

IN THE COURT

Demurrer Overruled

Demurrer filed by the defendant F. H. Pusey, of Oregon City to the complaint in the $25,000 damage action of J. S. Lageson, against Harry Furch and F. H. Pusey, filed as a sequence to the recent Lageson divorce case, was overruled this morning by Judge Stone and the defendants given ten days in which to answer. The demurrer contended that Pusey had been irregularly served while here as a witness in his daughters divorce case, that there was a misjoinder of parties, and that several causes of action were improperly joined in the suit.

Smith vs. Montague Banking Co.

Kite, all of Montague, California, from the judgment of the circuit court here for $2904.15 and $22.80 as costs in favor of the company. CHAS. HALL SCORED

Patterson Hold, Rival Would Be in Compromising Position

ALBANY, May 13.—Holding that his rival, Hall, if nominated and elected governor, will be placed in a compromising situation when called on to appoint members of the public service commission in event the proposed constitutional amendment providing for such appointment shall carry in November, Senator L. Patterson, candidate for republican nomination for governor, addressed a good sized meeting last night.

Patterson held that Oregon is facing a tax crisis, that the governor of the state by reason of his power to veto individual items in appropriation bills is directly responsible for the cost of government, and pledged himself if elected to reduce taxes by eliminating useless state commissions and insisting that those that remain be efficiently conducted.

From the above dispatch it is apparent that Hall did not accept Patterson's challenge to meet in debate in Albany last night.

eration for the suspension of the Daily Record, by reason of which they contended Murray received some $5,000 additional revenue.

Murray further contended that he had a claim against the Record for approximately $1,800 for printing the Sunday Record for eight issues. The Record endeavored to show by testimony of various employees that the charge was excessive.

At 4:30 yesterday afternoon Judge Stone announced that he had made up his mind on the matter and that defendants might have until 5 o'clock to put in such additional testimony as they might wish. About 15 minutes more time was taken up in taking testimony on minor points, and both parties announced that they were through.

Judge Stone in his decree stated that he did not believe that Murray had intended to make the Record a present of the $800 advanced, and that he would allow $1,200 for Murray's account for work performed for the Record, leaving $1,000 for Murray to pay the Record and take over the common stock, or an alternate judgment of $2,000 against the defendants. The court stated specifically that West and Belding would be personally liable if the company failed to satisfy the judgment.

"THE MAN WORTH WHILE"

STRAND BILL FOR SUNDAY

Would you fight to a finish if someone took from you the one human being that you love most, despoiling her of all that life holds dear, and leaving her alone, deep in the great timber lands of the northwest? See the finish fight that "The Man Worth While" puts up.

If you had one of those good, honest, God-fearing old mothers, and she had been both father and mother to you, down through the years, to manhood, teaching, as only such a mother can, the vast good in the world. Then you were falsely accused and sentenced to seven years imprisonment and it killed your mother in the courtroom, where the man who had caused your sweetheart's disgrace and your mother's death leered at you—what would you do? See what "The Man Worth While" did under such provocation.

He was sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary, although innocent of the crime as charged. His employer "framed" him. When his time was up, did he go find the man? If so, what did he do?—what would you do? What would be the right thing to do if your former employer had also dragged your fiancée into the most humiliating position a woman is heir to? "The Man Worth While" will give you a tip on how a really big man can succeed in a human way, in spite of an overwhelming handicap. The tip will do us all good—go see it at the Strand Sunday.
