

FISHING SEASON OPEN ALL YEAR

Spring, Summer and Winter
All Alike to Southern Calif. Nimrods

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 24—Al- though Isaac Waltons and many of them, are busy all year 'round re- gardless of season in ocean fishing, the spring, summer and autumn and that is from May onward the season is on for many thousands. Runs of fish that bring excitement start in June.

The great multitude sits on the piers, there are more than a score of special fishing piers from the beaches near by, ere are caught a great variety of fish, although many of these fishing days may be reward- ed only by bites, or a few tomcod or herring. Mackerel ranging up to a pound and a half, halibut up to as high as 28 pounds, barracude, smelt, sculpin, yellowfin, perch, croaker and shark are hooked from the pier.

Deep sea fishing is as varied as it is exciting. The first step is the mackerel boats, particularly in Santa Monica bay, which take anglers out a few miles to mackerel beds for a half day's fishing. Mackerel run up to a little over three pounds, and a catch of fifty or sixty in the four hours is the usual thing. They are quite gamey and the catch offers good sport with rod and reel.

Next come the "live-bait boats". These launches for anglers, like the mackerel boats, take from ten to thirty anglers out. They go further out, either for bass in the kelp beds, or watch seagulls for traces of the more gamey fish, yellow-tail, skip- jack, albacore and similar species of the tuna family. These range up to sixty pounds each, and trolling with live bait is the order for the catch. A thousand feet of line usually 18 to 24 strand, is used with rod and reel, and after a strike an interesting fight of fifteen minutes to an hour is necessary to land the fish, that is bring it to gaff at the boat.

The acme of fishing however is for the future tuna, or the great swordfish. These are struck by troll- ing and the tuna range up to more than 100 pounds, and swordfish up to several hundred. The latter are quite rare, and it is a seasonal event to bring one to gaff. Tuna put up a fight that may last for a little more than an hour up to several hours.

Other forms of fishing are from floats anchored a mile or so off the beach, to which launches from and upon which it is possible to rent tackle and bait; from the beach for surf-fish, and upon the beach for grunion. The latter is a rather freakish diversion of fishing. The grunion, a small smelt, spawns at high tide on certain moonlight nights. It spawns upon the sand, and is picked up from the beach with nets or by hand.

HEELS

Low flange heels are still very popular yet the tendency for fall is toward higher heels.

We are showing some very snappy advance styles with two straps and military heels, also some new cut out effects.

H. J. Winter's Great Ambition Exceeded His Resources—Finance Company Attempts to Save Day!

Believing in Klamath Falls, H. J. Winters placed his eggs in one basket; erected one of the city's finest buildings, to find himself facing a crisis that threatened his business life! Insistent demands of creditors forced a liquidation of the finest Jewelry stock in the Southern Oregon country.

DID you ever try the great experiment of carrying a full load of eggs in one basket and have the road come up and hit you in the face? Ever have the feeling of concern over the fate of the eggs when they hit the ground? Of course, we have all heard about the old woman and her eggs, and what became of the eggs and so forth—

BUT, it took the experience of H. J. Winters, right here in Klamath Falls to prove the old story from start to finish. Today his store is closed. He is in "the hands of his Friends" who are attempting to save the business that he has given twenty years of his life to build—save for Klamath Falls an institution which is a credit to the town—attempting to realize money on his assets and pay off the insistent creditors who would destroy and tear down this business without thought of the work and worry that have gone into its building.

CHRISTMAS is several months away and people are supposed to buy jewelry principally at Christmas, but H. J. Winters' creditors won't wait until Christmas, so a way must be found to induce you to buy your Christmas jewelry now—and this is how it is proposed to do that.

THE stock has been turned over to the Merchants Finance Company of Seattle for liquidation. There are no strings attached to the deal, no limitations of any kind. A certain large amount of money must be raised without delay and the Merchants Finance Company are empowered to sell the merchandise for what it will bring. Cash is the only thing that will talk with the Winters' creditors now.

DIAMONDS and Watches have a set intrinsic value, if you can find a buyer. They can be sold at "some" price, but what that price is we don't know. So, it has been decided to let the public fix the price on the Winters' stock. It will be sold at auction, without reservation, to the highest bidder.

IF necessity ever compelled a real sacrifice, this is the time. But, H. J. Winters' and his loyal friends are placing the situation before the people of this community who have known the stock and the ideals of the institution. Nothing will be said or done that will not be in accord with the same high principle of business that has governed this store for twenty years.

WHAT the stock brings depends upon what you think it is worth. This is the crisis of a lifetime that must be met in a courageous manner, at any cost to save for H. J. Winters and this community, an institution that has built with the town and will continue on.

The store is closed—plans in detail for the sale will be announced in tomorrow's paper.

I Thank You

Arthur H. Allen for the

Serves Time for Dog

Sport bit a little girl in Hoboken, N. J. He was taken to the pound for examination, but Charles Strick prevailed on authorities to let him "do time" for his pet. Then he secured a two-hour parole to visit the dog.
