THE STAR
Jack Holt, who plays the villain in the latest Frank Lloyd production, "The Grim Comedian," by Rita Welman, has the leading male role in this Goldwyn picture. Although he has long been known as a leading photoplay actor, he has never convinced anybody that he is the reprobated villain he plays. Mr. Holt was born in Winchester, Va., and educated at the Virginia military institute. After four years in stock he entered the motion picture field and has since played with Universal, Ince, Paramount and Goldwyn. He may be seen in a full part in "The Grim Comedian," now playing at the Star theatre.

THE STRAND
So many dare-devil riders and performers of dangerous stunts are attracted to moving pictures, that the well-known actors who star in western dramas are constantly kept at their wits end trying to devise ways in which they can furnish thrills that will enable them to keep at least one pace ahead of the dare-devil members of their supporting casts. The "movies" are not for the timid and especially is this true of "western movies," the producing companies of which now contain the best spectacular riders and most daring athletes the cowboy profession has produced.

Bill Patton, appearing in the elaborate spectacular production of "Outlawed," which comes to the Strand theatre on Sunday, found himself in such fast company during the making of the big fight scenes with which the new Alvin J. Neitz drama abounds, that he was forced to devise some method of showing that he was not out-classed by his fellow players.

THE LIBERTY
"The Trap" a strong story of the north woods, the Universal-Jewel attraction starring Lon Chaney which comes to the Liberty theatre on Sunday is unique in having one of the most remarkable casts of any recent production. In addition to this, Robert Thornby, who is noted for the excellence of all his productions, directed this film masterpiece.

Lon Chaney, the star, gained his enviable reputation as an actor in "The Miracle Man," which he followed closely with "The Penalty," still sustaining a reputation for creating human characterizations in decidedly a distinctive manner. Then came "Outside the Law," where he was seen with Priscilla Dean. It was as a result of his work in that picture that Universal decided to star him. In the current production Chaney had unusual opportunities for living up to his reputation as "the man of a thousand faces." He made the most of them.

Spottiswoode Aitken, well-known character man; Dagnar Godowsky—the Russian actress and daughter of Leopold Godowsky, world famous pianist; Alan Hale, Herbert Standing, Frank Campeau, Irene Rich and five year old Stanley Goethals, handled the chief supporting roles in a manner that leaves nothing to be desired.
