NO TIME FOR LIFE

THERE is no time for anger. There is no time for hate; No time for war. With its tale of graves and tears, Reverting men to brutes Of prehistoric years; In their wake whole nations starving, Crying in despair their need, Tortured, helpless, hopeless victims Of inhuman, ruthless greed, Until the world shall cease its tumult and abandon strife, There seeming is no time for life, If to mankind I offer service, Allowing others when I can, My world will be kept busy Waiting me a four-square man. Orlando King, M. D.

EASTER

EASTER, anniversary of the Resurrection and real birthday of Christian civilization, again is celebrated—as it has been for nearly 1500 years.

Primarily it is a religious festival, Christianity's rallying day, on which the wise wandering sheep return to the fold to hear inspiring sermons that give many a new lease on life. The spirit of Easter is the spirit of the Resurrection—of spring—the awakening of life, hope and happiness after the long death of winter. In this sense, the Easter season is observed even in heathen countries. The budding lily and the Easter egg are symbolic of the eternal re-birth of life.

Let us strive, this Easter, to resurrect the best that is in us and face the future with re-born hope, tolerance and Christian kindness to our fellows, striving to extend the glad spirit of Easter until it permeates all days of the year.

GAIN FOR VIRTUE

THE Easter season is a fitting time for spiritual inventory; for consideration of loss or gain in religious standing.

It is cheering at this Easter season to note the balance sheet shows a decided credit for the effort of the twelve months of 1921—an increase in church membership of 761,727.

When all is said by the cynics and the prophets of evil, the fact remains that right is constantly gaining ascendancy over wrong, and truth over falsehood.

The devil is blatant and his works are performed to the tune of loud noise. Virtue makes progress quietly. Because evil is exceptional, the wickedness of the world gets more display than the good works that are daily being performed by myriads of good citizens.

We are glad to note the activity of the year in organization of the forces of good. It is pleasant thought for Easter contemplation.

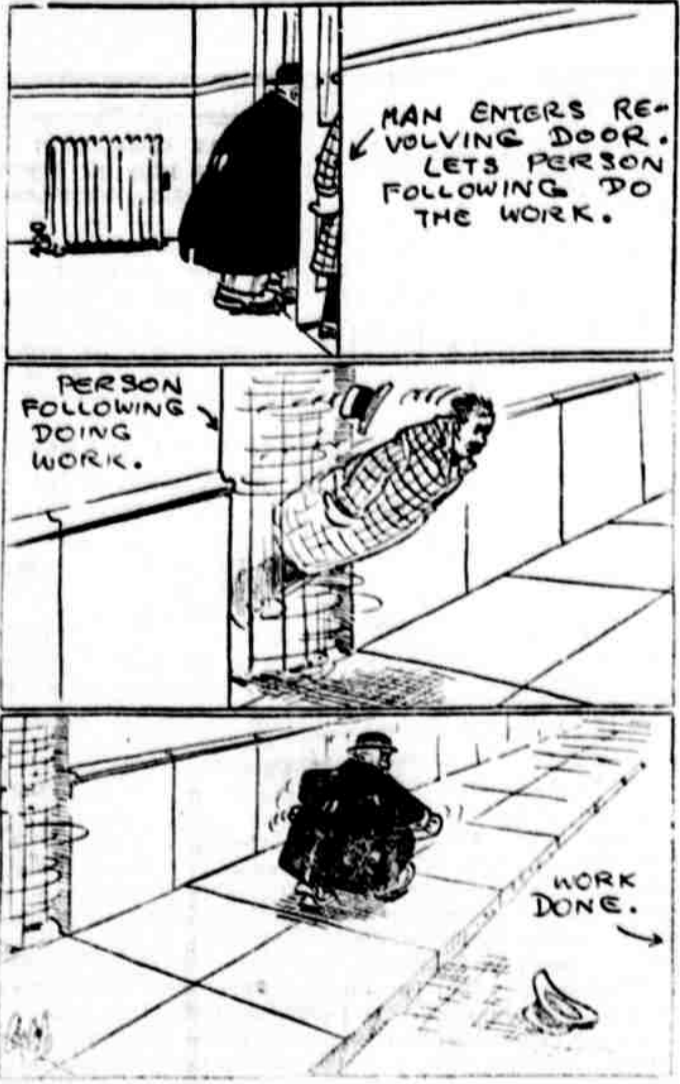

Mrs. Horace Bridgeford entertained the Leisure Hour club Tuesday afternoon at her home at Pelican City. There were five tables of bridge. At the close of the afternoon delicious refreshments were served. The decorations were in keeping with the spirit of the Easter season. Mrs. Henrietta Melhase won the prize for high score.

The Missionary Society of the Methodist church next Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Carrie Malers. There were eighteen members present. The leader for the afternoon was Mrs. W. J. Steinmetz and the subjects considered were "Latin-America" and "Africa". After the program a social hour was enjoyed and tea was served by the hostess.

Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Brockenbrough entertained with an informal dinner, followed by an

Mrs. Estelle Carrier, head of the history department of the Santa Rosa high school is spending the Easter holidays with friends here. Mrs. Carrier, formerly a teacher in the Klamath county high school has been extensively entertained during her stay. Sunday night Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Haas entertained with an informal dinner at their apartment in the Hall annex. It was a very delightful affair and was enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Brockenbrough, Miss Marie McMillan, Herbert Barry, Mrs. Lottie Martin and Mrs. Carrier.

Wednesday afternoon Miss Marie McMillan entertained at bridge for Mrs. Carrier.

Several of the Klamath county high school teachers entertained Mrs. Carrier at a dinner at the Club cafe, Tuesday evening and afterwards the evening was spent at the White Pelican renewing former friendships. Those honoring Mrs. Carrier were Miss Mary Craig, Miss Betty Reeves, Miss Avis Daugherty, and Miss Grace Farrand.

Mrs. William Sanders (nee Elizabeth Grigsby) entertained this afternoon with a reception honoring Mrs. Carrier, at her home 721 N. Ninth street. She invited her former classmates and friends of Mrs. Carrier. The decorations were of Easter flowers and an Easter egg hunt was one of the games of the afternoon. A delicious supper is planned for Mesdames Herman Foster, James Foster, Hardin Carter, Glen Jester, Roderick Smith, Sam Holden, James Lytle, Lee Parker, Hans Wagner, Everett McCollum, Horace, Manning and Estelle Carrier; Misses Myrtle Jones, Florence Bradley, Vera Thompson, Fern Hanks, Grace Hoagland, Marie Obenchain, Ruth Lindsey Mary Jenkins, Dorothy Curran, Albertina Nitschelm, Esther Calkins, and Margaret Johnston.

SCIENCE IN BAKING

SCIENCE tells us the proper baking temperature is 400 degrees to 500 degrees for bread.

SHOULD the baking not take place at the right time, an account of waiting thirty minutes for your oven, the gas is allowed to escape.

YOU do not have to wait for your oven to heat—it is always ready; just turn the switch, in two minutes you're ready to bake.
