MALIN BUSINESS GOOD

Cheese Factory Ships 600 Pounds of Product a Day

Six hundred pounds of cheese a day now is being shipped from the Malin factory. Five thousand pounds of milk a day are being used against 1200 pounds when the factory started about three months ago and farmers are receiving $12 a month cow as compared with $7 and $8 previously.

This is according to Antone Petrasek, miller, and a leading citises of the newly-incorporated town.

Petrasek says Malin now is out to obtain an extension of the Lincoln highway from Winnemucca, Nevada. to Alturas, then north to the state line. He says only 55 miles of road would have to be completed to form the link and that the value to Klamath county would be immeasurable. The California state highway commission at one time agreed to meet Oregon at the state line, he said, but that the promise never was kept. While Malin voted a majority against the road bonds, Petrasek said many of the residents worked hard for acceptance of the issue.

COURT RULES ON NEWSPA-PER LITIGATION DEMURRERS

The demurrer in the case of E. J. Murray and the Herald Publishing company against the Record Publishing company, asking for a reformation of contract and specific performance thereof, was overruled in the circuit court yesterday, and defendants given three days to answer. This is one of several cases based upon the local newspaper litigation, in which plaintiff claims that the contract as it stands does not state specifically the actual understanding of the bargain.

A demurrer in the suit of the Record company against E. J. Murray and the Herald company, in the action for $13,000 damages for impaired credit, was sustained by the court today, and plaintiffs given ten days to amend their complaint.
