You have already tried the "one finger on the pedal" test, and found that it is possible to play the Gulbransen this way in a much superior manner to other Players, and we now ask you to try the "play a roll with one foot" test.

Did you notice the ease of treading, the evenness of the time and how the finger touch in the piano is instinctively controlled by your "full tread" or "loafing tread"?

It is a strong statement to make, but we believe that the Gulbransen Player is hundreds of dollars better value than the average, and in a class by itself for reliability.

We ask you to play this instrument ten minutes in our store.
