WATSON SOUNDS KEYNOTE OF G. O. P. CAMPAIGN

are willing to lend aid or give counsel and maintain always sympathetic attitude, yet we will refuse to be dragged into their financial difficulties, and we always will decline to meddle with their national affairs or to become involved in their aged rivalries. We do not intend to get into this confused jumble of European animosities. This attitude of the administration meets with the hearty approval of everybody except internationalists of a most extreme type."

In domestic affairs, Senator Watson said the Harding administration stood for "full freedom in business and a recognition of the larger right of the individual to control and operate his own business affairs."

"The 'new freedom' preached by Woodrow Wilson was a grotesque travesty on the very name," he added, "while the enfranchisement of business under Harding is an accomplished fact."

The pending tariff bill, which he helped draft, was a prominent subject of Senator Watson's address. It would do much, he said, to restore business and prosperity. Protection, he added, had been a proved policy. "This tariff," he added, "is not being made to please free traders. We do not formulate it to suit importers."

The Fordney emergency tariff law, the senator asserted, had "saved the wool and sheep industry and been of immense value to the dairy interests and of great benefit to the farmer."

Soldier bonus legislation is assured "before the close of the present session," according to Senator Watson, who declared it would "involve no additional taxation, and finally will be paid by the use of bonds of our debtor nations."

Reduction in railroad rates and wages must come, Senator Watson said, together with financial maintenance of the carriers, but he declared that railroad wages should not and would not return to pre-war levels.

Discussing the shipping situation, Senator Watson said there was gross waste by the past administration. He commended the reorganization work of Chairman Lasker of the shipping board, denounced the five per cent private operation contracts, and advocated the administration ship subsidy proposal.

PUBLIC NOTICE
The attention of property owners whose property is liable for improvement assessments under assessment rolls recently filed and now being published is called to the necessity of getting their applications signed and filed with the Police Judge promptly if the ten year method of payment of such assessments is to be taken advantage of. Applications for each piece of property liable have been prepared and it is only a matter of calling at the office of the Police Judge and signing up. Prompt attention to this matter will greatly facilitate getting the proposed street improvements underway.
A. L. LEAVITT, Police Judge.
