Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schubert Jr. were hosts on Wednesday of this week at a duck dinner, the occasion being their second wedding anniversary. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schubert Sr., Mr. and Mrs. William Cheyne and two sons, William and Leland, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McPharren, Miss Pearl Reine, Miss Gladys Metaker, John Schubert, and Freddie Hale.

The women of the St. Paul's Episcopal Guild met Thursday of last week at the home of Mrs. O. D. Burka and along with the other business taken up the advisability of holding an apron party was discussed. Funds from the sale of the aprons would go toward their new church fund.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Chilcote were hosts Tuesday evening at a dinner, honoring the Rev. and Mrs. S. J. Chaney, who are leaving soon for Ashland.

Young women of the city are enjoying a new activity this fall with the opening of the swimming tank to them exclusively Monday evenings.

Last Monday was the first night for these swims and was enjoyed by a large number of school teachers and other young women of the city.

The Women's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church held its annual get-together luncheon Thursday in the church parlors. Luncheon was served at 1 o'clock to 30 guests who were seated around tables decorated in a profusion of red and yellow autumn flowers interspersed with greens. After the social time, the ladies adjourned to the fireplace room where after listening to a delightful solo by Mrs. Bert C. Thomas, regular business was taken up.

The Happy Hour club will meet on Tuesday of next week at the home of Mrs. Jennie Hurn, 439 Pine street.

A unique and interesting affair of the week was the home harvest party given by Mr. and Mrs. Sid Evans at their ranch a few miles out of town to a large number of their friends. From the corn husks and pumpkins used as decorations to the fried chicken and other dainties that appeared on the menu, everything was grown on the Evans' ranch. The guests left town before dinner Friday night driving out in cars. When they arrived they were shown into a house decorated with corn husks, pumpkins and candles, by their hostess and host. After the bountiful dinner, cards were enjoyed until a late hour by the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. L. Bradford and daughter, Mary Ellen; Mr. and Mrs. Percy

Evans, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Jay and son, Clifford; Mrs. Grace Bellman, Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. House, Mr. and Mrs. O. Brown; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Evans, Mrs. J. J. Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cofer and daughters, Helen and Ruth, and Mr. and Mrs. M. Caseboom.

The Tea Cup club of the Methodist church met on Thursday afternoon and passed a very pleasant afternoon. The affair was in charge of a committee composed of Mesdames L. Bradford, E. M. Chilcote, E. E. Hendricks and George B. Downing.

Thursday night of this week Mrs. C. B. Brown and Mrs. George L. Forge were joint hostesses at an evening bridge party. Dainty refreshments were served at the close of the games in rooms made lovely by fall flowers and greens. The guests upon this occasion were: Misses Clara Calkins, Florence Pfeuffer, Loreta Jennings, Ruby Fenwick, Alice Blackford, Elizabeth Keys, Charlotte Huntley, Mesdames N. T. Nelson, Horace Manning and T. A. Stevenson.

The P. E. O. Slaterhood met with Mrs. Sid Evans Tuesday evening for a social time. The husbands and friends of the members were present and a most enjoyable evening was passed playing 500. During the course of the party Miss Waive Drew gave an account of her year's sojourn in the Hawaiian Islands, illustrated by numerous pictures she had collected during that time.

The Art Needle Work club spent a profitable and interesting afternoon at the home of Mrs. Fred Fleet Tuesday of this week. This is one of the oldest clubs in the city, having been active for 12 or 13 years.

Mrs. W. P. McMillan was hostess at a farewell dinner Tuesday night honoring Mrs. Fred Wiggant, who expects to leave October 1, for her new home in Salem. Present were: Misses Pearl Collins, Anna Scofield, Faye West, Elizabeth Sullivan, Mrs. B. Brubaker, Floyd McMillan and Leo Finerman.

O'HENRY'S TOWN
CHARACTERS ARE FAST DISAPPEARING

LITHOPOLIS, O., Sept. 23.—Lithopolis of O. Henry fame, characters upon whom he loved to dwell in facetious manner, are no more, but it has the same "business district", the same four churches and its stone quarry remotely resembling an industry. You will look in vain for Lithopolis in the railroad time tables, but the paling fences on Columbus, South and Main streets do not harbor neighboring conversation.

The village's scenic atmosphere has changed but little in the years that have passed since O'Henry's "Letters to Lithopolis" were inspired back in 1903.

The recipient of these letters was Miss Mabel Wagnalls, whose mother, Mrs. Hester Wagnalls, and grandmother, Mrs. Mary Willis are buried in the beautiful little cemetery "on the hill on the road-out of town."

Miss Wagnalls' father, at one time a Lutheran minister, is the senior member of the publishing firm that bears his name. Miss Wagnalls now is Mrs. Richard Jones of New York. Alta Jungkurth, the "tombstone lady," is in Columbus. The Willis homestead, where Mabel Wagnalls visited, has burned down and the Lutheran church, which adjoined it, is building a parsonage on its site.

The drug store is still operated by T. S. Bennett and "indulges in literature on the side." The butcher and barber shops still grace the "business district" and the post-office remains the social center of the town.

One objection is voiced over the statement in the preface of the letters by Lithopolis people—that written by Mable Wagnalls saying "a new house is never added. Rather than do this, people leave the town, or die—it is cheaper."

Lithopolis people are proud of their town for its stimulus to the imagination of a genius—even for so brief a period—and they are proud of their former townspeople that so became noted. They live here because they love the town, they declare; the graveyard on the hill is held in reverent esteem, and they tell you that when they die, no matter where, they'd like to come back to Lithopolis.

The small boy's definition is not so bad. "Everlasting" is all that we know of time-plus. It applies only to God. Human achievements decay; only God is unchanging, his principles everlasting. If you want a helper who never falls tie up with the everlasting God.

WEST CHILOQUIN
The City With Future of Progress

An opportunity to invest a small amount of money in real estate which will soon be part of an active business city--the Greatest Mill Town of Klamath CHILOQUIN is destined to become the great mill town of Klamath County. Of all Chiloquin "West Chiloquin" promises to be the center of this rapid development.

WHY? It is situated along the west bank of the Williamson river gently sloping southward to the waterfront; It is provided with pure water and there is no pollution by drainage from any undesirable sections; the main road, rock-surfaced and well drained, passes through the townsite.

THE ONLY SCHOOL in the Chiloquin community is at West Chiloquin; it is less than one thousand feet to the S. P. depot. Today houses to rent are in great demand, and industries are needed and will soon be underway.

WEST CHILOQUIN

The long waited for opportunity has arrived. The place for Homes and for Business. Desirable lots are now being offered for $150.00 AND UP

And there are very few UP lots. You can purchase on terms if you desire.

This sale will last only 30 days from this date. All this property will be higher next spring when active building starts. Then the more desirable lots will be sold this fall.

Get in now while this property is DIRT CHEAP. Office on townsite is now being erected. See me or write

R. C. SPINK, Owner
Postoffice, Chiloquin, Ore.

The saw milling industry is the largest asset to this town and there is ample assurance that it is only in its infancy. There are now four going prosperous mills.

But mills are not all the industries that adjoin this town. There are large farming, cattle raising and dairying interests here.

Many train loads of logs are cut in this vicinity and hauled to mills in other places, some of these mills will move to West Chiloquin.

This is the paradise of the fisherman and the greatest place for a summer home in this county.

Chiloquin mills will run all winter as Williamson river at this point never freezes over. The only place in Eastern Oregon or Northern California where naturally open mill ponds can be maintained.
