

The Office Cat

BY JUNIUS

AFTER THE SHOW

They tempted me, my little car. For salesmen's talk is strong; They tempted me, dear little Ford, But I have flitted too long.

So let them keep their bargains rare, Each high-toned, high-priced car, I still will drive you, little Ford, And love you as you are.

A Recommendation

"I saw the doctor you told me to see."

"Did you tell him I sent you?"

"Yes, I did."

"What did he say?"

"He asked me to pay in advance."

When the Parson Edits

An editor out west recently went on a vacation and left a minister in charge of his paper. A day or two later a letter from "away back" subscriber came, which read: "You know dam well I paid my subscription the last time I was in your town. If I get any more such letters I will come down and maul hell out of you."

The minister answered: "I have been trying to maul that thing out of the editor for years, and if you come down and maul it out of him, then, dear sir, I have twenty members of my church you can operate on."

About Ben Adhem made his rep by loving his fellow men. The flap who tries it nowadays is called a vamp.

No man is beat till he quits. No man is through till he stops; No matter how hard failure hits—No matter how often he drops—A fellow's not down till he lies in the dust and refuses to rise.

Fate may slam him and bang him around And batter his frame till he's sore, But she can never say that he's downed While he bobs up serenely for more.

A fellow's not dead till he dies Nor beat till no longer he tries.

The Summer Ending

Ted—What's become of that little peach you were engaged to earlier in the season?

Ned—That peach is canned.

A Chicago man has been arrested because he was going from door to door in that town looking for a "sinless abode." Perhaps the cops were right. Looks as if the feller were crazy.

SPORTS

CUBS ARE WINNERS OVER LOST RIVER GIANTS BY ONE RUN

One of the best played games witnessed here this season, the Cubs at Madoc park yesterday nosed out victory over the Lost River Giants by the close margin of one run. Score, 4 to 3.

Excellent pitching backed by high-class fielding were features of the game which, considering the game played by the Giants, might as easily have gone to the valley players.

Next Sunday the Knights of Columbus and Cubs will cross bats. A week from Sunday the Giants and Cubs will play for the Klamath county championship.

FAMOUS PITCHER VISITS HOME TOWN

FACTORYVILLE, Pa., Sept. 11.—While visiting at the home of his parents here recently, Christy Mathewson, whose mighty right arm turned back team after team in the National league, and who is slowly recovering from a lung affection, lived his boyhood days all over again.

Factoryville, where "Big Six" was born, is a rural village nestling between green hills and surrounded by farms and fields of wild flowers. During his visit "Matty" recalled the days of his youth and took delight in roaming the hills and fields with men, who, as boys, were his playmates.

The once famous pitcher is a lover of wild flowers and while here added 26 varieties to his already large collection. When moving picture men came to Factoryville to "get" Christy, they found him in a field with a clergyman gathering flowers.

Santa Clara Is First To Start Football

SANTA CLARA, Cal., Sept. 11.—Santa Clara University is the first college in the west officially to start its 1922 football season, its squad being already out on the field under the direction of Coach Buckingham. Andy Kerchhoff of Covina is captain of the team.

Manager Question Is Puzzling Seattle Fans

SEATTLE, Wash., Sep. 11.—Seattle baseball fans are wondering who will manage the local club in the Pacific Coast league next season. Seattle has had no permanent manager for years and many are hoping that the owners will give Jack Adams, who at present holds the post an opportunity to carry on with the club again next year. Adams is popular with the players and liked by the fans.

Kidding Nick Altrock, coach of the Washington nine, is like monkeying with a buzz saw. There's always a bar.

Comeback. It makes little difference whether his team's losing or winning, the famous comedian laughs.

At the whole show. His antics are often the brightest spots of the game, at home and on the road.

MOVIES

THE LIBERTY

"Sisters," truly a wonderful motion picture, which was made from the novel by Kathleen Norris, which is showing at the Liberty theatre, is a lesson which every boy and girl, man and wife, and prospective couples should see. It shows the greatness of love and the splendor of a woman's courage.

It pictures more than a dozen sermons could preach or a million books explain that the home is the rock on which the nation is founded. It goes to the root of the domestic trouble and depicts in a clear-cut manner the reason why the foundation of American life is threatened. It is not a preachment but a vivid story of how one courageous wife fought to hold her husband from a selfish sister and why divorce is such a cowardly thing. Final showing tonight.

THE STRAND

Tonight the final showing of "The Great Alone," will be given at The Strand and it is expected that the house will be crowded as those who filled the auditorium all yesterday afternoon and evening are enthusiastic to the highest point.

Monroe Salisbury is at his best in this picture which features the snow covered wastes of Alaska and the football field in the Stanford stadium where sixty thousand people witnessed the great game between the University of California and Stanford last November.

The football scenes are not faked but are the actual scenes taken while the game was in progress and of the rosters' sections of the great audience.

Tomorrow and for the two days following that the price at The Strand will be ten cents to everybody.

Former Sprinter to Be High School Coach

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 11.—Morris Kirksey, one of the greatest sprinters developed in the west in recent years, won his last race as an amateur at the Far Western Invitational Track meet at Sacramento, Cal., this month when he surprised his friends by defeating his teammate and rival, Eddie Sudden, in the 220-yard dash.

For three seasons Kirksey has competed for Stanford university and when he was at his best he was considered second only to Charles W. Paddock, Los Angeles, the world's fastest human. Kirksey held the national intercollegiate sprint championship several seasons.

Injuries cut down Kirksey's speed last spring and in the "big meet" between Stanford and the University of California he failed to place in the 220-yard dash. Had he placed, as expected, Stanford would have won the meet. Now that Kirksey has completed the course at Stanford he has been engaged to teach and coach athletics at the Santa Rosa, Cal., high school. When he goes to Santa Rosa this week he will be classed in the professional ranks and no longer will be able to compete as an amateur.

HUSUAN TUNG TIRES OF ISOLATION IN FORBIDDEN CITY

PEKING, Sept. 11.—Hsuan Tung, whose abdication as emperor in 1912 ended the Manchu dynasty, is described by the Chinese press as becoming tired of his isolation. Hsuan is in his seventeenth year. He lives in a palace within the Forbidden City and, although he must often hear the noises from the busy streets just outside of his wall, he is virtually a prisoner, having only twice, it is said, seen the sights of the Chinese capital. Under the terms of his abdication Hsuan was given unusual privileges by the Chinese republic.

He was permitted to maintain a court with all its royal appurtenances including about 2,000 servants. The republic agreed to pay him $4,000,000 Mex. annually for expense as a condition of his abdication. The financial plight of the republic made these payments impossible with the result that in the last ten years the "Boy Emperor," as he is still called, has received only $600,000. His plea for the remittance of $39,400,000 still due as "imperial household expenses" have gone unanswered. This is said to have increased his desire to change his mode of living.

Hsuan's English and American tutors describe him as a diligent student. He has a keen desire to see something of the world. One of his diversions is to write on a typewriter of American make. In June 1917 an attempt was made to restore the monarchy in China, Hsuan sat on the Dragon Throne for just one week. That episode is thought to have ended forever the chance of restoring the monarchy, in China.

BOY COVERS ENTIRE HIGH SCHOOL COURSE IN FOURTEEN MONTHS

BERKELEY, Cal., Sept. 11.—Covering an entire high school course in 14 months is the record of Frank Boyle, who arrived in California from Ireland 18 months ago and today is a freshmen student at the University of California.

Finding when he arrived here that the gold nuggets he expected to find on the streets were not in evidence after all, he got a job as copy boy in a San Francisco newspaper office. At night he attended high school classes, his diligence enabling him to pass the matriculation examinations at the university with flying colors.

Night Golfing Is Latest Innovation

HOOD RIVER, Ore., Sept. 11.—Night golfing is an innovation at a big hotel on the Columbia river near here. A clock golf course, really a series of putting greens, was laid out on the lawn in front of the hotel, which, at night, are flooded with light from giant shower lights on the hotel tower.

SCHOOLMA'AMS IN MEXICO APPROACH FLAPPERESQUE TYPE

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 11.—Time-honored conception of the typical schoolma'am—sharp features, spectacles, hair tightly coiled in a knot at the top of the head—has been pleasantly corrected here during the past few weeks by the more than 1,000 young women school teachers from the United States who have been taking special summer courses in Spanish at the national university.

Almost "flapperesque", but not too much so, they cluttered up the downtown streets every afternoon when classes were over to do their window shopping. What with swagger sticks and sport clothes and startling coiffure, they presented a charming array of American womanhood that gave the "fliffs", those self-appointed judges of all feminine beauty in Mexico City, some hectic moments.

The young women came from all parts of the United States. From Maine and down the coast to Florida and from Washington to Los Angeles and from the middle west they flocked here at the close of school terms in the states to gain an intimate knowledge of the Spanish language by studying it in its native haunts. The Mexican government provided a number of courses in Spanish and supplementary studies, and also furnished free transportation from the border to Mexico City and return. There were a few men teachers along but their numbers were negligible.

Banks—New Washington county bank building completed.

Hood River—$1,250,000 hydroelectric system under construction.

Advertising Is the Sunlight of Business. To all that is healthy and vital in business, it means increased strength and growth; but advertising is a fierce heat which withers and consumes that which is unsound. A business which is not a good business should not be advertised. A business which would not benefit from widespread appreciation of its ideals had better acquire a new set of ideals.
