

OREGON COW MAY WIN HIGH HONORS FOR PRODUCTION

GRESHAM, Jan. 17.—Oregon always has ranked high in the quality of its livestock and has won an envied position among the states for excellence of its dairy cattle. But even Oregon has something to be especially proud of in Stanhope Belle Johanna, No. 282,677, owned by H. G. Mullenhoff, two miles southeast of Pleasant Home.

Stanhope Belle Johanna is no ordinary Holstein. In fact, at the end of the month, if her present average is maintained, she will stand third or fourth among the heavy producers of the world. In both the seven-day and 30-day tests, during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1921, she won second place. This is a remarkable record for a cow that has been given very little extra attention.

Monthly record follows: Lbs. milk But. fat February (30 days) 2144.8 86.27; March (31 days) 3841.4 109.864; April (30 days) 3230.0 94.907; May (31 days) 3185.9 101.630; June (30 days) 2858.2 90.033; July (31 days) 2607.2 79.255; August (31 days) 2331.5 72.048; September (30 days) 2161.6 69.171; October (31 days) 2279.5 69.987; November (30 days) 2218.2 64.992; December (31 days) 2411.3 76.677

MUSIC SUPERVISOR OBTAINED FOR CITY PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Miss Florence Pfremmer, of Baxter Springs, Kansas, has been appointed music supervisor for the public schools of this city and will take charge here March 1. It was announced today by J. P. Wells, city school superintendent.

Miss Pfremmer, who has been music instructor at Baxter Springs, comes here with an excellent reputation. Superintendent Wells said. There has been no music supervisor here since the first of the year, although efforts have been made to obtain a competent instructor, and it is considered fortunate that one of Miss Pfremmer's ability has been obtained.

CAMPBELL GETS $150

Jury Reaches Agreement in Damage Case Quickly

Only a few minutes were required by the jury in the case of William Campbell against Edward Cookham to reach a verdict, awarding $150 to the plaintiff, in the circuit court last night.

Campbell asked $150 for non-delivery of hay purchased from Cookham to feed his cattle during the winter of 1919 at defendant's ranch on the reservation. He claimed that he paid that amount on a $225 contract for the purchase of a stack of hay, and that Cookham later sold the hay to another person.

Cookham set up a counter claim of $225 for pasture alleged to have been eaten by plaintiff's cattle, which he declared was not included in the bargain.

BANK'S POLICY

In Portland he is known as "the grand old man" among the younger generation of bankers, who are adopting his rule of banking—"never loan a man unless you know he is safe; then never distress him, but stay with him until he makes a success."

When asked today what his policy would be here he said:

"Well, I see no reason to change a life-long rule. Klamath county is not so bad as dozens of other counties and a whole lot better than most. I say this from personal experience and investigation here. So far as the First State and Savings bank is concerned, there will be no "crowding". We will not collect a single loan where such collection would distress the borrower. We will extend every loan where reason and justice, as well as good banking, demand such action, so that no man who owes a dollar to this institution need lose any sleep about us. All we ask is that they play the game square with us and then everything will be fine.

"The situation in the county is such that things will loosen up here in the next sixty or ninety days and money will again be easy. Even now we will make loans where they should be made. That is to be the rule governing this bank from now on and on that basis I am hopeful of making it one of the big banks of the state."

A meeting of the directors was held last evening to go over the business of the past year. The state bank examiners yesterday concluded their regular examination of the institution and made their report to the directors and will leave in the morning for Portland. Tonight the adjourned meeting of the directors will be held, when officers for the ensuing year will be elected.

Fred W. Bland, one of the examiners, left this morning.
