BY JUNIUS

"You can now buy little aluminum thingamabobs to insert in the ends of a roasting ear, thus doing away with the usual case of 'butter fingers' announces J. T. Perkins. 'Well buttered cheeks and chin are still fashionable in roasting ear time, however' and 'water-millon' is still eaten in the good old way.

YOU CAN SING THIS

It was a little lawyer man, Who softly smiled as he began, Her poor dead husband's will to scan.

He smiled while thinking of his fee, Then said to her quite tenderly, You have a nice fat leg-a-cy.

And when next day he lay in bed, With bandages upon his head, He wondered what on earth he'd said.

Here's a line on "imitation" from John Boyle:

"My little girl is very clever," said a woman to her guests. "She can imitate almost anyone."

"She can, indeed?" echoed the husband, proudly. "Come, my dear, show us what you can do. Pretend to be the housemaid."

The little girl bowed to one of the guests.

"Will you take any more chicken, ma'am, or a little more beef?" she asked politely.

Then she turned to another. "Shall I put the screen before your chair, ma'am?" she inquired. "The fire is very fierce."

At this the guests were greatly amused. "Go on, my dear," chuckled the proud father.

Backing away from her parents, she exclaimed in a terrified tone, "Sir, let me go! Don't touch me, sir! Give you a kiss, indeed! Supposing missus was to hear you?"

Then the clever little darling was suddenly bundled out of the room.

When a fast passenger train hit a wagonload of beer on a Homestead (Pa.) grade crossing, the engineer and fireman must have thought they were in a yacht blowing the foaming white capped billows.

Magie
All day long she sadly kept her bed; her brow with fever burned; She had a deep and constant dread, and wildly tossed and turned; Her husband came and broke the spell with tickets to a show; In seven seconds she was well and getting dressed to go.

The number of people in the United States who cannot speak English is less than two million. This includes train callers.

A TRUE RAT STORY

Auburntown, Tenn., 6-25-22.
Stearns Electric Paste Co., Chicago.
Dear Sirs: Mr. Robert T. Russell of Auburntown, Tenn., showed me one of the other day and wanted something to kill it, so I sold him a box Stearns Rat Paste. And he put some paste on six blouses that night and the next morning he found fifty-four big rats. And the second night he put out four more blouses with paste on them, and the second morning he found seventy more rats, making a total of seventy-four rats in two nights, and there were lots more that he did not find.

This is some big rat tale, but, however, it is true. Just thought would write to let you know that your rat paste is good.
Respectfully, KENNEDY BROTHERS.
