SAFETY FIRST

SOME interesting facts are being broadcasted throughout the country in connection with a campaign begun by the American Railway association in the interests of public safety.

Following are some of the facts being made public:

Approximately 1800 persons are killed on railroad grade crossings throughout the country each year and in round numbers approximately 5,000 sustain painful and crippling injuries.

There are at present over two hundred fifty-one thousand railroad grade crossings in the United States.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—(Capital News Service).—A man in London tried to hang himself. He was a poor hand at it, but he died just the same.

Remember this—a railroad crossing, no matter whether it is a protected crossing or not, is a place of danger where no chances should be taken.

ALEXANDER BELL

ALEXANDER GRAHAM BELL is dead.

To the world at large, it is the venerable inventor of the telephone who has passed on.

Dr. Bell, whose labors in science and invention brought him fame and fortune, did not cease his benefits to humanity with the invention of the telephone.

The whole world talks by telephone nor gives a thought to the man whose genius made it possible.

There are Four Kinds of Men:

- He who knows and knows he knows
He is wise—follow him.
He who knows and knows not he knows:
He is asleep—wake him.

Bob Cheyne says there are a lot of people in the world whose desire it is to put advice into the partnership into which the other fellow puts capital.

TOM SIMS SAYS

Since the Indians struck oil, Lo, the poor Indian, lives high.

One might say the man who stole a cornet belonged to a robber band.

Hobbed skirts are growing longer about as fast as hobbed hair.

"Plants feel" says Burbank. Then a briar patch feels stunk up.

Our idea of fun would be two joy-killers shooting at each other and both of them crack shots.

Naming Pullmans is ruining our alphabet.

Senate has started an open air restaurant. Now, when eating spaghetti, the sky's the limit.

Maybe a barber shaving himself says "Your head needs washing, sir."

These strange cries coming from a Florida swamp may be a train caller on his vacation.

Men with light heads seldom shine like those with lantern jaws.

The man who remarried his divorced wife won't be hearing forever about her former husband.

The average song hit does it about three months, then misses.

"Keep one foot on the floor" is a good rule in shooting pool and a better one in kicking.

In 1942 parents will wish for the old-fashioned 1922 flapper.

Strange News Found In Daily Newspapers

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—(Capital News Service).—A man in London tried to hang himself. He was a poor hand at it, but he died just the same.

London also is responsible for the story of William Skinner, a sailor, who lost his life in the battle of Jutland.

In Northern Montana, near Glacier National park, is a colony of a million marmots.

1,000th Birthday Is Celebrated by Old Town

GOSLAR, Germany, Aug. 12.—Drowsy old Goslar, Methuselah of the Harz, has tripped lightly into the limelight to announce to the world it has reached its thousandth birthday.

In preparation for the event, Goslar dressed itself all up in its "Sunday best," with a general coat of fresh paint and lavish decorations.

The anniversary observances began in this building with a formal morning program in which public leaders in town, provincial, and national life took part.

Good music in the home makes the children contented. A Brunswick Phonograph will supply the world's best music.

The Busy Bee

Once upon a time a country hotel keeper inserted an ad in the paper for a helper.

But to get on with our story. One of the applicants for the job was an Irishman.

"What I want," explained the hotel keeper, "is an all-around useful man. One who can cook and wash dishes, keep the books, do his bit behind the desk, handle the correspondence, answer bells and drive the automobile down to the depot at train time to pick up the guests.

You would be surprised to know how little money is required to place a Brunswick Phonograph in your home.

SOCIETY

The Annual Flower show is claiming the attention and time of society this week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Lamn entertained a number of friends at a dinner and dance Thursday at their home on Pacific Terrace.

George Thrasher's birthday was the inspiration for a dinner given in his honor by members of his family Sunday evening.

Interesting out of town guests visiting here this week are Miss Muriel Arnold, niece of J. J. Miller, and her friend, Miss Marjorie Barr.

The Auction Bridge club was delightfully entertained Tuesday at the home of Mrs. L. F. Willis.

Saturday night of last week Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Rogers were hosts at their lovely home on Pacific Terrace.

Mrs. G. Arthur Halliwell was hostess at a charming luncheon yesterday noon at her home on Crescent avenue.

Another interesting affair given for Misses Vivian and Dortha Martin was the theatre party and supper Friday night.

Mack brothers, here because of a short vacation release from their regular work on the Orpheum circuit, are superb athletes and will entertain those who attend the Strand Sunday with some wonderful balancing and acrobatic stunts.

The Strand theater bill for Sunday is exceptionally strong, being headlined by two vaudeville acts of unusual merit.

Mack brothers, here because of a short vacation release from their regular work on the Orpheum circuit, are superb athletes and will entertain those who attend the Strand Sunday with some wonderful balancing and acrobatic stunts.

A character impersonator who can do to perfection either a Chinese, Italian or a Swede will give the audience thirty minutes of fun that is fun. He finishes his act by reciting George Reban's masterpiece, "My Rosa."

The pictures tomorrow show Robert Warwick in E. Phillips Oppenheim's famous story, "The Silent Master," and Al Jennings, to which is added a good comedy.

Was He a Highlander?

A tramp called at the house of a spinster who lived all alone.

The good lady, who did not want to admit that she was unprotected, replied in an embarrassed voice: "I am very sorry, my good man, but—er—my—er—hus—er—but he never wears them!"
