

SOCIETY

Socially things have been unusually quiet the past week in Klamath Falls. There have been the usual picnics, a few weddings and club meetings on the social calendar.

The Portland Oregonian of Wednesday gave the following account of the charming wedding of Mrs. Golden Lincoln and Dr. Harold M. Brown of Sheridan, Wyoming, at Portland, June 28:

Mrs. Golden Lincoln and Dr. Harold M. Brown of Sheridan, Wyoming, were married last Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Talbot, 444 East Fifty-first street North. The ceremony was performed at 7 a. m. by Rev. Geo. B. Van Waters. The bride couple was unattended beneath a bower of pink and white roses, interspersed with ferns and arranged in an archway. Tall baskets of syringa were on each side.

The bride was attired in a navy blue polart twill suit with beaded jade green blouse and a black hat. Following the service, the wedding party motored to Crown Point chalet, where the wedding breakfast was served. Table decorations of syringa and ocean spray were very effective. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Derby of Salem, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dunn, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Derby and daughters Marian and Catherine, Mrs. Nell Derby Collins, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Pickens, Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Talbot, Marian and Garner Talbot, all of Portland.

Mrs. A. D. Pierce and Miss Olive Pierce are two charming eastern women who are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Pike in Polican City, from their home in Rhode Island. Mrs. Pierce is Mr. Pike's sister, while Miss Pierce is her sister-in-law. They will be here for the greater part of the summer. Mr. and Mrs. Pike with their guests will drive to Crater lake for the Fourth.

The Auction Bridge club was entertained on Thursday of this week at the home of Mrs. R. E. Wright, 225 North First street.

Mrs. Horace Manning was a charming hostess to the Leasure Hour bridge club on Tuesday of this week at her home on Conker avenue. The meeting of the club was particularly interesting in that it was the last of the season.

One of the most enjoyable affairs of the week was the barge party sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Watkins on Sunday. The large barge which carried the guests over the Upper Klamath lake to Eagle Ridge and Rocky Point was made comfortable with large awnings and deck chairs. The guest list follows: Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hopkins, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Peltz and daughter Bertha, Wm. O. Wood, E. E. Harpham, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Rodgers, Mr. and Mrs. Colvin, Miss Florence Porter, Mrs. W. F. Wygant, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Cozad, Mr. Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Matthews, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Pope, Miss Ethelwyn O'Flaherty, Miss Amy Smeltz, F. C. Nickle, Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Soule and Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Hill.

The University of Oregon and the Oregon Agricultural students met last night at a joint banquet at a local confectionery honoring the presidents of the two state institutions, P. C. Campbell, of Eugene, and Dr. Kerr of Corvallis, who stopped here on their return from Lakeview where they met with the Dr. Daily Million Dollar Fund, board.

The students of the university and college enjoyed the usual friendly rivalry which exists whenever the two get together. Last night it took the form of songs between courses and appeared in the after dinner speeches. Future plans of the two institutions were informally discussed and a general outline of present policies were given for the benefit of graduates who have not been with their Alma Mater for some time.

The Ladies club of Elks will not meet on Tuesday, July 4, but have postponed their social gathering until July 11 instead.

Mrs. Jennie Hurn was hostess on Tuesday to the Happy Hour club. Plans were discussed for a picnic which will be held at Chiloquin in the near future.

Sunday the Art Needle Work club entertained at its annual dinner for the husbands and families of the club members. The dinner this year was held at the Houston camp on Spring creek, and was attended by 39 people. The following were present: Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Goeller and son Fred, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Wirtz, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Dunbar and daughter, Edna, Mr. and Mrs. K. G. Cummings, daughter, Margaret and son, Charles, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Wattenberg, Mrs. Ellen Piel and son, Glenn, Dr. and Mrs. L. L. Truax and Mrs. Truax's aunt, Mrs. Culbertson, Mrs. James McClure and grandson, Robert Gallagher, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Martin and Mrs. Martin's mother, Mrs. Ramsby.

At a quiet home wedding in Woodland last Sunday, Miss Fannie Virgil became the bride of Lewis Eldon Dennis. Both are well known in and about Klamath Falls. The bride made her home here all during her girlhood, and for the past few years has been an instructor in the domestic science department of the public schools. Mr. Dennis was a rancher in the Bly section for a number of years before moving into Klamath Falls. At present he is in business in Madison, California, and it is there they expect to make their home. Mrs. Virgil, who accompanied her daughter on the trip to Woodland, has gone on to San Francisco and Los Angeles for an extended visit.

Mrs. Byron Noud entertained Thursday afternoon at cards for a number of friends. At the close of the games dainty refreshments were served by the hostess to the following guests: Mesdames Guy Eckwall, M. Lavenik, O. W. Robertson, T. McDonald, John Linman, M. McAndrews, D. H. Crump, Elmer Hoskins, Bert Igle, C. A. Patterson, Charles Maguire and Miss Margaret Maguire.

Mrs. T. H. McDonald gave a delightful farewell party this afternoon for Mrs. D. H. Crump. The following guests were present: Mesdames Elmer Hoskins, O. W. Robertson, Bert Igle, C. A. Patterson, John Linman, M. McAndrews, M. Lavenik, Guy Eckwall, Charles Maguire and Miss Margaret Maguire.

MOVIES

THE STAR

"The Night Rose," a new Goldwyn melodrama from the pen of the famous novelist, Leroy Scott, will be shown at the Star theatre, for two days, beginning Sunday. In this thrilling picture, the power of a leader of the underworld is seen to reach into the very halls of justice. Political heroes are the pawns of the mighty character who controls them through fear and through a secret organization of cut-throats and robbers. However, the leader of this gang is undone by a woman, a fact that has often occurred in reality. Lon Chaney, who will be remembered for his remarkable characterization of a lawless thug in the Goldwyn production of "The Penalty," has the leading part in "The Night Rose." All the other leading parts are filled by such sterling players as Leatrice Joy, Beatty Schade, Edythe Chapman, John Bowers, Cullen Landis, Maurice B. Flynn and Richard Tucker. Wallace Worsley directed the picture.

STRAND SUNDAY

Mitchell Lewis is a star because he wanted to be a star. From very early childhood the stage always had a certain attraction for Mr. Lewis. His father had an office in a building in Syracuse where a certain theatrical company used to hold their rehearsals. Mr. Lewis, who was then fondly known as "Mitch" used to hang around and watch the rehearsals. He thought it would be rather nice to be an actor. Witness the birth of the stage "bug," a peculiar bug which zoologists have not yet placed into any particular class.

He got his first job as an "Indian Brownie" with "Palmer Cox's Brownies." But he grew so fast that he played the part of the giant before the show closed. Later he played with Faversham for three years in "The Two Orphans"; "The Squaw Man" with Fred Terry in England; "Everywoman"; "The Chinese Honey-moon"; "The Servant in the House"; "The Nigger," and with Nazimova in "Ception Shows."

LIBERTY TONIGHT

While making one of the scenes for "No Defense," which will be shown at the Liberty theatre today, an outsider crossed before the camera and made such an impression with Director William Duncan, who also stars in the production that this actor's work was included in the film. The location used was a patch of thicket in the open country of the west and it was planned to show the life in the wilderness for atmosphere. Just as everything was in readiness a large grizzly bear ambled in front of the camera, performed a few stunts in keeping with his nature and passed out of camera range, apparently without any indication that he had been started in one scene of "No Defense."

Duncan was highly pleased with this bit of natural history which he had filmed, and used it as an important part of the story. It was necessary to add a scene showing Duncan, as a hunted man, hearing a noise and thinking the mounted police were on his train, becomes fearful, but another scene shows that the bear was the cause of his fright.

LIBERTY—SUNDAY

"Riding With Death," a William Fox photoplay starring Charles (Buck) Jones, has been booked for the Liberty Sunday. It is the first picture since the popular Buck abandoned that name and was formally christened Charles.

The story was written by Jacques Jaccard with Charles Jones in mind, and it is said he has provided the star with plenty of scope for the display of his dash and daring. Jaccard also prepared the scenario and directed the production.

The star appears in the roll of a Texas ranger bearing the cognomen "Dynamite" Steve Dorsey. Dorsey is called upon to live up to the name when he rides through a county ruled and terrorized by a crooked sheriff. Without awaiting reinforcements, proceeding according to the first law of the rangers, he starts right in cleaning up the situation. It is said he not only rides with death, but at it, into it and through it. Sunday at the Liberty.

Catholic Citizenship

(This is the Second of a Series of Paid Advertisements)

Can You Justify Those Who Attack the Citizenship of Catholics by A MASS OF HAZY QUOTATIONS

From scattered members of an organization which in the United States alone has nearly twenty millions of adherents, especially when such quotations are almost invariably garbled, misinterpreted, or at best are but the private views of individuals? When you wish to know what the American Constitution stands for, do you go to Mr. Radical, Rev. Crank or Mrs. Anti-American? No, not when there are reliable channels to consult. Should not the citizenship of Catholics be judged by the consistent conduct and uniform patriotism of the great majority, rather than the misdeeds of an occasional individual? Is it not really criminal to invent fictitious quotations and numerous fake oaths to blacken the citizenship of Catholic citizens? If not criminal, then how designate such conduct? Yet this is being done every day in Oregon.

A MOST DRASTIC INSTANCE

of this kind is the FAKE OATH ascribed to the Knights of Columbus; thousands of copies have been circulated in Oregon. Did you read this fake oath, and did you think it genuine? If so, you were grossly deceived.

THE FAKE K. OF C. OATH

has been exposed and condemned in Congress; that is how it got into the Congressional Record, not because it was true, but because it was a fake.

It has been condemned in many courts in the United States and Canada; e. g., in Philadelphia, Pa., in the Quarter Sessions Court, in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania vs. Charles Megonegal and Clarence H. Stage, Jan. 30, 1914; again, Waterville, Minn., in the case of State of Minnesota vs. A. M. Morrison and Garfield E. Morrison, July 29, 1914; again, St. Johns, Newfoundland, in the District Court before Judge Knight against Charles A. Swift. In these and in various other courts, defendants were found guilty of circulating the false, fictitious, FAKE OATH. During the war the campaign of vilification reached a low ebb. Lately in Oregon and elsewhere it has been revived with added impetus.

In October, 1914, the business men of Indianapolis, Ind., appointed a committee of Non-Catholics, who investigated and condemned the imposture in the strongest terms. Surely some of our representative Klamath Falls Non-Catholics ought to be willing to make a similar investigation, if any of them think this oath is genuine.

In the same month the Masons of Los Angeles made a searching inquiry, and they reported the so-called Oath to be a malicious forgery. Surely the Masons of Klamath Falls would be willing to show the same spirit of fairness, if any of them doubt that this oath is a fake.

THE FAKE K. OF C. OATH

is a most drastic instance of a thousand and one similar forgeries and misrepresentations. From this one—draw your own conclusions. Space does not permit replying to all. Below is which the Knights of Columbus take. From the day the order was founded, there never has been a word in the ritual, ceremonial, promises or proceedings of the Order that conflicts with this: "I swear to support the Constitution of the United States. I pledge myself, as a Catholic citizen and Knight of Columbus, to enlighten myself fully upon my duties as a citizen and to conscientiously perform such duties entirely in the interest of my country and regardless of all personal consequences. I pledge myself to do all in my power to preserve the integrity and purity of the ballot and to promote reverence and respect for law and order. I promise to practice my religion openly and consistently but without ostentation and to so conduct myself in public affairs and in the exercise of public virtue as to reflect nothing but credit upon our Holy Church and to the end that she may flourish and our country prosper to the greater honor and glory of God."

Foregoing is the obligation which the Congressional Committee, the various courts and the Masons verified.
