FRIDAY, DECEMBER 9, 1921.

Social activities this month are slowing up, out of deference to Christmas. Clubs, for the most part, have suspended their meetings until after the holidays to allow their members to attend to personal obligations of the season. A few dances are being planned and the usual number of dinners being given.

The Assembly club, which is re-organizing for the winter, will hold its first meeting on Monday of next week at the White Pelican hotel. The affair is to be a strictly formal dance, at which all old members are cordially invited to be present. The Assembly dance, were among the most popular social events of last year, and members are looking forward to repeating their former success.

Mrs. Mary McClure entertained at a neighborhood gathering on Thursday afternoon at her home on South Riverside street. The honor guest on this occasion was Mrs. Anna Friable. The afternoon was spent in visiting and sewing. At a late hour in the entertainment a dainty luncheon was served. The guests were: Mesdames Frisby, C. P. Mason, R. J. Sheets, J. F. Goeller, A. Carlson, G. Metz, K. G. Cummings, Don Zumwalt, Harry Richardson, L. M. Fitch, G. Van Riper and Harry Gallagher.

Saturday evening of last week Mrs. James Esell entertained the teachers of Mills school and a few friends at her beautiful country home. The evening was spent playing cards and with music. At a late hour dainty refreshments were served by the hostess. Present were: Mesdames Bryant, McKimins, Misses Bernardine Hannon, Ruth Dixon, Madge Dixon, Messrs. Bryant, McKimins and O'Brien.

Friday of last week a most enjoyable dancing party for the younger set of the city was given by Misses Waive Withrow, Joan McDonald and Dorothy McAbby, at the home of Miss Withrow. The rooms were simply and artistically decorated in flowers and greens, and light refreshments were served throughout the evening. Present were: Misses Ruth DeLair, Fannie Stoops, Mammie Harris, Alice Hansen, Emma Fyiling, Letha Humphrey, Joan McDonald, Waive Withrow and Dorothy McAbby; Messrs. Clifford Hogue, DeLoe Mills, Lester Payne, Chester Shriver, Charles Groves, Robert Goetz, Roger Montgomery and Pat Montgomery.

A great deal of time and work are being devoted to the preparation of a musical program for the coming recital at the Presbyterian church, on Friday of next week, as a dedicatory service for the new organ, which has the distinction of being the first pipe organ to be installed in Klamath county.

The church choir in co-operation with Miss Dorothy Elliott as one Don Zumwalt, and with Mrs. Charles of the soloists, accompanied by Mrs. Wood Eberlein acting as organist, assisted by Miss Margaret Worden, has planned an interesting and worth-while program.

Mrs. J. Fred Goeller was hostess on Wednesday for the Art Needle Work club at her lovely home on South Riverside avenue. The afternoon was spent in sewing and visiting, and dainty refreshments were served at the close of the day by the hostess. It was decided by the club members that all meetings would be discontinued until after the holidays. Mrs. J. H. Carnahan will be the next hostess. Guests present besides the members were: Mesdames Everett Geary, Harry Goeller, Harry Richardson and R. J. Sheets.

A feature of this week's society events was the surprise golden wedding celebration for Mr. and Mrs. John Worden, who were married fifty years ago yesterday in Kirkwood, Illinois. The party was planned for them by Mesdames J.

R. Van Camp, John Totten and A. Wickstrom, who had the principals in the affair spirited away to their daughter's home while the hostesses prepared the house with gay decorations and loaded the tables with a wonderful dinner. When the bride and bridegroom of fifty years standing returned they found many lovely gifts and a large number of their friends awaiting them.

Mr. and Mrs. Worden have five children living, three of whom were in attendance at the celebration Thursday evening. They are Milton Worden, Colorado; William Worden, Midland; Mrs. Mary Roe, Shippington; Dave Worden, Klamath Falls; and Mrs. Clara Kirkpatrick, Shippington. The guests were: Cris Davidson, Mr. and Mrs. Helmer and daughter Ninon, Sam Roe, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Roe and daughter Ella Mae, Mr. and Mrs. Leigh and son Roy, T. W. Perkins and daughter Hilda, David Totten, Hubert Totten, Dave Worden, Mr. and Mrs. B. Barnett, Mr. and Mrs. A. Wistrom and daughter Esther, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Bouden and son, Captain and Mrs. J. E. Van Camp, Mr. and Mrs. John Totten, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Joury, Midland; Audrey Yancy and Clara Kirkpatrick. Music and a social evening were enjoyed and souvenirs presented to each guest attending.

The dance at Lyceum hall, sponsored by the Catholic Young Ladies' society, was well attended by the young dancing element of the community last night, and another success was added to the number already gained by the young ladies this season.

The Library club meeting on Friday afternoon was attended by a large group of ladies who enjoyed the extremely fine program presented by the Music club at the social session. After the program the club held its regular meeting.

Mrs. J. R. Lentz entertained at a dinner party at her home in Mills addition on Wednesday, honoring Mr. Lentz on his birthday and also Mrs. Charles Cox. The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. William Sandham, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Hammell, Mrs. M. A. Hawkins, Miss Enola Hawkins and C. B. Johnson.

On Wednesday evening, December 14th, the will be a musical at Shepherd's Music house, at which Mrs. Don Zumwalt will present Dorothy Elliott, voice, and Beatrice Walton, piano, and Mr. Harry Borel will present Katherine Walton, violin. The program follows:

This recital is open to the public; all who are interested will be welcome. As there has been some misunderstanding about this in the past, Mrs. Zumwalt wishes to state that invitations are not being issued, other than this general one. It is desired to open the program at 8:15 promptly.

Mrs. C. H. Underwood was hostess on Thursday for the Bridge club at her lovely home at 320 North Seventh street.

Miss Margaret Smith, who teaches in the Lower Swan lake school, is here to spend the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Smith.
