"OTHER WOMEN'S CLOTHES" AT THE STRAND

"Other Women's Clothes," the latest Hugo Ballin-Hodkinson production, featuring Mabel Bellin which will be shown at the Strand theatre Sunday is a compelling bit of screen entertainment, and serves to enthrone Mabel Bellin more securely than ever in the favor of the theatre-going public.

"Other Women's Clothes" is a story of society life in New York City, with many scenes laid in Paris, Rome and London against a background of fashionable restaurants, modiste shops, theatres, etc. But the reverse of the picture has been shown with startling realism, and the homes of the well-to-do have their counterpart in the rooms of New York's working girls; charmingly gowned society women are offset by the little models and workers who fashion these dazzling creations. Yet each of these contrasting pictures is a link in the dramatic chain of the whole drama, and the picture, from first to last, has been done in such a lavish way as to charm both the eye and the mind as well.

Mabel Bellin is cast in the role of Jacqueline Lee, the little model who steals a purse in order to purchase medical care for her chum. Raymond Bloomer plays the part of Barker

Garrison, the young millionaire who decides to give Jacqueline all the money she can possibly use and see if the possession of it will bring her happiness. Jacqueline is not allowed to know the source of her sudden wealth—but it is inevitable that she should eventually learn of Garrison's experiment—whereupon she decides to return to her former state of living.

"Other Women's Clothes" will make its sure appeal to everyone.

MAKE OREGON SAFE FOR REPUBLICAN PARTY

RE-ELECT RALPH E. WILLIAMS Republican National Committeeman The Only Westerner, Ever Elected Vice-Chairman of the Republican National Committee

Keep the West in Power

The Republican National Committee consists of one member from each state in the Union, and is the political organization of the party. In June, 1921, at the committee's first meeting after the inauguration of President Warren G. Harding, every state cast its vote for Ralph E. Williams of Oregon for vice-chairman of the committee, recognizing by their unanimous vote his fitness and ability as a leader to fill this responsible position.

A vote for Ralph E. Williams for Republican National Committeeman will confirm the action of the forty-eight states in electing him vice-chairman of the Republican National Committee, a position never before held by a Western man. Ralph E. Williams of Oregon, as vice-chairman of the Republican National Committee, is directly in line to become National chairman, the highest position attainable in the Republican organization. A National Committeeman on the National Committee does not make or execute the laws, but carries out the policies and platform of the party adopted by the delegates at each previous National Convention. Mr. Williams is senior member of the National Committee. Seniority in this committee gives one the same power as seniority in the U. S. Senate.
