All Ready for the Gong to Start an Unusual Auction

Inventory of Winters' Stock Completed. Store rearranged to provide Room for Hundreds who will profit by Jeweler's misfortune. Windows filled with "Rewards" for those who are on hand early Thursday Night. Scores visit store to Inspect Stock in advance of Auction.

YOU all know Doc. Cook, who dispenses drugs and such like, over at Underwood's Drug store. Well, Doc. was a jewelry auctioneer of the old school before he reformed and went to rolling pills. Anyway, Doc came in to get acquainted, asked to see the "stuff" that I had brought in with me to sell as part of the Winters' stock. wanted to know who was going to "work" the crowd for me while I auctioneered and generally was interested in a sort of fraternal way, you GUESS that Doc. doesn't think much of me as and auctioneer as I had to admit that I came in with only a traveling bag filled with personal belongings and that I was traveling and working alone. I know that all this is not according to the old methods of getting the money by hook or crook, but times have changed. And the Merchants Finance Company is an institution of the new school. We operate with our cards race u own no jewelry to bring in and mix with a local stock, depend upon no by-bidders and are trying to and successfully do liquidate stocks of merchandise in an honest, straight forward fashion. The folks who come here Thursday night or any other night with the expectations that they are going to see a "clever" auctioneer are going to be disappointed.

B UT, these who come to buy will be able to buy for what they think the merchandise is worth. It's just a legitimate, forced and absolute auction of a fine stock of Jewelry and it doesn't take hokum to make it a success.

OF course, Doc. meant well. He just isn't up on the Auction game like he knows the drug business, for instance. And, I hope he doesn't get offended by this, but it gave me an opportunity to tell you about our methods without seeming to boast.

WE are through working and ready for the sale. The stock is inventoried, the store rearranged so that there will be lots of space, the windows filled with "rewards," including a fine Elgin wrist watch for the lucky folks who are on hand promptly at 7:30 Thursday night.

ANY have availed themselves of our invitation to come down and look at merchandise that they might be interested in in advance of sale. The entrance is through the Sweet Shop and we are not too busy to show any merchandise in the store. It enables you to bid intelligently, with full knowledge of the value of each article. That is what we want—our bidders to know in advance the value of each piece of merchandise as we are going to work fast. Winters must have the money and our company has contracted to raise it for him.

had a story for this ad tonight, but the atmosphere around the store is too somber for jokes, so the story waits. I just want to say that a few folks in this town have red blood in their systems, they stepped right in yesterday morning and paid up accounts owing to Mr. Winters. That shows real neighborily spirit. And the money is badly needed, consequently greatly appreciated.

I Thank You.
