

SMALLEST KINGDOM IS DISCOVERED

Nualolo, in Remote Part of Island of Kauai, Has Standing Army of Three Men

HONOLULU, T. H., Aug. 26.—The kingdom that "died" but never was conquered; the kingdom with the smallest standing army on record, three men; the kingdom of Nualolo, behind its walls of mountain and surf in an almost forgotten corner of the island of Kauai, is being "rediscovered."

This ancient domain, the only part of Hawaii which King Kamehameha the great could not bring under his scepter when he routed all other rivals in battle and united the islands, has been reopened. A rope ladder once again dangles from the Nualolo cliffs in the identical place, fastened through the same holes cut in the rocks by the Hawaiian warriors of long ago.

The kingdom of Nualolo is on the northwest coast of the island of Kauai of the Hawaiian group, in the heart of a wonderful precipice section which rises abruptly from the sea in almost perpendicular cliffs from 2,500 to more than 3,000 feet in height. It comprises nine valleys, three large and six small, each ending at the sea in a precipice.

There are only three practicable ways of getting into this old domain. One is by a dangerous trail upward from the ocean front, a second is by another and steeper trail over the mountains from the land side and the third and last is by rope ladder from Nualolo beach and thence over a narrow winding path, cut out of the rock, where a misstep means a fall to death. The latter route recently has been reopened by the placing of a new rope ladder where its predecessors hung many years ago.

When Nualolo maintained its independence in the face of the advances of the Great Kamehameha, before the days of high explosives and airplanes, three men only were needed to keep its gates. An old Hawaiian, named Ka, has given the following graphic description of Nualolo's simple but effective method of defense.

"One guard sat at the top of the Homopi beach precipice with a pile of rocks at his side. Only one enemy at a time could climb the trail and in case of attack the guard dropped a stone on the head of each enemy as he appeared from below, or smashed his fingers with a rock as they clutched the overhanging ledge.

"At Nualolo, where the trail is up a ladder, one guard was stationed at the top of the ladder with a stone axe. As each hostile head appeared the axe came into play.

"On the Kamale trail from above on the land side, a guard with a pole waited in a niche in the cliff out of sight of the approaching enemy. When the latter came within reach along the narrow pathway the guard would give him a shove with the pole and a 2,000 foot drop did the rest."

Locked behind their barriers of towering mountains and pounding surf, the people of Nualolo developed a system of agricultural irrigation which remains to this day as a tribute to their industry and engineering ability.

According to Dr. H. E. Gregory, of the Bishop Museum, Honolulu, no finer irrigation system ever has been worked out by the Hawaiians that of the ancient valley kingdom. Every available foot of the steep valleys was made productive.

Very few persons have been able to get into the old kingdom during the past three-quarters of a century, but the recent placing of the rope ladder near Nualolo beach is expected to end Nualolo's decades of isolation and reopen its historic terraces and trails once again to the foot of man.

TOKIO, Aug. 26.—The life insurance contracts concluded in Japan during the first five months of the year amounted to 283,675,600 yen, indicating an increase of 35,800,000 yen over the corresponding period of the preceding year.

Horseshoes bring good luck if they happen to be on the foot of the winner.

SOCIETY

Harold Grey, popular young business man of this city, returned home from Portland last night after a two week absence, bringing with him his bride, who was Miss Grace Ittge, of Pendleton, Oregon. The many friends of Mr. Grey were greatly surprised as he said nothing about the purpose of his trip to Portland. This wedding is the termination of a college romance, both the young people having attended the University of Oregon where they met and became engaged. Mrs. Grey is a member of the Phi Omega sorority and Mr. Grey of Phi Gamma Delta. They have taken an apartment in the Lorenz building and will be at home to their friends there.

Mrs. E. B. Hall entertained for the Auction Bridge club on Wednesday at a most delightful afternoon. Bridge was the diversion of the day and dainty refreshments were served at the close of the games.

Preparations are underway for the wedding tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, of Miss Myler Calkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Calkins, and George Stevenson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Stevenson of Eugene. The affair will be held at the home of Miss Calkins' parents, in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives. The rooms are to be decorated in a profusion of flowers and greens. Miss Clara Calkins, sister of the bride-to-be, will be her only attendant, while Edward Geary, cousin of Mr. Stevenson, will act as best man. Both the principals are well-known throughout Klamath county, having spent the greater part of their lives here. They attended the University of Oregon, where Miss Calkins was a member of Phi Beta Phi, national woman's fraternity, and Mr. Stevenson a member of Beta Theta Pi. At the close of the ceremony the newly-weds will leave in their car for Shasta Springs. After a few days there they will go on to San Francisco and Yosemite National park. They expect to be gone about a month and on their return will be at home to their friends at their ranch on the west side of Klamath lake.

On Friday Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Hall were hosts at a luncheon for the Rotary club. Covers were laid for 22 members of the club at a table in the sun parlor of the Hotel Hall annex. Lovely bowls of fall flowers centered the table and were placed at advantageous places about the room.

Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Albertson were hosts at a charming dinner at their home in Pelican City last evening when they entertained for Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Pike and their guests, Mrs. and Miss Pierce, who are spending the summer here from their home in Providence, Rhode Island.

The Japanese consider salted whale meat a delicacy. The whales are caught off the coast of Korea, and the flesh and blubber are cut up and sent to Japan for sale as food.

HE'LL MAKE YOU LAUGH

Mr. Nick Baker, who is accountable for many of the laughs with the Hildebrand Company at the Mar.

Christian Science Society

OF KLAMATH FALLS

Library Bldg., 3rd and Main

Sunday School from 9:15 to 10:15

Every Sunday Morning

Subject for Sunday, August 27,

"CHRIST JESUS"

Free reading room and free lending library open from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays

MIRACLE MONEY

2 Reels of Film TAKEN IN CHINA

Describing the medical work of our Foreign Representatives

Sunday 8:00 P. M.

Admission Free — Silver Offering

Morning Service

Pastor Preaches At 11:00 A. M.

Presbyterian Church

Sixth and Pine Sts.

Methodist Episcopal Church

(Corner Tenth & High Streets)

Program Sunday, August 27, 1922

Sunday School 10 A. M.

(Average Attendance for the Summer 1921)

Morning Church Service 11 A. M.

Pastor's Subject "Ministry of Usefulness"

Epworth League 7 P. M., Mrs. Halferty of Alaska Leader

Evening Church Service 8 P. M.

Dr. S. A. Danford, Speaker

Read This Letter

It tells you how a new business opened in Klamath Falls and "arrived" with a worth-while trade inside of thirty days

Klamath Falls, Ore., Aug. 22, 1922.

The Evening Herald,
Klamath Falls, Ore.
Gentlemen:

Opening our business July 15, just about a month ago, we have in that short time grown to where the three people in this store can scarcely wait upon the customers and we have arranged for additional help. Our sales frequently run above $1000 a day.

We place as the reasons for our success two things as most important. One is our advertising in The Herald and the second is our living up to our advertisements with fair prices and good service.

We have done no other advertising than what has been given The Evening Herald and we are convinced that your paper reaches all parts of Klamath county and over the line into California. It seems certain to us that practically everyone within this field reads The Herald. At least they read our advertisement when it appears in your paper.

We appreciate the service you have rendered us in the building up of a new business in Klamath Falls.

Very truly yours,
Santford & Company.
By SANTFORD JONES.

ANY business in Klamath Falls that is a legitimate business can be made a bigger and a better business by advertising. If you are not getting all the business you want, or even if you are, and wish to hold that business, it is necessary to advertise.

MONEY expended for advertising is no more an expense than is that money which you spend for labor-saving machinery. Advertising reduces your overhead percentage.

CONSIDERABLE OF THIS
NEW BUSINESS USED TO GO
TO MAIL ORDER HOUSES
ELSEWHERE.

AN ADVERTISING MERCHANT HELPS HIMSELF AND ENTIRE COMMUNITY.

The Big Businesses Everywhere Are the Big Advertisers