19.—More than 400,000 European children, most of whom for years have never possessed clean and decent clothing, today are wearing warm garments made by the women in America in response to the nationwide appeal by the American Red Cross last spring when the desperate plight of Europe's children was revealed. By the first of the year, when the rigorous winter of Europe is at its height, virtually double this number will be warmly clad. Shipment from Red Cross Chapters from Maine to California to the terminal in New York from which the garments are dispatched to Europe is continuing daily and is increasing rapidly.

Included in the shipments to date have been 327,339 children's garments and 78,005 layettes. This clothing, supplementing the feeding program of the European Relief Council and the medical welfare work of the American Red Cross among the thousands of suffering children, will be the means of assisting in the saving of thousands of lives.

that delighted the guests was a birthday cake baked and served by Miss Alexis, the 11-year old daughter.

Of Interest to All Good Cooks

Every good cook realizes that the actual cooking is just as important to good cookery as is the preparation of the ingredients. Isn't it fair, therefore, to say that better ranges will make better cooks?

Westinghouse

Electric Ranges are better ranges, for more reasons than can be discussed here.

They are the only ranges with practical automatic control. They can be trusted to start and stop cooking without attention, and they use the minimum of current. They heat the food and not the kitchen.
