Johnson vs. Parks, et al.

A separate cause of action for G. W. Tansley of $65 for labor was also included in the case.

Jackson vs. Fink

LAND GRABBING CLAIM REPUTED BY N. J. SINNOTT

 consideration existing grazing use now being made by citizens of the United States.
 Secretary Fall requested the introduction of a bill, which the secretary termed a tentative measure, because, as he wrote, a great many bills have been introduced to add such non-timbered public lands to national forests under jurisdiction of the secretary of agriculture in order to secure regulated grazing. Secretary Fall wrote to Sinnott that the laws authorizing the creation and maintenance of national forests do not contemplate the inclusion in national forests of lands valuable only for grazing, but he thought some general policy for handling and use of non-timbered public lands not suitable for reclamation farming or homesteading was advisable along the lines of the present regulated grazing within the national forests.

Favored Amendments
 Sinnott said that he introduced the bill, as requested, but suggested to Secretary Fall that if enacted into law at all the bill should be amended in many particulars. Among others, that it should give farmers, stockmen and homesteaders a preference right to the public lands surrounding their holdings; that provision should be made for homesteading on lands originally declared to be grazing lands but afterward found fit for homesteading; that no charge should be made for grazing by farmers and homesteaders for their farm animals and a limited amount of stock.
 Sinnott said when he introduced the bill he gave it to the Portland press, together with Secretary Fall's letter, so that its provisions might be made known; that it was given wide publicity in the press throughout Oregon; that he invited criticism, suggestions and amendments and wrote a number of letters to constituents giving them Secretary Fall's views and saying he would not ask for consideration or hearings on the bill until he could get home and consult with stockmen, farmers and others interested in grazing on the public lands.

Association Approves
 He says the bill has been approved by the Cattle and Horse Raisers' association of Oregon by resolution adopted January 7, 1922; but, notwithstanding this endorsement, that he did not desire to take any action or have hearings on the bill until he could visit his district and confer with farmers, stockmen, sheepmen and others who might be affected by the terms of the bill.
 Sinnott recalls that three or four weeks ago Congressman Smith of Idaho asked him about the status of the bill and he gave him his view as above stated; that Smith told him Saturday that about a month ago he got a letter from Miles Cannon, the Idaho critic of the bill, asking for a copy of the bill, which he forwarded to Cannon, but Smith has been unable to find the letter. Sinnott says that although Smith would succeed him as chairman of the public lands committee, he exonerates Smith from any complicity in investigating the sensational story from Idaho reprinted in the Pendleton East Oregonian, Gwin's organ.

VOTE FOR WHITE FOR GOVERNOR

Vote for George A. White, republican candidate for governor of Oregon.

Mr. White is 41 years old, was born in Dixon, Illinois, and has lived in Oregon for more than 25 years. He is married, has two children and is a member of the Methodist Episcopal church.

It is a well known fact that all of the other candidates for nomination on the republican ticket are directly, personally responsible for the state's present deplorable financial condition.

Mr. Olcott is responsible because he was governor during this most extravagant administration in the history of the state. Mr. Hall is also responsible because he was an important member of the senate during this same period. Mr. Patterson was chairman of the ways and means committee of the Oregon senate, and Louis Bean was speaker of the Oregon house of representatives.

These men are all directly responsible for our present ill-fated state government.

George A. White was allotted the sum of $140,000 to administer the adjutant general's department. At the end of the year he turned back to the state $90,000 of that sum. Compare his record for economy with that of Olcott, Hall, Patterson and Bean, and we feel certain that those who desire real economy must necessarily turn to Mr. White for relief.

Mr. White is unalterably opposed to Japanese immigration settlement or land ownership. It is a well known fact that Senator Hall, through the connivance of U. S. Senator McNary, defeated the anti-Japanese bill at the last regular session of the Oregon legislature, saying that if such legislation were passed it would interfere with the diplomatic intercourse between the United States and foreign powers.

On the same day that the Oregon senate so cowardly laid down on the anti-Japanese bill, the state of Texas passed one even more stringent than the Oregon bill, and it did not interfere with the diplomatic intercourse of the United States.

During his early years he worked at the printer's trade, and in the printer's union. He has a deep seated sympathy for the aspirations of those who labor.

Mr. White, and all of his ardent supporters, are opposed to making religion an issue in this campaign, and they deeply deplore the fact that both Mr. Olcott and Mr. Hall are seeking election at the hands of religious factions. Everybody who has ever studied history knows that this can be productive of nothing but bloodshed, strife and animosity. If Mr. Olcott is elected, one religious faction will necessarily predominate to the utter discomfort of any other faction, whereas, should Mr. Hall be elected the other religious faction will prevail. Mr. White believes in keeping religion out of politics, pursuant to the teachings of those who founded our country.

This candidate favors the impartial and complete enforcement of all of the laws on our statute books. If called upon to assist in the enforcement of the laws of Klamath county or other parts of the state, he will not greet the applicant with a sneer and tell him to resign.

Mr. White's record on the patriotic side is not only beyond question, but it is simply glorious. He served in the Spanish-American war, on the Mexican border, and so determined was he to serve his country overseas in the late war, that he gave up a brigadier general's commission, with its pay and emoluments, to accept a mere major's commission, in order that he might go to France and fight for America. A man of these sterling qualities can be depended upon not only to lift the enormous taxes and debt burden under which the citizens of Oregon are groaning, but he can be depended upon also to enforce the just laws of this state fully, without fear or favor.

We submit to the voters of Klamath county that the only candidate who is required in office at this time to reform our present deplorable and muddled condition in state affairs, is George A. White.

We respectfully ask your suffrage for this great, just and good man.
