VOTE RECOUNT IN KLAMATH IS HELD TO BE UNLIKELY

They held that Hall's counsel must prove each individual case.
The court later recessed to permit counsel for Olcott to prepare a motion for an amended answer to the Hall petition.
Olcott's attorneys said that in the amended answer they will charge that the Ku Klux Klan also asserted undue influence and will demand that the Hall faction specify each individual case in which it is charged Catholic officials improperly influenced votes.

"We are allowing the amended petition to be filed because we believe the table should be cleared and the entire case aired," said Bingham.

WOMAN RUNS ON 'WET' PLATFORM

Young and Pretty Candidate Confident of Election She Declares

TOPEKA, July 31—Exercising the inalienable right of women to change her mind—even though she be a candidate for governor—Miss Helen Pettigrew no longer admits that defeat dwells within her camp, in the primary election contest for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, on August 1. She is one of seven candidates.

"I'll be nominated by 20,000 plurality," asserted the young—and good looking candidate.
Something of a ruse awakening is due staid and Puritanic Kansas, according to Miss Pettigrew's prediction. For the main plank in her platform is "the return of beer and light wines". Of course, she admits, she does not intend to put this over single handed. She recognizes that, as the matter now stands, the issue of bringing a come-back for beer and light wines would necessarily be national rather than state.
"But I want to show up the sentiment—right here in Kansas, where prohibition has prevailed for more than forty years," Miss Pettigrew declared. "I guess with my nomination then congress will recognize the demand to give the people what they want surely exists even in greater strength, in other states."

"The Kansas druggists are prohibited from selling whiskey, on prescription. The sick people of Kansas should be allowed whiskey for medicinal purposes, as the people of other states are. I favor the repeal of the Eighteenth amendment or its modification to permit use of beer and light wines, as they are of medicinal value."
"I advocate resubmission in the sale of liquor in Kansas. I stand for the people and against rapacious prohibition fanatics and blue sky fanatics."

Miss Pettigrew is founder of Kansas City's Anti-war club. She is in favor of a state bonus for soldiers to be voted upon at the November election. Running for office is a most enjoyable diversion, asserts Miss Pettigrew, especially making campaign speeches and meeting the people.

WESTERN DANCES ARE IMMORAL, SAYS GEISLER

TOKYO, Japan, July 31—The question whether western dances are immoral is the subject of a lively debate in the Japanese news.
In the last few years western dancing has grown popular among Japanese women, especially those who have lived abroad, although it is by no means general as yet.

They dance very gracefully in their native costume and headless stippers, but the older and less modernized Japanese frown on the growing custom.
The Geisha declares that the modern dance is immoral but it is explained that they may be influenced by the loss of custom that the latest western invasion is causing them. The young Japanese men would much rather dance himself than watch Geisha dancing.

G. O. P. DEFEAT IS CHARGED TO PRESS

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 31—Defeat of the Republican party in 1912 was attributed in the senate by Chairman McCumber of the finance committee to the refusal of that committee three years previously to heed the demands of newspaper publishers that newspaper paper be placed on the free list in the Payne-Adair tariff act.
His declaration brought demands from the Democratic side for full details and was followed by recalls by Senators Watson of Indiana, Smoot of Utah and McCumber of incidents which they said had taken place behind the scenes in congress a decade ago.

Chinese Are Radio Fans Aerials Decorate Homes

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., July 31—The radio telephone has taken hold of San Francisco's Chinatown to a greater extent than any other part of the city, judging from the torials to be seen on the roofs of the buildings in the Oriental section. Nearly all of the buildings in Chinatown house more than one family and many of the buildings have from one to five aerials.
Ming Wo Ko, a dealer in electrical equipment, is authority for the statement that most of the radio sets in Chinatown are owned by boys from 10 to 18 years old. Many of the receiving sets are of the crystal variety although some of the older youths have acquired audion detectors and amplifiers.
Two Chinese electrical firms in Chinatown receive the concerts that are broadcast in San Francisco and vicinity from 9 o'clock in the morning until 9 o'clock at night and entertain their patrons with concerts by means of loud speaking devices.
The antenna of many of the Chinese radio fans is supported by elaborate masts mostly painted light blue. Several of the antenna are of the four strand variety but most of them consist of one wire.

Went to Read Mercury Mexican Gets Sunstroke

CALEXICO, Calif., July 31—It gets hot here. A few days ago it got so hot that sober and truthful chroniclers decline to quote the figures registered by tested thermometers. They all agree it was over 120 in the sun.
Two Mexican laborers, working for a cement contractor, happened to see a thermometer hanging outside a building near the scene of their labors. They went over and looked at it. Until they did so, they had been warm, but well. When they saw it, both apparently had sunstroke. Any way, they fell to the ground, writhed, groaned, turned as near pale as nature permitted, and emitted strange noises that a blushing bystander declined to translate.
The lady of the house where the thermometer hung saw the two fall. She brought out some cold water. Did she pour it over the Mexicans? She did not. She poured it over the thermometer, reduced the apparent temperature to 98, and showed it to the men. They looked at it and at each other, quit groaning, got up, and went back to work.

Tonight We're Going To Close Out Winters' Pyralin Ivory Stock

Finest assortment of genuine Pyralin Ivory in city goes to Highest Bidders tonight. Complete sets and single pieces to be slaughtered on Auction Block

GETTING back to that Elgin Watch that we have forgotten to give away and tried to give away with no results. Tonight it will be presented to someone in the crowd. There will be no excuses and no forgetting it. Some method will be found to get rid of it and we are going to have some fun doing it too. Better be on hand at seven-thirty tonight.

OVER Sunday, I have been going through the Winters' stock again and have decided that the Pyralin Ivory must be cleaned up first in our campaign to go through the stock from end to end and realize enough money to save the business for H. J. Winters.

THIS sale is just getting started and before we are through we are going to be talked about, for I have a few surprises that I am going to spring on the good people of Klamath Falls before we finish that are going to start tongues wagging and people to regretting that they didn't at least drop in each evening.

TAKE tomorrow night, for instance. Tuesday night is going to be Diamond night and we are going to make an attempt to materially lighten the load of Diamonds that encumber the Winters' stock. You can't pay bills with Diamonds and the most important thing in the life of H. J. Winters is to pay his bills. So, if you want a Diamond, come Tuesday night.

AND don't forget that we will put up any article in the stock any night or that we are open all day long and you can buy at private sale. The prices we have set on any article in the stock are about cost or less and you can save from one-fourth to one-half and less.

It's a sale to a finish—in order that the Winters' Jewelry stock may continue to be a credit to Klamath Falls.

THERE will be rewards again tonight, and every night that the sale continues. Those who are on hand early will share in them. The time is seven-thirty. Remember—we are going to clean up the Pyralin Ivory tonight and the Diamonds Tuesday.

I Thank You,
ARTHUR H. ALLEN, for the
