

IN THE COURT

Pittman vs. Lawton et al
Demurrer was filed this morning in the case of Bertha E. Pittman against D. F. and Gertrude P. Lawton and the Western Bond and Mortgage company, contending the complaint did not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action.

Humphrey vs. Sprague H. Lbr. Co.
An order granting leave to file a supplemental complaint was signed by Circuit Judge Stone yesterday in the case of Ivan Lee Humphrey, a minor, against the Sprague River Lumber company.

Six Cases Dismissed
Orders were signed by Circuit Judge Stone yesterday dismissing the following cases:
Mac against Jess Millet.
William H. against Marie Lashua.
William against Violet Mumay.
Acme Motor Company against C. A. Elliott.
Jesse L. Skipworth against Langel Lumber company.
Mary against McKinley Jackson.

Demurrer Overruled
Demurrer of the defendants Marsters and Fort Klamath Meadows company was overruled by Judge Stone yesterday, and the defendants given 20 days in which to file an answer, in the case of the State of Oregon against Alva C. Marsters and Ida F. Marsters and Fort Klamath Meadows company, in which the state seeks to recover certain marsh lands in this county. It is expected that the case will come to trial the latter part of next month.

Motion Overruled
Judge Stone denied the motion of Fred Duke in his case against C. C. Brower and J. F. Morley, asking for a new trial. The motion contended that the court was in error in not allowing Duke's attorney to cross-examine the witness Brower, and that a fair trial had not been given the plaintiff.

Ross vs. Cowden et al
Affidavit of publication of summons was filed yesterday in the case of N. I. Ross against N. J. Cowden and A. T. Yamaguchi, which involves an action for collection of a balance of $298.08 on a note covering the purchase of a

THREE LITTLE BROWN BEARS KEEP TRAINER BUSY BUYING NEW GLOVES

Whenever he gives these little brown bears their porridge, Eddie Tross hears some woman bystander remark, "aren't they cute?" Eddie, who is one of the corps of trainers, looking after the 1,200 wild animal actors with the Al G. Barnes circus, coming to Klamath Falls on May 1, if hold of Do, Re and Mi—these are their names, y'know—and he agrees that they are cute, but all that doesn't detract from the annoyance he feels when Mi each time insists on taking a bite out of digging machine. Costs and $100 attorney's fees are also asked for. Ross is represented by Bert C. Thomas.

Soule vs. Chaney
An order exempting the wages of C. G. Chaney was signed by Judge Stone, in the case of A. A. Soule against Chaney, pursuant to which an attachment had been made.

his glove. Yet nothing seems to break Mi of the habit, so Eddie patiently buys and begs new relays of gloves. The three little bears have prominent parts in "Alice in Jungland," the big fairyland fantasy, which opens the performances. They, with dozens of Polar, Russian, grizzly, cinnamon and black bears, perform in the three steel girded arenas and on the two stages of the big show. All of the bears will be seen in the two-mile street parade, which inaugurates the circus day doings.

RUSSO-GERMAN PACT (Continued from Page 1)

able to dominate Russian commerce, she may reap a rich reward from her present move.

Nevey, Good Comrades

Dr. Klein, on the other hand, is convinced that Germany and Russia never will be harmonious bedfellows.

"The German is loud in his protestations that he, better than anyone else, knows Russia," Klein says. "It isn't so. The average Russian has much nearer the point of view of America than of Germany. He likes Americans better than Germans.

"And, on the other hand, America understands better the needs of Russia and can more clearly meet her demands. We never will let Germany act as a feeder of American products into Russia. When American products go into Russia they are going to be sold by American salesmen and stand on their own feet as American-made products."
