THE STAR

"The Ordeal," the first original story to be written directly for the screen by W. Somerset Maugham, author of "The Moon and Sixpence," and "The Circle," will be the feature at the Star theatre tonight. It is a Paramount picture, starring Agnes Ayres. The cast includes besides the star, Clarence Burton, Conrad Nagel, Edward Sutherland, Adele Farrington, Lloyd Whitlock, Edna Murphy and Clete DuBrey. "The Ordeal" is the result of a three month's stay at the Lasky studio during which time Mr. Maugham studied methods in order that his story might be better fit existing screen requirements. On completion he left for a four year's tour around the world and when last located was in the jungles of the Malay peninsula.

THE LIBERTY

"Over the Hill," which will be shown at the Liberty theatre for the last time tonight, was accorded most cordial praise by the leading newspapers of the United States as follows:

"It is a picture too fine, too human and too tender to miss," said H. E. Torres, in the New York Commercial. "The wondrous depths of maternal love are sounded in this picture, which grips the heart and holds it for two solid hours."

The opinion of Bile Dudley, of the Evening World, is summed up in the following crisp sentence: "It abounds with excellent humor and pathos and tells a story of genuine interest that is gripping."

The New York American insisted that "Over the Hill" is a "remarkable impersonation of motherdom. So keen a picturization that your eyes fill—made with a fine big spirit, a remembrance of youth, an appreciation of the eternal mother-soul, and excellent photography."

Again, in the Evening Journal, we read that "a new Fox film scores!" "It brought tears even from the most unwilling eyes," and that "it is funny—humanly, riotously funny."

THE STRAND

San Antonio, Texas, Dick Wells, messenger of the Thirty-third field cavalry rapidly approached the gates of Fort Worth. The pace of Wells' horse indicated that he had very important news to deliver and that he was losing no time in doing so.

Wells in an excited tone of voice reported that a band of Mexican bandits had just crossed the Rio Grande and were nearing the fort. He also stated that the band-members were heavily armed and prepared to stir serious trouble.

Faint shooting was heard in the distant horizon and the commander immediately dispatched a unit of American cavalry to suppress this sudden uprising.

As the troopers neared the scene of battle they discovered that revolutionists were engaged in a stormy fight among themselves.

Bodies were falling in every direction and fierce hand to hand struggles were seen here and there. The soldiers unmounted and were about to open fire when they discovered a white man with a megaphone to his mouth yelling to them at the top of his voice.

"The Gringo Devil," a thrilling five reel outdoor photoplay, coming to the Strand theatre tonight.
