

PLAN OBSERVE 17TH

Constitution Day to Be Marked by Patriotic Program

A letter was received this week by Judge A. L. Leavitt from Charles H. Carey, president of the state bar association, in connection with the celebration of Constitution Day, September 17, asking that the members of the bench and bar take an active part in the program of that day in co-operation with the sons and daughters of the American revolution.

Judge Leavitt, following the instructions from President Carey, suggests that any attorney asked to speak before school assemblies Friday make an effort to do so.

Sunday there will be a joint meeting of all churches in the Presbyterian church. The main speaker on this occasion has not been definitely decided upon as yet, but the committee, headed by Captain O. C. Applegate, will ask Fred A. Baker to deliver the address if he returns from Portland in time to do so.

Special music, of a patriotic character, is being arranged to fill out the program Sunday night.

Indian Boy Was Curious

Broken Head Was Result

The curiosity of Jacen Charley, a young Indian residing near Chiloquin, gained for him an injured head the first of this week when Frank Adams, owner and manager of a road show struck the boy with a club when he found him enjoying what the company had to offer through a hole in the tent.

Charley, not caring to go to any expense for his amusement, tore the hole in the tent, it is alleged, and thus brought Adams in all his wrath out into the night with the determination to squelch the intruder's interest in the show.

Deputy Henry Shadley responded to the alarm and took the owner and his show into custody, put Adams in jail and held him there until next morning in lieu of $100 bail. Upon appearing before Justice Snook the man was fined $25 and his show property returned to him. Glad to be free of the whole affair, the show company moved on to Yainax and other small towns in the county.

THE LIBERTY

Those clever young artists Edna Murphy and Johnnie Walker, co-starring in Fox pictures, are to pay us a visit, at the Liberty theatre today in "Extra! Extra!" which is described as an absorbing love story with an abundance of live action scattered through it. It deals with up-to-the-minute newspaper enterprise as applied to big business and high finance, and from this the romance develops. Among the characters are editors, reporters, millionaires and a very charming girl who is secretary to one of the millionaires. One of the incidents shows a youthful reporter swimming out to an anchored yacht in his zeal to obtain important facts for his paper.

THE STRAND

What has been declared to be one of the most extraordinary pictures ever made will be shown at the Strand tonight, "God's Crucible." It is called—the screen version of Ralph Connor's novel, directed by Henry Alexander MacRae and released by Hodkinson.

The story tells of a young political refugee who flees to Winnipeg to escape his enemies, and there, amid the snow-capped grandeur of the Canadian Rockies, wins fame and happiness. Those who have read the novel know that the action moves along at a swift pace from start to finish, and it is said that the picture is vastly more engrossing than the book.

The admission price for this great picture has been made ten cents for everybody. Where can you spend an evening more profitably?

VAUDEVILLE TOMORROW

Cully and Clare, in a dancing, singing and comedy talking performance, will occupy the stage of The Strand tomorrow evening.

Manager White states that this will be one of the best vaudeville shows of this type that he has ever had at The Strand and he is preparing for crowded houses while these artists are the attraction.

Further details of the evening's program will be announced in the regular advertisement of The Strand in Thursday's Herald.

VOLSTEAD WILL BE OPPOSED BY SAME MAN HE DEFEATED

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 12.—Congressman Andrew J. Volstead, father of the prohibition enforcement act, will be opposed for reelection in the November election by the man who defeated him in the primary two years ago.

This contest in the seventh Minnesota congressional district rivals in interest the three-cornered fight for the United States senatorship, in which a woman—Mrs. Anna Dickie Oleen—has been setting the campaign pace for her two male opponents.

Prohibition is not an issue in the contest involving Volstead, for he will be opposed by the Rev. O. J. Kvale of Boston, who declares himself "as dry as Volstead with a little to spare." Mr. Volstead has the endorsement of the Republican district convention, while both the Democratic and the Farmer-Labor conventions endorsed the candidacy of Rev. Kvale. In 1920, as the candidate of the Non-Partisan league seeking the Republican nomination, Rev. Kvale nosed out Mr. Volstead in the June primary by 17-

369 votes to 15,959. Then charges of violation of the state corrupt practices act against Rev. Kvale were sustained, the nomination was declared vacant, and the Republican district committee selected Mr. Volstead as the Republican candidate.

With the approach of the fall election that year, the Kvale faction circulated petitions that enabled him to file as an Independent, and a three-cornered race—a Democratic candidate having entered—Volstead polled 36,822 votes; Kvale 35,370, and the Democratic candidate, 5,358.
