

HOW OLD IS NEW YORK CITY?

Hollanders Find Letter Purporting to show 300th Anniversary Should Be In 1926

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Out of the archives of 300 years ago, Hollanders have brought to light a letter with which the Netherlands chamber of commerce strengthens a claim that the celebration of the 300 anniversary of the founding of New Amsterdam, now New York, should be in 1926, rather than in 1924, as tentative plans announced.

Here is the letter, with its quaint and brief description of the spot where now 6,000,000 persons live; where the assessed valuation is $4,000,000,000 or $250,000 an acre; where the exports are 100,000,000,000 of the year of its founding: "Recep. 7 November, 1626. High and Mighty Sirs: Here arrived yesterday the ship The Arms of Amsterdam which sailed from New Nederland out of the Mauritius river (the Hudson) on September 23; they report that our people there are healthy and live peacefully. Their women also have borne children there; they have bought the island Manhattan from the wild men for the value of 60 guilders, is 11,000 morgens in extent. They showed all their grain in the middle of May and harvested it in the middle of August. Thereof being samples of summer grain, such as wheat, rye, barley, oats, buckwheat, canary seed, small beans, and flax. The cargo of the aforesaid ship is:

7246 Beaver skins, 178 1/2 Otter skins, 645 Otter skins, 48 Mink skins, 36 Cat skins, 33 Mink skins, 34 rat skins. Many logs of oak and nut wood.

Herewith High and Mighty Sirs be ye commended to the Almighty's grace.

In Amsterdam Nov. 5. Anno 1626. Your High Mightinesses' Obedient, P. Schagen."

The 60 guilders mentioned, at the present rate of exchange, amount to the $24 price of Manhattan known to every school boy; the "Mauritius river" is the Hudson, from whose waters, by the way, a giant air cruiser recently took flight for Brazil—the glorified descendant, 300 years apart, of the little ship that carried "Otter skins, Rat skins, and many logs of oak and nut wood."

L. Witter Van Hoogland, secretary of the Netherlands chamber of commerce in New York, points out in recommending 1926 as the year for the tercentenary celebration, that the earlier settlers, contrary to the belief of historians of years ago, probably settled in Fort Orange, now the city of Albany, while Manhattan remained a trading post until a group landed there as settlers in 1626.

TODAY'S FASHIONS

New Collar

The smart new collar is featured on this fall frock. It is made of organdie and extends far over the shoulders. The frock itself shows the circular side panels that are also marks of distinction.

Paris—A costume so quaintly old fashioned as to make one exclaim in surprise put in an appearance today among the autumn modes. It is a costume copied directly from the Shakers, though by the time the Rue De La Paix is done with it this frock becomes a thing of distinct gaiety. The material is a printed silk in bright greens and henna. At the waist and hem it is bound with green and green ribbons tie the wide white organdie cape collar, in front. The bodice is snug, the skirt circular, the sleeves almost non-existent. With this gown is worn a Shaker bonnet of henna set in and bound with green.

Paris—The bride of today wears a voluminous veil which not only covers her gown almost wholly but also trails many yards on the floor. The Russian coronet arrangement of the veil, so popular in the spring, has vanished. Instead the veil is fitted snugly to the head like a cap and held low over the forehead by a band of orange blossoms and pearls just above the eyebrows.

London—In spite of a determined effort to bring black into fashion again, it seemed likely today that browns, dull greens and blue will have chief place in color schemes for the fall. Black, however, is assured of a place among afternoon and evening costumes. It will not be the filmy black gown of a season ago, however. It will be a black gown daringly lifted to brilliance by a slash of flame or gold or a blazing bit of turquoise.

New York—Turquoise cloth combined with mauve georgette was used for the underthings in an early autumn trossau seen today. Nearly every garment was in reality two garments—one of each color—cleverly fastened together with narrow silver ribbon. The envelope chemise had a novel touch imported from Paris. Instead of ribbon straps over the shoulder, they had narrow silver chains which fastened with a jeweled clasp.

Paris—There is to be an abundance of fur trimmings upon cloth costumes this winter, particularly upon costumes of velour. So great is the vogue for furs that almost any skin is acceptable as trimming. But the truly fashionable pelts are Patagonian fox, Caracul, which is being dyed in various tones; Hudson seal, American opossum and wolf fur are high in favor also, especially gray astrakhan and gray fox.

New York—For the girl who does not wear corsets or is content with the narrowest of girdles, there is a new idea in undertakings. A brassiere of radium silk is one of the new shades of green or yellow is worn near to the skin. Over this is placed a girde, if any is worn. Above this goes a rather long, loose skirt-like garment, bound with ribbon in some contrasting shade, and over this a pair of stepin bloomers.

IF CHILDREN ARE LATE TO SCHOOL PARENTS FINED

CHARLOTTE AMELIA, St. Thomas, V. I., Sept. 22.—The Virgin Islands have the nearest to 100 per cent attendance in the public schools of any state, territory or possession of the United States, according to comparative statistics from Washington.

The school year which has just opened probably will show as high a percentage of attendance as last year, which was a fraction less than 99 per cent. It is not unusual for a school to report 100 per cent attendance week after week.

There is compulsory education for all children from six to 15 years of age. When a child is absent from school without proper excuse the parents are fined 20 cents for each day of absence. Parents are fined 10 cents for every time a scholar is tardy. When sickness is reported and the cause of absence, school nurses investigate, and only on certificates from these school nurses is the excuse of illness recognized. Simple treatment by the nurses frequently makes it possible for a child to return to the class room.

With this system of fines "playing hooky" is practically unknown in the Virgin Islands.

When the United States by purchase acquired by the Virgin Islands from Denmark in 1917, there was already a well established public school system, and it is estimated there was less than five per cent illiteracy in the island. The school system, however, then extended only to the sixth grade. Since then the seventh and eighth grades have been established generally, and two junior high schools have been opened, with the junior year being offered this year for the first time. In another year it is planned to establish the fourth and last year of high school study.

Children in the Virgin Islands are anxious to learn, according to School Director Nase, head of the insular system, and the collecting of fines for tardiness and absence does not yield more than $10 per month. This year there are 15 school teachers from the United States giving instructions in the island schools, while all of the other teachers are Virgin Islanders.
