RITCHIE KNOCKS OUT JACK DOWNEY IN SECOND ROUND

San Francisco Fighter Proves no Match for Hard-Hitting Local Favorite

Old age and experience boxed down to youth and pep at McDonald's hall last night when in the second round Earl Ritchie hung a Dempsey on the jaw of Jack Downey which caused the San Francisco scrapper immediately to loose all interest in affairs for the count and several seconds additional. In the preliminaries Sailor Childers took the count in the second round of a fast and furious slugging-match with Sailor Hall. Kid Vincent won from Kid Harrington on a foul in the sixth round, the latter repeating his performance of the former match. Bob Allen and Young Ritchie refused to appear due to disagreement over compensation.

While the outcome of the Ritchie-Downey fight was highly satisfactory to the fans, many expressed disappointment that Downey failed to make a better showing. Downey appeared to be on the defensive almost from the start, and in the first round took several jolts which appeared to jar him. And while he landed a few on Ritchie, often the local boy was not present when the haymakers started. In the infighting they appeared to break about equal. The wallop that brought the end in the first minute of the second was a straight right to the jaw. Downey was carried to his corner where the seconds worked over him for several minutes before he recovered consciousness. His first words were, "Where did he hit me?" Downey weighed in at 150 pounds and Ritchie at 158 pounds.

The Hall-Childers affair had all the earmarks of a grudge fight. While the fighters indicated little knowledge of boxing, both appeared willing to give and take, and both did. Childers went down three times in the first round and apparently was saved by the gong. In the first seconds of the second round his heavier opponent knocked him cold with a right to the jaw.

The Harrington-Vincent match lacked the steam on the former one. Vincent, having learned Harrington's stalling methods, was more cautious. Harrington, on the other hand, did not resort to covering up as formerly but seemed to be awaiting his chance to land a finishing blow. In the sixth, after dropping Vincent, he landed one on the back of Vincent's neck before the latter's hands had left the floor. Referee Bob Ross immediately awarded the bout to Vincent. It was the opinion of many fans present that Harrington will never prove to be a popular fighter until he has changed his methods somewhat. The waiting game did not please the onlookers.

ANOTHER CHAPTER

Another chapter in the controversy arising out of the repudiation of the contract by Belding and West, was written yesterday afternoon when Judge Kuykendall refused to open the doors of his court to the Herald Publishing company or E. J. Murray, when Oneill and Irwin, representing these plaintiffs, asked for relief against the sheriff, his deputies or others who might molest the plaintiffs. The meaning of this act upon the part of Judge Kuykendall is that neither the Herald Publishing company nor E. J. Murray will be granted any relief through any suit action or motion at this time.

The next move occurred today when under the authority of a writ issued sometime ago by Judge Kuykendall and reinforced yesterday by a citation to the sheriff to appear for contempt, that official smashed in the doors of the Herald Building this afternoon and took forcible possession of the property in dispute. The only comment made by Mr. Murray was that in due time the public would be placed in full possession of all the facts in the case and that he would still refuse to, at this time, try the merits of the points at issue in the newspaper.

"We are obeying the law, something the officials of Klamath county have not learned to do, but which we hope they will do before this matter is finally disposed of."

If the downward trend continues it would indicate the approach of another disturbance. The slightly higher temperature also favors a change.
