Organized Baseball to Pay Veterans Tribute

CHICAGO, Ill., May 3.—Organized baseball again will pay tribute to heroes of the world war on second annual National hospital day, May 12, according to word received today by Matthew O. Foley, executive secretary of the National hospital day committee, from Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis, President Ben Johnson of the American league and President J. A. Heydler of the National league.

Baseball's part in National hospital day is in the role at league games on May 12 in parks near hospitals where service men are receiving treatment. Last year thousands of veterans were conveyed to the park where in addition to the games a special program of music and flag raising had been arranged. This year, under Commissioner Landis' direction, the minor leagues also will participate.

"The idea of National hospital day," said Foley, "is to educate the people concerning the important service rendered them by the 8,000 hospitals of the United States and Canada, and baseball is doing an important service in connection with the day by bringing to the attention of the public so forcibly the fact that although the war has been over for nearly four years, there still are thousands of men under hospital care."

This fact, even when combined with the hazards imposed by the proximity of large bodies of water and of the Canadian wilderness, apparently failed to discourage balloonists. Judging from the number of entries, F. A. Vaughn, president of the Aero club of Wisconsin, said twelve to fourteen were expected to take part in the race. The size of the starting field is said to prohibit entrance by an appreciably larger number. The prizes will amount to $3,000.

In addition to the prizes, $100 will be paid toward the expenses of each contestant who actually starts. The Aero club of America has apportioned the awards as follows: first, $1,000; second, $500; third, $600; fourth, $300; fifth, $200; sixth, $100.

The three leading teams at the finish will be chosen to represent America in the International Gordon Bennett race which will start from Zurich, Switzerland, August 6.

Twenty-four committees have been appointed to take care of every phase of the race. The chairman of the committees comprise an executive committee.

Demurrer was filed this morning to the complaint in the case of O. R. Beyrie against Oskar Huber, A. C. Dunn and James Baker, the contention being that the complaint does not constitute a cause of action, and that there is a misjoinder of parties defendant.

The case involves, approximately $3,000 for road and bridge work.

CHICAGO, May 4.—Men work, get no sleep and even go to school when they teach the spirit world.

Such was the announcement by Mrs. Maggie Waite, a spiritualist of 23 years' experience, who addressed the State Spiritualists' association here.

"The disembodied spirit is kept busy at a number of things," she said. "Occupation is found for every soul and there is not much time for playing on golden harps."

Matrimonial tangles are severed in a way that is more satisfactory than they are some times here, she said.

The man who has had three or four wives here is joined to the one who is his spiritual mate there.

"Husbands and wives are joined there if they are spiritual mates," she said.

"What about a man who has two or three wives on earth?" she was asked.

"I knew you would ask that," she replied. "Well, the wife who was his spiritual mate on earth becomes his spiritual bride. The others exist in a sort of sisterly affection."

If you have never met your own true sweetheart on earth, no matter how many you have married, you will meet her there.

Food and raiment do not bother the spirits. They generally appear in the new land in a replica of the clothes they last wore on earth. As for food, the mere aroma of earthly food is sufficient to satisfy them.

Mrs. Waite said Conan Doyle was correct when he said the soul or ethereal body is attached to the body by a silver cord.

"I have seen the silver cord myself," she said. "It is about the size of No. 6 cotton thread. When the soul departs from the body the silver cord is severed, but it is possible for the soul to roam at will connected with the mortal shell by this thin strand."

"Once the spirit of a living man came to me from New Zealand. I could see the thread around it, rather tangled. I was conducting a meeting at the time."

"Do not be alarmed," said the spirit. "I am living and must hasten back to New Zealand. I came here because my long lost brother is in the audience. There he is, sitting over there. Tell him to write to me. I was dying by my fire when I came here." Then the spirit disappeared.

Spirits like to joke, she said.

"That explains some of the amazing statements made by the ouija board, for they take delight in playing pranks on their earthly friends," she said.

The spirit of William C. Ralston, who built the Palace hotel in San Francisco, is her guide, she said.

"He came to me years ago and announced himself as my control," she said. "I was supposed to have committed suicide by drowning at North Beach," he told me, "but the truth is I was seized by cramps while swimming." He has been with me ever since."

Sparretorn vs. Garrett Default judgment was entered in the circuit court this morning against W. T. Garrett in the aggregate sum of $1,164.95, with costs and attorney fees for $150. The action was brought by J. L. Sparretorn against Garrett on four promissory notes.

Beyle vs. Huber Demurrer was filed this morning to the complaint in the case of O. R. Beyrie against Oskar Huber, A. C. Dunn and James Baker, the contention being that the complaint does not constitute a cause of action, and that there is a misjoinder of parties defendant.

The case involves, approximately $3,000 for road and bridge work.
