STRAND HAS EMINENT ACTOR, KEENAN, TONIGHT

Frank Keenan, the eminent character actor, never appeared to greater advantage than he does in "The Coward," a Hallmark Star special, shown at the Strand theatre tonight. In the part of the strong-willed proud old colonel of the Confederacy he portrays all the sternness of character that made famous his work as the sheriff in "The Girl of the Golden West." Mr. Keenan is splendidly supported by Charles Ray and Gertrude Claire, and the story offers many opportunities for the introduction of spectacular battle scenes. Admission 10 and 20 cents.

Wednesday and Thursday Strand patrons will be treated to two excellent vaudeville acts. Runyan & Trent will appear in a riot of comedy singing, talking and dancing. These performers are considered among the best hard-shoe and soft-shoe dancers in vaudeville.

Archie, the European juggler, who can juggle anything from a flea to an elephant, is certain to win approval. When this artist starts to perform the audience is left breathless, awaiting the crash that never comes.

A Wonderful Story of Human Emotions—A Wonderful Picture

TWO NEW COMEDIES

10c-20c WEDNESDAY NIGHT—Vaudeville and Julian Eltinge.
THURSDAY NIGHT—Country Store and Vaudeville.
SHOW STARTS 6:45—9.00.

Last night we were asked for the thousandth time: "How can you give us the best shows in town for Twenty Cents and keep your house open?" We told the gentleman we would try to answer him in tonight's Herald.

Before the war and prior to the time when everyone started profiteering this class of pictures was shown for 10, 15 and 20 cents. Everyone made money then. When the price of films started skyward, the public recognized the fact that the cost of amusement must go up, too. But of late the public has commenced to ask why this cost has not come down with everything else. And the people have a right to ask it.

The price of films has dropped to about half of what it was during war time conditions. That is why The Strand can show better pictures now for 20 cents than we used to at 35 cents. That is all any average picture is worth, and ours are above the average, as our crowded houses prove.

Look at the program for this week.

Charles Ray and Frank Keenan in "The Coward." Did you ever see these two men in a poor picture? Here they are both in the same picture. Can you imagine anything better? And you see it for 20 cents. Julian Eltinge in "The Adventures." This is recognized as one of the greatest pictures of the year. Roy Stewart in "The Westerners." Roy Stewart never appeared in a poor picture. Then you have for Friday Schubert's big Broadway success, "The Blue Pearl." And then on Sunday the greatest of all—the picturization of Myrtle Reed's famous novel, "Lavender and Old Lace." This novel has been one of the world's greatest sellers, having been read by over 30,000,000 people.

There is no picture house in America that offers a superior program, and very few equals. Certainly it is unequalled anywhere in Oregon.

Another feature for which The Strand theatre is noted is the picture as it is produced on the screen. Did you ever see a picture clearer, more perfect, more detailed and beautiful? There is no flicker, flare, dimness or "overflow," but it appears on the screen so perfectly that individual hairs are discernable.

Yes, 20 cents is plenty to charge. It is all any theater should charge. It will be the ruling price for pictures at The Strand. It will give us enough so that we can still continue to show the best pictures to the patrons of The Strand and charge only 20 cents for them.
