

INDIAN SHOTS DIVORCED WIFE, KILLS HIMSELF

Mr. and Mrs. John Jackson Principals in Tragedy on Reservation

A record of domestic infelicity culminating in a double tragedy was brought to light yesterday when investigation of the death in a cabin near Yainax of John Jackson and his divorced wife, Emma Miller Jackson, instituted by Deputy Coroner J. A. Towey, Walter G. West and Dr. W. W. Abbott, revealed that Jackson had shot and killed Mrs. Jackson and then had taken his own life.

The tragedy was discovered through Cynthia, the 8-year-old daughter of the divorced couple. About 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon she saw them sitting on the side of the bed quarrelling, she told the authorities. She went out to pick flowers, and when she returned about 5:30 the two were lying on the bed and failed to answer when she spoke to them.

Cynthia then went to the home of her aunt, Winnie Latches, where she remained all night, returning to her home in the morning. Again her parents failed to answer when spoken to. She then went to school, and at the 10:20 recess told her teacher, Mrs. Horton, that she believed her mother to be ill. When Mrs. Horton appeared to be skeptical she supplemented this by saying that she believed her mother to be dead, as she had felt cold to the touch.

Mrs. Horton at once notified the field matron, Mrs. Wallace, who in turn notified the Indian police and the county coroner. Deputy Coroner J. A. Towey was dispatched to the scene, arriving late yesterday afternoon.

Investigation revealed that Jackson had first shot his former wife through the jaw, then through the back of the head, the bullet lodging against the right eye. A bloody handkerchief clutched in Mrs. Jackson's hand testified to her attempt to stem the flow of blood from the first wound. Jackson then shot himself through the side of the head, apparently dying instantly. His body was sprawled across that of Mrs. Jackson. An overturned chair near the bed was the only sign of disorder, indicating that little or no struggle ensued. Jackson was fully clothed and Mrs. Jackson partly so.

Reservation authorities said that Mr. and Mrs. Jackson had been divorced, but that recently they had been brought before Justice Snook at Chiloquin, charged with unlawful cohabitation. They promised to remarry, but had failed to fulfill the promise, it was said.

Jackson was born in Siskiyou county, but had lived on the reservation for some years. It was learned Mrs. Jackson was born on the reservation. They will be buried in the Yainax cemetery today.

NOTED ALASKAN DEAD

Passing of George W. Carmack Re- calls His Discovery of Klondike

SEATTLE, June 8.—Arrangements were being completed here for the funeral of George W. Carmack, whose discovery of "pay dirt" on Bonanza creek August 17, 1896, sent 60,000 prospectors scurrying into the Klondike gold fields and opened a vast territory visited up to that time only by trappers, traders, and missionaries. Carmack died in Vancouver, B. C., after a brief illness.

Known in the "outside" as the man who stumbled upon the north's richest gold field, Carmack will be remembered in Alaska and the Yukon country as "the man of his word." The old timers recall that his two Indian associates on the trip which resulted in the Bonanza find, were rewarded with claims next to the discovery. They later threw their millions into the faro banks of Dawson.

BROUGHT TOGETHER BY TROUBLE, MAY BE PARTED BY TROUBLE

Marilyn Miller and Jack Pickford Principals in Love-Tragedy; Career or Husband, Problem

By HORTENSE SAUNDERS

BOSTON, June 10.—Trouble brought Marilyn Miller and Jack Pickford together; more trouble may keep them apart—and thus prevent new love mending the hearts two tragedies have broken.

Miss Miller is the star of Flo Ziegfeld's "Sally" and the highest salaried musical comedy actress in America. Pickford is the brother of the famous Mary and has directed and starred in films.

It was trouble that brought about the announcement of the engagement.

Miss Miller had given some autographed photographs to Benjamin Kabatznik a Boston art dealer. Kabatznik had these in a furnished residence in Boston which he was accustomed to rent to visiting theatrical celebrities.

When "Sally" came to town Geneva Mitchell of the company took the house. She is the "Pogo Girl" who recently eloped with a millionaire student at Yale and parted company with him a few days later.

Parties Become Rough

Kabatznik reserved the right to entertain in the living quarters of the house. Came a party—or two parties! But the two parties got mixed up—in a sort of free-for-all! In Boston they call it the "pajama party," because Miss Mitchell appeared in a costume that looked like that. However, she says it wasn't pajamas at all, but a fancy affair that she had worn to a masquerade or something.

The party came to the attention of the public officials, through complaints of some of the girls that they had been beaten up. Miss Miller's name got dragged into it, on account of the autographed photographs. Someone asked her pointblank if she were going to marry Kabatznik, and she said "No"—and a mouthful more about him which was not complimentary.

Announces Engagement

Then, just to clinch the argument, she announced she was already engaged to Jack Pickford, saying "trouble brought us together." The death of her own husband, Frank Carter, in an auto accident, and the death of Jack Pickford's wife, Olive Thomas, who swallowed poison in Paris.

Trouble didn't cease there, how- ever.

For Flo Ziegfeld, who has a habit of wanting his stars to confine their love-making to the stage, and who has a contract with Miss Miller which specifies that she must remain a widow for a long time yet, burst

PROPERTY OWNERS NEGLECT TO APPLY FOR IMPROVEMENTS

Many Face Necessity of Paying Full Cost of Paving When Work Is Completed

Many property owners in districts where paving has been ordered by the city council do not realize the necessity of making application for the improvement under the 10-year payment plan, as provided by law, said Mayor W. S. Wiley today.

Notices giving the property owners 20 days to make such application were published by the council last month. The 20-day period ends next Monday. Unless the owner appears and makes application for the 10-year payment before Monday, this privilege is forfeited and the paving cost becomes payable in full as soon as the improvement is completed.

The notices, published daily in the Herald from May 24 to May 29, listed the owners and the property to be benefited, and requested them to make application if they desired the 10-year payment period. Many responded, but others have failed to do so, leaving the assumption that they are desirous of paying for their share of paving in a lump on its completion.

This is probably an erroneous assumption, as most persons would prefer to pay in ten annual installments, but it is an assumption by which the law will bind them.

NEW BOARD PREPARES

Nominations for County School Di- rectors Being Received

Nominations for county school directors, to be elected at the regular school election, June 19, close Monday night, according to R. E. Bradbury, chairman of the temporary board who has charge of preparing and distributing the ballots.

The nominations should close regularly tomorrow night, 10 days before the election, he said, but because Klamath county has just adopted the county unit plan, time was short, and the temporary board extended the time for filing. Plenty of time will remain, said Bradbury, for printing and distributing the ballots.

Five directors are to be elected, two for three years, two for two years and one for one year. This will create alternation in the expiration of terms for the future. The regular tenure of office is three years.

Nominations will be received at the office of the county school superintendent. No special form is required, said Bradbury. The writing must specify the name of the candidate and that he or she is the choice of the electors who sign the petition as a candidate for county school director.

Ten registered voters, at least, must sign each petition. All petitions should be in the mail by Saturday at the latest in order to insure receipt by Monday.

TIRED OF "VAMPS"

CHICAGO, June 8.—The movie "vamp" with her white face, her penciled eye-brows, green eyes and her jade earrings, is gone, and will flaunt her fascinations on the silver screen no longer. Motion picture theatre owners were so told at a meeting today.

"The modern picture heroine," said William J. Sweeney, "must be young and inexperienced in appearances, guileless and appealing to her actions. The public has wearied of the vampire type."

SOLDIER BONUS IS BLOCKED BY SEN. WILLIAMS

Another Effort to Be Made by McCumber; Report Ready to Present

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 8.—An effort to present the soldiers' bonus bill to the senate today was blocked by Senator Williams, democrat, Mississippi.

Chairman McCumber of the senate finance committee gave notice he would make another effort later in the day to get the measure on the senate calendar. McCumber had ready a report placing the probable cost of the bonus at $3,845,659,480, spread over a period of 40 years from next January 1. This is approximately $250,000,000 less than the estimate under the house bill, which provided payment in 20 years.

The senate bill was based on the estimate that 75 per cent of the 4,458,199 veterans eligible would take adjusted certificates, 22 1/2 per cent farm, home and land settlement aid, and 2 1/2 per cent vocational training. Regarding the financing, McCumber's report said it was hoped the reduction in government expenditures and interest on the foreign debt would obviate additional taxation.

Motorists Are Warned Yreka After Speeders

Yreka, California, has a new get-rich-quick scheme, says the Portland Telegram. Oregon automobilists are the chief victims.

Motorists wandering down to the Shrine convention in San Francisco next week are warned to travel under a slow bell as they move through the sleepy streets of old Yreka.

This ancient mining town, which has almost passed away by decay, is said to be in need of funds, much to the regret of Dr. "Ike" Schilt, Portland dentist, who took the gasoline route to the Golden state.

Shift left a few days ago. He was fined $30 for going through Yreka at the calm rate of 20 miles an hour, thinking that he was obeying the law. "Ike" has wired back the following warnings to brother Arabs:

"At the outskirts of the Yreka city limits is a large sign that reads:

SPEED LIMIT 20 MILES
AN HOUR

"This warning is printed in big letters and is all a fellow notices. But underneath, in very small type, is another sign:

"Through the City, 15 Miles an Hour.

"There are a lot of old jaspers hiding around the corners to grab fellows who didn't see the small sign. I was one of the victims. It cost me thirty bucks."
