Malin and Shasta View Dis- tricts Sign Agreement; Propose Bond Issue

Special to The Herald
SHASTA VIEW, Aug. 1.—The long delayed irrigation of 10,000 acres of land that is going to play a large part in the development of Klamath county was settled beyond doubt last Friday when the contract between the government and the Shasta View and Malin irrigation districts was signed without a dissenting voice.

The irrigation of these lands has been worked for unceasingly for a number of years and through the untiring efforts of those interested the reward has at last come. It was unanimously voted to bond the districts, Malin for $100,000 and Shasta View for $120,000 for the purpose of putting in pumping plants, building ditches, etc. The government is to put the water to the plants.

It is understood that negotiations are already underway for the sale of the bonds.

SHERWOOD TRIAL ON Destruction of Property

Barnes Valley Man Charged With Destruction of Property

Charged with the "wanton destruction of property", Albert Sherwood, of Barnes Valley, is on trial in the justice court on a preliminary hearing. William Deval, the complaining witness, also of Barnes valley, testified that on Thursday evening July 20, he left his two mowing machines in the hay field about a mile and a quarter from his house, and when he sent his employees back to use the machines on Friday morning, both machines had been wrecked by a sledge hammer, the spokes of the carriage wheels and other parts were broken, he said, rendering the machines useless.

The state introduced in evidence parts of the machinery, as well as a large sledge hammer taken from the home of Albert Sherwood. State's witness, Fred J. Morley, who arrested Sherwood, testified that he found an imprint of a sledge hammer in the mud beneath one of the machines, and from a scratch on the hammer he attempted to connect up that particular hammer with the acts charged against Sherwood.

"The state rested its case shortly before noon" after having called six witnesses, and introduced several photographs of the damaged machinery. The defense was to open its case at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

The other charges preferred against Sherwood by Deval, that of stealing a barrel of molasses, was dismissed by the court at the conclusion of the testimony at 3:20 yesterday afternoon.

It is expected that the present case will be concluded this afternoon.

REDUCE ACCIDENTS AIM OF MOVEMENT SWEEPING COUNTRY

"Don't Get Hurt" is Slogan Being Used by Safety Institute;
Plea Made for Children

By EDWARD M. THIERRY

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—"Don't get hurt!" is the slogan being used by the Safety Institute of America in an anti-accident campaign underway throughout the United States.

"Children are the chief victims of their own and other people's carelessness," says Laurence Vall Coleman, director of the institute. "And it is through the children, by continuous educational campaigns in the schools, that we hope to cut down the national bill paid each year for carelessness."

Elbert H. Gray, chairman of the United States steel corporation, a vice president of the institute and a prime mover in industrial safety, will head the committee that will put on a "No-Accident Week" in New York next fall.

Similar campaigns already have been held in other cities, notably Baltimore and Boston, and an effort will be made to hold one in every important city in the nation.

"Forty percent of all deaths in automobile accidents are children," says Director Coleman. "While deaths in industry have decreased 28 percent since 1906, automobile deaths increased more than 300 per cent."

"Children victims in New York alone," says Coleman, "were 375 in 1920 and 492 in 1921. More than 500 are predicted in 1922. Detroit, by its safety campaign, reduced child fatalities in auto accidents from 94 to 39 in a single year."

"Experiments have proved it is possible to decrease accidents by education. The best way is to teach the children; they can be depended upon to teach the parents."

"One half the schools in America are now teaching safety. All should do so. The importance of the campaign may be appreciated from the fact, disclosed by records, that for every person killed in an accident there are 25 injured."

Is your city careless or careful? Here are the automobile deaths in 10 American cities, picked at random from Safety Institute records, showing increases in five and decreases only in cities where safety campaigns have been in progress during the past two years:

	1920	1921
New York	756	865
Chicago	542	668
Philadelphia	232	191
Detroit	240	134
St. Louis	102	97
Milwaukee	72	67
Rochester	37	38
Flint, Mich.	52	25
Louisville	18	20
Grand Rapids	16	17

And it's all free and doesn't take but a minute or two of one's time each day.
