

The Office Cat

BY JUNIUS

Business Notes

During the coming year nearly 5,000,000 people will think happiness as quoted f. o. b. Detroit.

Must Have Been

I once knew a man that stayed home with his wife every night for thirty years.

Ah! that was true love! No. That was paralysis.

FISHIN'

By Barney Chambers

I jes' set here a-dreamin' A-dreamin' every day, Of the sunshine that's a-gleamin' On the rivers—far away.

And I kinder fail to wishin' I was where the waters swish, For if the Lord made fishin' Why—a feller orter fish!

While I'm studyin', or a-writin' In the dusty, rusty town, I kin feel the fish a-bitlin'— See the cork a-goin' down.

So I not an' fall to wishin' I was where the waters swish; For if the Lord made fishin' Why—a feller orter fish.

Isn't it funny, the spectacle of an old soak whining for light wines? It's a scream.

Household Hints

Every time you think about the coal strike, put three more moth balls in your winter underwear.

Modern Motor Mottos

Still motors run sweet. Home is where the car is. A soft tire turneth away cash. While there's gas there's hope. Fools pass on hills and curves. A wise driver maketh a glad auto. It is better to be slow than sorry. Declines make the wheels go faster. Dry springs squeak louder than "birds." To speed is human; to get caught a fine. As the wheel is bent, so the car will go. Where there's a nail there's a puncture. A body's as old as its paint; a motor's as old as it pulls. Spin and the world spins with you; stall and you stall alone.

O. D. Burke says by the time the meek inherit the earth probably the inheritance tax will have been repealed.

Why don't the poor players attend to the arguing and the getting put out of the game.

Caution

"John," she said, suddenly, "John, am I the only girl you ever kissed?" "Well," said John, manfully, "you're the only one I can remember of this moment darling."

The bridegroom at the wedding may be likened to a bridge over a river on a much traveled motor highway. The only way either can cause any comment is by not being there.

NOTICE

On and after this day, Aug. 29, 1922, I will not be responsible for any debts contracted by my wife, Vesta G. Frost.

WOMAN SAVED BY A DOG

MRS. FLORENCE KESTER AND "COLLIE IM"

Mountaineer's Wife, By Trick, Escapes Man Who Killed Her Husband in Mountains

By Nea Service.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Aug. 29.—A faithful dog, lying outside the door of a lonely mountain cabin, is credited with saving the life of Mrs. Florence Kester and bringing about the arrest of a man, accused of slaying her husband.

A snore from "Collie Jim," and the woman's quick wit drove the slayer away. And then Mrs. Kester, half-clothed, escaped by running barefooted in the night across three miles of the San Diego mountains to the main highway.

The man, fleeing because he thought the noise the dog made was the husband, reviving from the clubbing he had received, was caught with the aid of the Scotch collie. He is in jail, and is said to have confessed to the sensational "moonshine murder."

Police say the two men had been engaged in the illicit whisky traffic at the mountain cabin and that in a quarrel the man under arrest killed the husband, Tom Kester, by beating him over the head with a pick handle. Then he attacked the 30-year-old wife.

The prisoner told police that before the murder he feared the dog would get him into trouble and he asked Mrs. Kester why she kept the year.

"Oh, I don't know," the girl replied, "but you know sometimes a dog will save a person's life."

Came the night of the murder—midnight, said Mrs. Kester: "Just after the murder of my husband, I was in the hands of that terrible man. I wondered then where the dog was.

"Finally, I heard him breathing, just outside the door. He was snoring like a human being. I thought for a moment how I could make the most of that. My husband was lying outside, beaten to death.

"Then I thought if I could make that man believe Tom was coming back, I could escape. The dog gave me the very chance. I waited until he gave a loud snore.

"Tom's coming back," I screamed.

"He heard the dog snore once—then he ran. And I escaped across the mountains in my bare feet. I owe my life to this dog."

GERMANY DISCARDS FAVORITE POSTAGE STAMP OF KAISER

BERLIN, Aug. 29.—One of the last remaining symbols of the old regime in Germany will pass away with the withdrawal of all postage stamps of the familiar "Germanic" type on October 21 next.

This striking design, first adopted in 1909, played a measurable part in fostering the militarist movement that brought disaster upon the Fatherland.

The original of the mail-clad figure of Germania was Fraulein Anna Fabian, of the Imperial opera, whose portrayal of the role so impressed the former Kaiser that he ordered her likeness to be placed upon the new postage stamps of the empire.

Since the establishment of the republic numerous protests have been lodged against the continuance of this design, and now that the new industrial series of stamps has been completed, instructions for its suppression have been issued.

MOVIES

THE STRAND

"Riders of the Dawn" at the Strand tonight is a picture that touches every motion in the heart's register. Love runs through it like a golden thread; we feel the hot flush that mounts to men's cheeks when they are in the presence of delicate women; we yield now to pity and now to joy. The time passes rapidly as we watch the action on the screen; impressions crowd upon us as the plot develops; we know that we are being entertained.

In the cast is Roy Stewart, manly, fearless, and withal gentle and tender; Claire Adams, a lovable type of American girlhood, richly endowed with good looks, but possessing something better than mere beauty—a charm of manner that is born of natural modesty; Joseph J. Dowling, the man who won fame by his impersonation of the "Miracle Man"; Robert McKim, the most popular villain and "cheater" of the screen.

THE STAR

"The Trail of the Lonesome Pine" was greeted by a large audience at the Star theatre last night and each member of the Hildebrand company scored in the characters assigned them.

This beautiful play will be given again tonight and "Paid in Full" will be the bill for tomorrow evening. New vaudeville will be introduced between the acts during the performance of "Paid in Full."

The company will bring its engagement to a close on Friday and Saturday nights when they will present the greatest play of the day "Do Foolish Wives Pay."

THE LIBERTY

Innocently sounding though the title is, and despite the fact that Mary Miles Minter has almost always been associated with roles of the "sweet sixteen" type, her latest Realart picture for Famous Players-Lasky distribution, "The Heart Specialist," possesses a dramatic punch seldom equalled upon the screen. It will be presented at the Liberty theatre today only.

The story tells of how a young romance writer, sent out by her editor to gain a new insight into the heart romances which she is writing, finds it in a surprising manner in a mere surprising place. But not until she has fought with crooks, matched wits with a half-crazed doctor, been thrown down a well and generally treated in such a way as to make the young man she ultimately wins, proud of her.

IN THE COURTS

Pellet vs. Pellet

F. E. Pellett filed suit for divorce from Inez E. Pellett, charging desertion. They have been married since 1891 and have five children, the eldest 20 and the youngest 12.

Price vs. Price

The divorce case of Jasper King Price versus Meche Price came up for trial this morning before Judge Leavitt, the plaintiff appearing in person with his attorney. After all evidence had been taken, Judge Leavitt took his case under advisement and will render a decision at some future date.

Jimmy Didn't Learn to Swim

Because his folks would never let him go near the water and for the same reason many a boy or girl will never study music—Their parents will neglect to get a piano and the services of a good Music Teacher.

Piano is the foundation musical instrument and you never have to carry it around with you because practically every worth while home has one.

Learn the piano first for its social aids are greatest and any small instrument is easily mastered after acquiring a good knowledge of music by means of a piano.

Our small first payments and thirty months time do away with all excuses for putting off purchasing until another year.

Let's talk piano now and start the school year right.
