MUST DIP BUCK SHEEP 2 TIMES

Order Just Issued by State Board to Prevent Spreading of Disease

All bucks in the state of Oregon which have been at any time with other sheep which have developed scabies during the calendar year 1922, and all bucks which have used ranges used by sheep which have developed scabies, must be dipped twice in an officially approved solution, according to an order just issued by the state live stock sanitary board.

OREGON STATE LIVESTOCK SANITARY BOARD

Whereas, Scab infected sheep have been dipped during the year again in Crook, Deschutes, Lake, Klamath and Jackson counties, in the central Oregon district of the state, and

Whereas, bucks held and grazed in this district are likely to be the source of continuing the scabies infection because of their being more difficult to free and cure of sheep scab than are ewes or lambs, and

Whereas, because of the herding and mingling together of bucks of several owners, sheep scab infection is likely to be conveyed to a number of different bands of sheep, if infection is present in any of the bucks in this district, and

Whereas, Section 12, Chapter 223, of the Laws of 1907, provides in part as follows:

"The state sheep inspector and his deputies and the officials of the United States bureau of animal industry shall have authority to inspect and quarantine and treat sheep affected with contagious or infectious disease, or suspected of being so affected."

Now, therefore, We, the State Livestock Sanitary board constituting ex officio the Oregon Board of Sheep Commissioners, do hereby order that

All bucks in the State of Oregon which have been at any time with other sheep which have developed scabies during the calendar year 1922, and all bucks which have used ranges or have been held on premises used by other sheep which have developed scabies at any time during the calendar year 1922, must be dipped twice in an officially approved solution under state or federal supervision between August 15, 1922, and November 15, 1922, and in any event before said bucks are allowed to mingle with ewe bands.
