

Mrs. P. E. Hannon on Sunday entertained in honor of her daughter, Mrs. M. M. Fisher, who is visiting here from South Bend, Washington. The occasion was also to celebrate Mrs. Fisher's birthday. Cards furnished the entertainment of the evening. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess. Those present besides the family were Mr. and Mrs. Lee Sutton, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Ezell and Francis Ewell.

The Knights of Columbus will give a dance at Lyceum Hall on Friday night, January 27. A large attendance is expected and no doubt this will be one of the successful dances of the season.

Mrs. James Bishop Foster entertained at a most successful party at her home on Earl street on Wednesday evening of this week. A unique feature of this affair was the fact that each lady present was dressed as a chorus girl. Various people were called upon to entertain with a song or dance and the prize for the cleverest entertainer went to Mrs. Glenn Jester. Cards also furnished part of the evening's entertainment and at the close of the evening delicious refreshments were served by the hostess. Those present were Mesdames Byron Hardenbrook, Hardin Carter, Phillip Pope, J. E. Enders, Herman Foster, William Sanders, Roderick Smith, Glenn Jester, L. N. Haines, R. L. Orem, Roy Durbin, the Misses Bee, Kilgore, Ruth Dixon, Madge Dixon, Myrtle Jones, Teddy Durbin, Agnes Driscoll and the hostess.

Honoring her house guest, Mrs. A. C. Johnson of Chiloquin, Mrs. John Martin entertained at an informal dinner at her beautiful home on Seventh street on Sunday evening. Those present besides the guest of honor were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ross, Mr. and Mrs. John Martin and J. P. Brett.

Mrs. Fred Schallcock entertained a few friends at a formal card party on Tuesday evening at her home on Washington street.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Jeffers are being congratulated on the arrival of a daughter born to them at the Warren Hunt Hospital January 20, 1922.

The dance given by the Assembly Club on Monday night at the White Pelican Hotel was declared by all who attended to have been one of the most successful dances of the season. The next dance given by the club will be on February thirteenth and will be a costume ball. The ball room will be beautifully decorated with hearts and other decorations for Valentine's day. Each couple has the privilege of inviting another couple.

In honor of their guest, Miss Francis Wiley, of San Francisco, the Misses Ruby Fenwick and Irene Conway entertained a few friends at an informal card party at their home in the Sunset Apartments on Wednesday evening. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses. Present besides the guest of honor and the hostesses were: Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Bradford, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Newell, Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Burke, Mrs. Golden Lincoln, Mr. Wilson S. Wiley and Mr. Frank Howard.

On Tuesday evening of this week Mrs. R. C. Grossbeck was hostess to the P. E. O. Sisterhood. Mrs. Alfred Collier entertained the club with some very interesting readings. A covered dish luncheon was served by the hostess. The guests were Mesdames Fred Fleet, Sid Evans, J. V. Brewaker, C. P. Mason, K. G. Cummings, L. L. Trux, A. R. Wilson, Crumblitt and A. M. Collier.

The Silver tea given by the women's Auxiliary of the Chamber of Commerce on Tuesday afternoon was a very successful affair. The rooms were very beautifully decorated.

Announcement has been received here by Mrs. John Martin of the marriage of her brother, Doctor Clayton Wheeler to Mrs. Hazel Clark at Rainbow Ridge, Los Gatos, California on Saturday, January 7, 1922. Doctor Wheeler was a former resident of Klamath Falls where he had an extensive practice. Doctor and Mrs. Wheeler will be at home at 537 Powell Street, San Francisco, after February first.

The University dance given last evening at Lyceum Hall was as usual, a most enjoyable affair. These dances given by the club have become very popular with the younger college folk.

"KAZAN"—CURWOOD'S WONDER DOG

AT THE STRAND

James Oliver Curwood's wonderful story of the wonderful dog "Kazan," with Jane Novak in the leading role, is, perhaps, the most thrilling of any of the picturizations of life in the great Northwest. One of the enthralling, gripping scenes in the presentation at the Strand tomorrow, is the race for life of a man and woman with a dog team over the snows of a Canadian woodland and their subsequent battle with a pack of wolves. Kazan, a wolf-dog, heads this pack and when he recognises the woman who has befriended him he turns on his companions and scatters them. In this fight all the pack dogs are killed together with several of the attacking wolves. Jane Novak, star of the production, is the woman and Ben Deesley, in the male lead, is the man.

Neal Hart in "Hell Bent Haskell," is the second number on the program and it is a real live western story, full of pep and action from start to finish; and to close the show, there is a good comedy. The usual ten and twenty cent prices prevail.

The performances of "Princess Bulbul" at the Star theater Thursday and Friday of this week by the music department of the high school, were like glimpses into Fairyland. The stage settings were appropriate, the costumes rich and beautifully blended in color, the music tuneful, and the participants finely dressed. It is doubtful if a better-trained chorus has ever been heard here. The choruses were all four-part work, and the harmony not easy, but they were given with dash and precision. "Ding, Dong, Bell," the wedding-bell finale of Act I was especially fine.

The principals were evidently selected with a view to their respective talents. Delos Mills as the fussy monarch, Jamit, and Josephine Meissner as his devoted court-chaperone, were favorite, and their splendid comedy as well as their singing, brought responsive laughter and applause. Clifford Hogue, the Prince, is thoroughly at home on the stage. He possesses a remarkable tenor voice, and sings with such ease and evident joy that he won his audience completely. Princess Bulbul was enacted daintily Esther Calkins, who sang charmingly and played a difficult role most acceptably. The duets between Bulbul and the Prince were the loveliest music in the operetta, and evoked much applause. Margaret Schubert made a splendid Lilla, and her spoken lines were very clear and expressive. Kenneth Maier was so handsome in his gorgeous yellow costume that he had us all sighing for our lost youth! His acting was especially good, and in spite of a bad cold, he made a hit with his Soldier Song. The Maids of Honor, Martha Upp, Violet Gale, Joan McDonald, and Bertha Peltz, deserve special mention. They had to be on the stage much of the time, and their singing and acting was excellent, while they lent to the beauty of the picture. The orchestra added much to the evening's enjoyment.

Miss Applegate, the musical director of the high school, deserves much credit for her painstaking work. Such a successful production could only be the result of an immense amount of thought and labor, and she has proved herself most thorough and capable in taking upon her shoulders the entire production and direction of an affair of this sort. She is to be congratulated.
