

WAR CLOUDS COVER EUROPE

GREAT BRITAIN PREPARING FOR DRIVE ON TURK

Grave Warning of Disaster Is Issued By Former Viscount Grey

LONDON, Sept. 21.—A grave warning of disaster to come unless Great Britain and France act in concord in the Near East is uttered by Viscount Grey, former secretary of foreign affairs. In a letter to the Times he denounces the British government's attitude, regarding permanent freedom of the Dardanelles as a terrible mistake, "their reply which has been the withdrawal of French soldiers from Channak."

Kemal Pasha has sought permission of the Allies to occupy part of Thrace immediately, and discuss the question of the status of the Dardanelles later in connection with the general peace problem with the participation of all the Black Sea countries.

This touches the crux of the whole question. There may possibly be an agreement between Great Britain, France and Italy on the question of the neutrality of the straits and a further agreement that Constantinople shall eventually be returned to the Turks under certain conditions. But on the question of the future of Thrace, outside the neutral zone, such an agreement is lacking. Kemal Pasha seemingly takes the view that there is nothing in the maintenance of the neutrality of the straits and the neutral zone to prevent his forces from pursuing the defeated Greeks into those portions of Greece outside of the neutral zone.

Lack of Agreement
The British contention is that under no circumstances will the Turks be allowed to cross into Europe until peace has been settled. But it is not certain that France sees eye to eye with Great Britain in this matter.

The fact that France and Italy are withdrawing their detachments from this region would indicate that there is a lack of agreement and that Great Britain may be called upon to act alone. In that case it is understood parliament will forthwith be summoned, so that the nation may have a voice in the important question of peace or war.

In official circles in London it is not anticipated that there will be any early peace conference. It is understood that the instructions given to Lord Curzon by the cabinet on the general line of policy are to intimate very frankly to Poincare that if France refuses to participate in necessary action in the Near East, she may stand to lose, as she did many years ago when she refused to join England in the bombardment of

WOMAN'S CELL OF JAIL RENOVATED ON PLEA OF BEND MAN

Attorney for Ollie Blowers Brings House-Cleaning as Result of Motion Urging Haste

The woman's cell of the city jail is no longer unfit for a woman prisoner. The walls, formerly dingy and marked with obscene scribbles and drawings, are shining with a new coat of whitewash.

This change, strangely enough, is attributed to a non-resident, W. P. Myers of Bend, attorney for Mrs. Ollie Blowers, who is held in the city jail charged with first degree murder in connection with the death of Tom Montoya, a Mexican sheep herder.

Believing the grand jury was not acting quickly enough on Mrs. Blowers' case, Myers filed motion calling for a speedy decision. He cited the fact that the woman's cell of the city jail is not fit place for a woman, that the walls are covered with obscene writings and that one in the cell is forced to listen to the obscene language of male prisoners in an adjoining part of the jail.

Whether Myers' motion resulted in speeding up the grand jury is not known, but the renovated cell is evidence that the plea had some effect.

CLINIC HOURS NAMED

Sessions Will Be Held Two Hours In Both Morning and Afternoon

The hours of the child clinic, to be held in the American Legion rooms, Tuesday, September 26, will be from 10 to 12 a. m. and 1 to 4 p. m. It was announced today. The clinic will be conducted by Dr. Estella Ford Warner, head of the state child hygiene department, aided by Mrs. Blakely, state advisory nurse.

Examination of children who are ill will not be undertaken, it was said and none but normally healthy children will be admitted. This is because of the danger of spreading infectious disease. An effort will be made to name the most perfect child present and a prize may be awarded to the winner.

The clinic will be open to children under school age.

TARIFF BILL SIGNED

New Measure Becomes Effective at Midnight Tonight

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—The president today signed the tariff bill, making it effective at midnight tonight. He also signed the Capper-Flacher bill, providing for regulation of trading in futures on the grain market.

BODY OF MINER WHO LEFT NOTE STILL MISSING

William Fessel Believed To Have Tried Escape In Other Workings

JACKSON, Sept. 21.—The body of William Fessel, who wrote the last message of the 47 miners entombed in the Argonaut mine, is missing.

It is believed that after writing on a slate rock with the flame of his carbide lamp the words "3 a. m. gas getting stronger," Fessel realized the bulkhead would not save the entombed men and attempted to make his escape in another location.

It is believed his body will be found and the search is being continued.

47 HEADSTONES TO BE MUTE REMINDERS OF JACKSON TRAGEDY

Community Grieves as Bodies of Miners, One By One, Are Buried In Cemetery

JACKSON, Sept. 21.—Forty-seven headstones, row on row in the Jackson cemetery, mark the resting places of the forty-seven miners who died of gas poisoning in the Argonaut mine some time August 28, a few hours after fire had blocked the main shaft of the mine.

Forty-seven coffins, one by one, were placed gently under the self-same ground which held for them such a cruel fate.

The community of Jackson and many relatives and friends of the victims of the Argonaut tragedy paid joint tribute to those who died at funeral services held today in the little hillside cemetery, not far from the scene of the tragedy. Men of three crowds, they were laid to rest with one service.

City Is Heartsick

Dry-eyed but heartsick, Jackson passed today almost in a state of semi-coma, slow to recover from the blow dealt by a realization that the 47 had died.

Since early Monday night, when all hope had been wiped out that any of the men were alive, the community has appeared as though stunned—more than 4 per cent of its adult population eradicated by one blow.

Whereas Monday the townsmen watched hopefully for each new word of progress in the rescue work, Tuesday it almost dully kept account of the progress made in removing the bodies of the entombed men from their underground crucible.

County in Mourning

Jackson is in mourning. All places of business are closed and flags fly at half-mast. In neighboring towns of the county flags are at half-mast as mute evidence of the sympathy which they extend to their neighbor.

In the homes of the bereaved families sit the wives and mothers of those who died in their line of duty. They sit silently, bearing their grief with that stanchness which is typical of the family of a man who braves such dangers as are presented by deep mining. With them sit members of the Amador Red Cross, lending that aid which only the unspoken word can give. And the children—they play almost unmindful of a tragedy the horror of which they will not begin to realize for years.

They'll Fight Ku Klux Klan

"The Invisible Jungle, Knights of the Tiger's Eye," a new secret order is being formed to combat the Ku Klux Klan. It is recruiting among the racial and religious elements said to be opposed by the Klan. Here's an initiation.

Tells How to Live Long Smoke Pipe, Her Advice

SHEFFIELD, Eng., Sept. 21.—Mrs. Ann Haykins has just celebrated her 103rd birthday by riding in a motor car for the first time. She attributes her longevity to plain living. She thinks that smoking tobacco also has something to do with it. She has smoked a pipe for 76 years.

STRIKE DECISION DEFERRED

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—Judge Wilkerson today deferred decision on the government's bill for an injunction against the striking railroad shopmen until Saturday and continued his restraining order until that time. He wished time to study the evidence, he said.

JACKSON DISASTER MAY BRING RADICAL CHANGE STATE LAWS

Investigation Will Naturally Follow, Avers Member of Industrial Commission

JACKSON, Sept. 21.—Radical changes in mining laws are likely to be framed as the result of the Argonaut mine disaster, irrespective of whether responsibility for it is ever fixed. This is the view of H. M. Wolfelin, superintendent of safety of the state industrial accident commission.

An investigation will naturally follow, Wolfelin said. Thus far nothing has been upturned to forecast what the inquiry will reveal. Wolfelin said he is satisfied at this time the Argonaut Mine company complied with the law.

"But the disaster has shown the need for changes in the law," he added.

"These changes will be based on those particular points in which the Argonaut disaster has shown the law to be inadequate."

More rigid inspection of mines, with better appropriations to provide for these, he indicated, might be expected to result.

WILL REDUCE LIQUOR

Concentration of 1,500,000 Gallons Plan of Dry Commissioner

CINCINNATI, Sept. 21.—Approximately one and a half million gallons of bonded liquor will be concentrated at a point near here if plans of federal prohibition commissioners are carried out. The liquor will be assembled from points in Indiana and southern Ohio, under the plan.

The internal revenue department for the first Ohio district reported a total of $81,855.7 gallons of liquor in warehouses on September 1. This district is comprised of a small section of southwestern Ohio. The prohibition commissioner for Ohio was unable to state the approximate gallons of bonded liquor in the southern Ohio territory, but the revenue office at Cleveland stated there was between 2,000 and 3,000 gallons in storage in his district.

There was about 605,000 gallons stored in the four bonded warehouses in Indiana, according to the revenue office at Indianapolis. The warehouses are located at Lawrenceburg, Vincennes, Terre Haute and Hammond.

100,000 FORD EMPLOYEES WILL RETURN FRIDAY

Coal Settlement Permits Resumption; 120,000 Others Affected

DETROIT, Sept. 21.—It was officially announced today that the plants of the Ford Motor company, which closed last Saturday because of the coal situation, throwing 100,000 employees out of work throughout the country, will reopen tomorrow morning.

Edsel B. Ford, president, said the cancellation of the interstate commerce commission's service order number 23 had made it possible to obtain coal.

This means the return of 100,000 others, employed at accessory plants, a total of 220,000.

WEED MILL ENLARGED

New Motors to Be Installed in Addition to Factory

WEED, Sept. 21.—The Weed Lumber company recently received a car load of motors. These motors will be used as machinery is installed in the addition to the factory, where all machines will be direct drive, doing away with line shafting and long belts for transmission.

The Weed Lumber company headquarters camp is slowly developing into a town. The company has built several hundred four-room cottages. There is an excellent hospital with a physician in charge. The company maintains a store employing several clerks. There is a large office building for officials and clerks.

The camp is six miles off the railroad a motor car being used to haul passengers over the lumber company road from the railroad to the camp.

The railroad siding, leading into the camp, is known as Leaf, while the postoffice, soon to be established at the camp, has been named Tennant.

BUYS TIMBER LANDS

Red River Lumber Company Will Extend Operations

WESTWOOD, Sept. 21.—The Red River lumber company has secured options from M. O. Folsom and Russell Brownell for the purchase of approximately 250 acres of land lying northeast of Susanville and comprising a portion of the Millwood tract and lands adjoining this tract on the north.

The company owns several thousand acres of timber land which is adjacent to Susanville and can be bought most conveniently milled at that point.

Susanville now has two large mills owned by the Lassen Lumber and Box company and the Fruit Growers' Supply company, with a combined output of 800,000 feet of lumber per day.

With a third mill, Susanville will become the greatest manufacturing town in Northern California.

JEWIS TO OBEERVE DAY

Jewish New Year Will Be Observed In At Suntown Friday

Jewish New Year, the beginning of the year 5683 since the Biblical date of the creation, will be ushered in at sundown Friday. Jews of Klamath Falls will observe the occasion with appropriate services.

The annual 10 days of repentance, during which all Jewish people review their lives in the year just past, and look forward to renewed glory for the year to come, will follow.

Yom Kippur, or the day of atonement, will be celebrated on October 1 as the close of the period of penitence. On that day all Jews will abstain from food for 24 hours.
