

The Office Cat

BY JUNIUS

A Baker says the great American amateur appears to have discarded home brewing for the radio.

Mother—Now, Victor, what does a clever, nice little boy do when he is in a tramcar and sees an old lady who has to stand up?
Son—He pretends he is asleep.

Bill Lee says when money talks no one stops to criticize its grammar.

Why They Went

As the Sunday-school teacher entered she saw leaving in great haste a little girl and her smaller brother. "Why, Mary, you aren't going away?" she exclaimed in surprise. "Plothe, Miss Anne, we've got to go," was the distressed reply. "Jimmy thawallowed hih coffinetion."

My Fliover

I have a little motor car. It's the apple of my eye. If you know me, you'll easy guess the kind of car I'd buy. It rattles like the very Dutch, its radiator's brass; now you know what kind it is, you will not need to ask. I hot it second handed, had it two years, more or less; and in that time it's been in almost every kind of mess. The top is patched, the cushions torn, the tires all wrapped with wire; it's been turned over thirteen times, and twice it's been afire. I sprung the axle badly once, in running over a cat; the hood's been lost for most six month. I don't know where it's at. One fender's torn completely off (I ran into a tree); the fan won't work, but I don't care, that doesn't bother me. For when she feels exactly right and everything's in trim, she'll hit a speed of forty per, that's true, so help me Jim! Every one knows the dear old bus for many miles around; and she's been stalled in each mud hole from my place into town. The its expenses keep me broke, and takes most all my yen, if any gent should steal the thing, I'd send him to the pen. But I am not at all afraid that such fate will befall; for there is no one else but me can make her go at all. And tho to get her started off is sometimes quite a task, she takes me there and brings me back, so what more could I ask?

Ed Dunham says the burglar's motto seems to be "Where there's a till there's a way."

It is not for us to criticize those birds who insist that their ancestors were monkeys.

If a bee can sting like the devil on a diet of honey what would he do on a diet of lemon juice?

E. B. Hall says many are called but few get up.

One good thing about those small mustaches anyway is that they don't droop.

"So your son's a contractor. What kind?"
"Debt."

John D. says he wants to live until he is 100 years old because "life is so filled with interest." Most men want to die for the same reason—they get tired paying it.

They'll Play Football Next

Polo and football are two sports that men have long considered too strenuous for women, but look at this picture. Women at Buntingby, England, not only play polo matches among themselves, but play against the men.

FOOTBALL GETTING READY TO KICK OFF FOR SEASON OF 1922

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 24.—Football is getting ready to kick off for the 1922 season and, in a short time, the gridiron game will edge baseball out of the sporting spotlight.

Although practice at the Pacific coast conference schools cannot start until September 15, most of the varsity candidates will be out in uniform when the universities and colleges open late this month and early next month.

University of Santa Clara probably will play the first game of the season when it meets the team from the U. S. S. California on Admission day, September 9. Not until September 30 will the largest colleges swing into action.

A tentative schedule follows:

Sept. 20.—University of Washington vs Ninth Army corps at Seattle; University of California vs Santa Clara at Berkeley; University of Idaho vs Gonzaga University at Moscow.

Oct. 7.—University of Oregon vs Willamette university at Eugene; Washington State college vs Ninth Army corps at Pullman; Stanford university vs the Olympic club at Stanford; California vs the University of Redlands at Berkeley; Washington vs University of Montana at Seattle; Idaho vs Whitman college at Walla Walla; University of Southern California vs Pomona college at Claremont.

Oct. 14.—Oregon Agricultural college vs Willamette university at Corvallis; Washington vs Idaho at Seattle; Washington state vs Gonzaga at Spokane; California vs St. Mary's at Berkeley; University of Southern California vs University of Arizona at Los Angeles; Stanford vs Santa Clara at Stanford; University of Nevada vs Occidental college at Reno; Oregon vs Multnomah club at Eugene.

Oct. 21.—Washington state vs Idaho at Moscow; Oregon vs Whitman at Pendleton or Eugene; Oregon Aggies vs Washington at Seattle; Stanford vs St. Mary's at Stanford; California vs the Olympic club at Berkeley; Nevada vs U. S. C. at Los Angeles; Multnomah vs Gonzaga at Portland.

YOUR MONEY OR YOUR LIFE

The other day when I reached home I said unto my wife, "I know you will be happy, dear, I've just insured my life. And so, if I should meet my death tomorrow, let me say, A check for fifty thousand Will be yours that very day." I knew 'twould make her happy. So I took her by the hand And waited for the answer— And she said "Won't that be grand!"

Episcopal Convention Meets on September 6

CHICAGO, Aug. 23.—Continuance of the revision of the book of common prayer and plans for carrying on the nation-wide campaign started three years ago are among the important questions of legislation to come before the triennial general convention of the Episcopal church which opens in Portland, Ore., September 6. The convention is expected to be in session from fifteen to twenty days.

There has been a commission on the prayer book revision for some years, and at each convention some definite progress has been made in the enrichment of the book on common prayer. Any change, however, must be approved by both the house of bishops and the house of deputies at one convention, referred to the various dioceses for their consideration, and then must come before both houses of the succeeding convention for final approval. No change therefore, can be made in the prayer book that has not been brought before the whole church for consideration.

President to Receive Copy of Magna Charta

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 24.—President Harding is to receive a beautifully framed copy of Magna Charta from the Magna Charta Day association. It was announced today by J. W. Hamilton of St. Paul, founder and secretary of the association.

The copy, which will be 22 by 30 inches, will show the seals of the barons who participated in the signing of the document, and it will be in colors.

A small brass plate, outlining the presentation to the president as the honorary president of the Magna Charta Day association, is attached to the frame.

A copy of the Magna Charta also will be presented to Governor E. Lee Trinkle of Virginia, in recognition of his act as the first governor to issue a proclamation calling for observance of Magna Charta day.

Jack: You should have seen Helen run that quarter-mile.
Delbert: What did she run it in?
Jack: I'll be darned if I know what you call 'em.

THE LIBERTY

L. J. Gasnier's unusual production, "A Wife's Awakening," distributed by R-C Pictures corporation, comes to the Liberty theatre tonight. It deals with the devotion of a wife to her erring husband, depicts how she fights to save him from ruin, even placing her own reputation under a cloud and in the end receiving nothing but his condemnation. It is an intensely human tale with Fritzi Brunette doing quite the most effective work of her career as the wife, and Sam De Grasse playing the unsympathetic part of the husband with high artistry. Others in the cast are William Probert Carleton, well known leading man; Beverly Travers and Edythe Chapman.

THE STRAND

That a reduction of price to the old pre-war figure is profitable is shown by the attendance at the Strand since the price has been cut to ten cents for everybody. Last night and the night before every seat in the house was filled and there were a number who were turned away.

Manager Ted White has the right idea. "Many sales and small profits" is no new idea but there are but few in business who have the courage to put the idea into practice. Those who do find the old order changed and the red ink bottle is thrown into the discard.

The ten cent admission fee will be tried out for three days of the week, Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays. Later it may be extended to cover the entire week.

Tonight the big double bill goes on at 6:30 and again at 8:30 but the price remains ten cents to everybody.

THE STAR

"Bought and Paid For" was greeted by a large audience at the Star theatre last night who seemed to enjoy this thrilling play according to the amount of applause it received. The Hildebrand company are surely making a name for themselves with local plays as each new play they present brings out a new find in the company ranks. Last night it was Hildebrand's chance to show his ability as an actor and to say that his characterization of Robert Stafford was good would be making it mild.

Miss Florence Underhill also makes a decided hit in the role of Virginia Blain and Jack Phipps and Violet Neitz are well casted as the Gilloys.

Between the acts very good vaudeville specialties were rendered by Al Pleau and Nick Baker.

"Bought and Paid For" will be repeated again tonight and on Friday and Saturday "Sis Hopkins" will be given. There will be a special childrens matinee on Saturday afternoon of "Sis Hopkins."

NEWSPAPER PRIZE CONTESTS MEET L. A. LIBRARY WORKING

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 24.—Prize contests featured by newspapers and advertisers in national magazines, participation in which involves the use of gazeteers, atlases, dictionaries, encyclopedias and other reference books, may bring both publicity and new business to the concerns which promote them, but they work a distinct hardship on the public library, according to Everett R. Perry, head of the Los Angeles public library.

"At times," said Perry, "the crowd of contestants working around our reference books has been so great that an ordinary patron of the place could not obtain access to the books at all. During the frenzy of a recent contest it became necessary to reserve the books a week in advance, even for an hour's use. A week or two of such service put the books in bad shape. Many of them had to be replaced at great cost."
